ARRESTED FOR BROWN MURDER

PRISONER TAKEN AT UNION PLACED IN COUNTY JAIL

RAND NOT VERY SURE

Professes to Believe That Mistake May Have Been Made and Wrong Man Taken Into Custody—More Sleuths Added.

By C. E. Hogue. Baker City, Or., Oct. 5.—One of the men suspected of having assassinated Harvey Brown was arrested at Union, Oregon, last night and brought to the Baker county jail here this morning by Sheriff Ed Rand.

The prisoner refuses to give his name, but answers the description of one of the dynamiters who killed the ex-sheriff. The authorities profess ignorance of their man's identity, but it is reported that he is a well known "gentleman" from Cripple Creek.

Nearly six feet in height, with light red hair and a sandy red mustache, dressed in dirty blue jeans, overalls and a black coat, the prisoner is a hard-looking character. He swings his arms when he walks and wears an air of bravado which strengthens the conviction that he is a hardened criminal.

Sheriff Rand professes to believe they have captured the wrong man and that their prisoner will be liberated within a few hours. It is learned, however, that detectives are working on the theory that the gang of assassins have started to separate and are making their escape from this city one by one, to divert suspicion.

One of the most astute officers connected with the case stated this morning that he did not believe the principals in the assassination were here today, although they might have left and doubtless did leave spies to take care of their interests.

The prisoner was trailed from this city and was making his escape when caught.

Sheriff "Shad" Hodkin of Ada county, Idaho, and his deputy, George Porter, formerly chief of police of Baker City, are the latest additions to the band of sleuths who are seeking to solve the mystery of Harvey Brown's death. The Idaho criminal-catchers have just arrived in the city, their coming being simultaneous with the capture of the suspect.

Two different camps are being maintained by the assassins of Harvey Brown. Detectives who have suspects under surveillance discovered this fact late last night. While a portion of the force were on picket duty near the depot they learned how messages were being exchanged between the two camps.

First a suspicious-looking man slouched into the station platform. He slunk up to the depot mail box, and, after hastily glancing around to see whether he was observed, left a note on top of the box. Then, as though fearing detection, he turned and hurried rapidly away, just as a woman

Antelope, En Route to This City, Caught in Breakers and Tossed Ashore—Will Be a Total Loss—Cargo May Be Saved.

Vessel Gets Beyond Control of Tug Charles R. Vosburg—Efforts to Drag Craft Into Deep Water Fails—Crew Is Saved.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Tillamook, Ore., Oct. 5.—The two-masted schooner Antelope went ashore here yesterday and will probably be a total loss, although her lumber cargo might be saved in part. The craft was outward bound in tow of the tug Chas. R. Vosburg, when she was caught in some tremendous breakers and tossed upon the beach. All hands were saved. The Antelope returned from Portland a few days ago after having discharged a cargo of lumber there and was going north again with a second cargo when disaster overtook her. It was stormy when the tow started for the sea and upon reaching the bar it was discovered too risky to try to stand out for open water. In turning about to run for shelter the schooner got beyond control of the tug and piled up on the beach. At first it was believed that she could be pulled off but all efforts have proved unavailing so far and it is feared that she will remain a wreck for good this time.

"BLESSINGS OF DIVORCE"

Lillian Russell Launches Remarkable Document on Love, Matrimony and Separation—No Excuse for Stage People Going Wrong—Advice for Girls. (Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 5.—In an article prepared for publication, Lillian Russell delivers a few erudite thoughts on "Love, Divorce and Matrimony." Excerpts from the article follow: "I do not believe a marriage contract should be permitted. Under existing conditions it is impossible for a woman to know what a man is, and for a man to know what a woman is until they have been married. "Divorce is one of the greatest blessings in the world today. It is moral degradation for a woman and a man to live together as man and wife after love has passed away. For the woman I can imagine no more terrible fate than to be fettered to a man she has ceased to love. Divorce is a necessity.
