Make It Issue of Coming Municipal Election-Non-Progressionists Must Go.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal. Roseburg, Or., Oct. 5 .- The regular city election will be held Monday. The campaign promises to be a warm one, from the number of candidates that from the number of candidates that have sprung up in the last few days. There will be an entirely new council with the exception of two holdovers. There are so far three candidates for mayor. The present incumbent, Dr. Hoover, is in the race again, with Dr. Honek and J. W. Mullen.

There is a campaign on in the younger class of business men against the old men, and there will be a strong fight in all of the wards for the election of the new city dads. New candidates are springing up in every ward. The fight seems to be solely between the youngmen and the old men, regardless of politics.

seems to be solely between the young men and the old men, regardless of politics.

The young fellows say the city is unknown to the outside world because of lack of advertising and boost, and they promise to put the city on its proper basis and let people know there is a good lively little town here that has been sadly neglected because of lack of interest being taken in the proper way to show resources. They proclaim the need of paved streets, better sidewalks, more houses to supply the demand from newcomers and an enforcement of the ordinances of the city. No town on the line of the Southern Pacific railroad in Oregon south of Portland, these allege, is less advertised than Roseburg, and they declare there is no reason why the population should not be doubled in the next five years and that the only way is for the people to wake up and make themselves known.

WALNUT PARK

Prophecy of W. M. Killingsworth Made 20 Years Ago Now Being Realized.

People cannot get a right conception of the wonderful progress of the city. Without getting around and seeing the great expansion. They only get a general idea of what is going on in improvements in all directions from newspaper reports. To visit the outlying districts is to get the proper idea of how Portland is growing.

The city is growing so rapidly that the suburban additions are sought by hundreds who want to enjoy the freedom which only these sections can afford.

The Journal has from time to time

The Journal has from time to time noted the progress of many of the numerous suburbs. There is one of which little has been said and which without much harangue is becoming one of the most beautiful spots in the city. This is Wainut Park, the 80-acre tract on the promontory opposite Swan Island on the east side of the river. Laid out with 60-foot streets, with cement walks and curbs 10 feet from the latter and alleys through every block, and restrictions which do not allow buildings to be erected within 35 feet from the curb, Wainut Park will be a source of pride for Portlanders to point to.

The numerous costly residences that strace Wainut Park, and those in course of erection are the best evidences of the wisdom of the restrictions which go to make a truly residential section. On Summer street, which W. M. Killingsworth intends to make the most beautiful street in the city, the houses are 50 feet from the walk. This means that every let on the street will always remain void of buildings, thus giving a grand width of 160 feet the whole length of the street. The shrubbery and flowers which will always decorate Summer street will be a grand sight When Mr. Killingsworth hewed a patch out of a dense bush about a quarter of a century ago to build his handsome but of a dense bush about a quarter of a century ago to build his handsome 16-room residence, he established a landmark which today stands for his faith in Portland. He is now coming to a realization of his prophecy that his choice would become a popular and ideal residence section commanding a view of the snow-capped mountains, two rivers and the whole surrounding

RAILWAY COMMISSION HAS GONE TO SUVER

Will Investigate Agent Shortage or Line Between Corvallis and Independence.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Salem, Or., Oct. 4 .- The state railway mmission left his morning for Suver, Polk county, for the hearing of the case arising over alleged inadequate accommodations at the depot at that place. The hearing will be held in the depot building. This is in accordance with the policy of the commission to hold all cases as near as possible to the scene of the trouble, so that to all evidence the test of personal inspection may be applied. This matter has been kept before the commission by several complaints, both formal and informal, and also by petitions which have been presented from time to time.

While no forecast of the action of the commission can be made its decision.

While no forecast of the action of the commission can be made, its decision will probably be affected by the fact that no regular agent is employed on that line between Corvallis and Independence, a distance of 21 miles, This fact has been brought to the attention of the commission by citizens of Wells and of several other places besides Suver. This compels shippers to attend to the dispatching of their own cars, which, considering the irregularity of the service, causes great hardships.

OLD SOLDIER GETS VERY ANCIENT COIN

(Special Dispetch to The Journal.) Chehalis, Wash., Oct. 4 - John Dever, & well-known G. A. R. man of this city. has received a draft for $3.64 from the auditor of the war department, a bal-ance which has recently been found to be due him for services and clothing count dating back to 1861. In 1861 Mr. Dever enlisted in Company H. Eleventh Wisconsin infantry. He served to the close of the war. Some time ago he made application through a Washington made application through a Washington pension attorney to secure the payment of a claim which he believed was due him, but which had no connection whatever with the $3.64 item. This week he received the notice, which developed the fact that the war department auditing office had made the discovery, in checking up Mr. Dever's account, that there was due him "pay from August 28 to September 7, 1861, $2.60; pay from September 29, 1865, 60 cents; clothing short paid to September 29, 1865, 44 cents; total, $3.64."

CHEHALIS PAYS FOR ITS ROCK CRUSHER

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Chehalis, Wash., Oct. 4.—Judge A.
E. Rice of the superior court, has handed down a decision for the plaintiff in the suit of C. H. Smith et al. a corporation, we the City of Chehalis, to receive the purchase price of a rock crusher. The city council ordered the bill paid, but certain citizens who thought the price too high enjoined the massor from signing the warrants. The point on which the enjoining parties hased their action was that the city had exceeded its legal limit of indebtainess. Judge Rice pointed out that a satisfactory showing had not been
