

M. A. A. C. DOWNED BY WASHINGTON

Two Touchdowns Made by Husky Youths From the Northern University.

LOCALS ARE CARRIED OFF FEET BY RUSHES

Lack of Hard Training on the Part of the Clubmen Shows in the Play—Loneragan Forced to Quit the Game.

"I knew just what my man could do," said Coach Victor M. Place, after the game. "And felt reasonably safe in predicting a victory. I know, and every man who has played football knows, that it is out of the question for a team with no hard practice to win from an aggregation that goes in for hard knocks daily. The Multnomah players are good men and all they need is practice to make a winning team."

"Of course I am surprised," said John Horan, manager for the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club team, "but we have no excuses to offer for our defeat. The college boys were in better condition and they deserved a victory by their playing. Most of us are still soft but we shall endeavor to become hardened for our future contests. It is now our purpose to train faithfully for the Oregon game Thanksgiving day."

Dave Jordan, one of the best ends the club has ever had and who captained the team last year had the following to say of Multnomah's defeat: "Multnomah was clearly outplayed, although Washington had some good luck. There are two or three weak spots in the club team which will have to be strengthened and more modern plays will have to be introduced and perfected to enable them to win the big games. Pratt, Horan, Litt, Dowling and Stott played the game for Multnomah. Bagshaw, Clark and Trott were the stars for Washington. The collegians play well together for an early game but should have been penalized a number of times for offside playing and starting before the ball was in play. The Multnomah team was materially weakened by the loss of Loneragan."

University of Washington, 10.

Multnomah Club, 0. Nine minutes after play had begun in the Washington-Multnomah club football game yesterday afternoon, the speedy collegians crossed their opponents' goal line for the first touchdown. They repeated the performance in the middle of the second half. Multnomah's giants, with practically no hard training, were powerless against their younger competitors, although at times there was a bit of that old spirit which has made the club games famous. Once before the Washington university and Multnomah met on the field and the varsity was given a severe drubbing. For years the Evergreen team has been anxious to wipe out this defeat and the opportunity came yesterday. Coach Place announced before the game that there would be little trouble in defeating the wearers of the winged "M," and his assertions proved truthful.

Lack of Gincer in Game.

There was a noticeable lack of dash and gincer in the plays of both teams although the lassitude of the clubmen was most noticeable. Place's youngsters had better wind and better execution of plays than the wearers of the winged "M," but they were slow in starting and their offensive game was a bit ragged.

It is doubtful if more fumbling has ever been seen on Multnomah field. Both teams were careless in handling the spheroid, but there was not so much excuse for the collegians. The only exhibition of real football came just before Washington made the first touchdown. Bagshaw, who was then playing quarter, ripped out a volley of signals which called for a succession of rapid evolutions.

The clubmen seemed bewildered at this snappy playing, and try as they could, it was impossible for them to stop the progress of the ball toward their goal. Washington used the forward pass and quarterback kick time after time for good gains. Bagshaw has the feet exceptionally well for so early in the season and never hesitated to use either when there was chance for success. In fact the Washington backs showed a spirit of recklessness in their forward pass plays that amazed old football men. Scarcely without noticing where the ball would light they would hurt it with all their strength and it invariably dropped into the hands of some waiting wearer of a blue jersey. The element of luck entered largely into this play. On the other hand when

Washington: Say, Multnomah, how does your head feel now?

The locals tried it, it was usually with disastrous results.

Stott Plays a Star Game. "Stump" Stott, the old Stanford star, played a splendid game for the club and had been given the right kind of support would have been a consistent ground gainer. Pratt played a great defensive game and time after time broke up the trick plays started around his side. Dowling was a tower at right end and his defensive playing stood out prominently. Always down the fields on punts he succeeded in downing the Washington backs in their tracks a number of times.

Horan played a good game at left tackle, but was in poor condition. Owens was one of the best ground gainers the club team had. Bagshaw and Clarke were the stellar attractions of the "U" eleven. Both made long runs that touched the safety line. Bagshaw's play at end will be one of the best in the northwest when he is at his best.

Horan changed his men about so that all could have a chance under fire. He brought along the 17 best players in college and every one has a chance to buck up against the older players. He has as many more at home who, he thinks, could put up nearly as good a game. Place believes he has the best team in the northwest and will put up a strong bid for the championship.

The Game in Detail. Immediately after the referee's whistle the opening of the game Captain Bagshaw of Washington kicked 45 yards to Litt. Multnomah began a rushing game, but was stopped short by the collegians, and the clubmen were forced to punt. Washington could do nothing and was forced to kick. After an exchange of punts Multnomah fumbled a double pass after a five-yard gain.

With the ball in their possession the victors began to march down the field. Clarke tore off 10 yards before he was downed by Pratt. Pratt downed Willis almost in his tracks, and Bagshaw tried a quarterback kick which netted 15 yards. Horan downed Bagshaw on a quarterback run, and Dowling threw Clarke for a loss.

Bagshaw pulled off another quarterback kick, which placed the collegians 24 yards nearer the Multnomah goal. Willis to off five yards through the line, and Bagshaw came back with a forward pass, which placed the pigskin on the clubmen's doorstep.

Trott Comes to the Scratch. Trott was called upon to plunja through the Multnomah line, and he was equal to the occasion, landing the ball squarely between the goal posts. The first touchdown was made nine minutes after play began.

Horan charged on the ball the moment it touched the ground for the goal kick and rapped it on the nose as it sailed in the air. It went away wide of the mark and the visitors at one time were downed in getting within the 20 yard line.

The second half started by Stott kicking to Willis. Washington lost the ball on downs, one of the few instances of bad judgment in failing to put on the third down.

Willis hurt his hip early in the second half and was forced to leave the field. Ward relieved him at fullback. Shortly afterward Trottier went out, to be followed by Trott, who had been playing a splendid game at left half. Bagshaw was shifted to half, and Parker went in at quarter, playing an able game for the rest of the half. Liberty was also taken out and the players shifted to give Mackay a chance. Harris also relieved Ward in the back field.

Some Spectacular Gains. It was during this half that the two most spectacular gains of the day were made. Little Bagshaw slipped through the right side of Multnomah's line and before he could be stopped by Stott, who was playing safety, had covered 35 yards. Shortly afterward Clarke plunged through the Multnomah line, eluded the defending backs, straight-armed an opponent and reeled off 35 yards also before he was brought to the earth by Stott.

Late in the half, with the ball 10 yards from Multnomah's goal line, the Washington boys essayed a line plunge which came near being disastrous. Ward and Clarke were both on hand when the fumble occurred, and the former grabbed the pigskin and planted it on Portland territory for the second touchdown.

Bagshaw failed to kick goal on account of Multnomah blocking.

The remainder of the game the battle waged back and forth near the center of the field, although at one time it was within nine yards of the "varsity" goal line.

Lineup of the Teams. Following was the lineup of the two teams: Washington. Position. Multnomah. Matthews, L. E. R. Dowling, Bantz, L. T. R. Pratt, Flattery, E. G. R. Johnson, E. Brown, C. T. L. PORTLAND ACADEMY LOSES TO PACIFIC

(Special Dispatch to The Journal).

Forest Grove, Or., Oct. 12.—In an exciting, heart-breaking football game here this afternoon Pacific university defeated Portland academy by a score of 12 to 7 in the opening event of the season. The event was a tryout for both teams and showed them well lined up for a season of hard, grinding contests on the gridiron. The academy boys made an exceptionally fine showing against the heavier university squad and took their defeat good naturedly.

Boston American Wins.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Boston, Oct. 12.—The American and the National league teams played two games today, the Americans winning the first by a lulling rally in the ninth while the second contest was called at the end of the tenth on account of darkness, with the score a tie.

MANY ARTICLES LOST AT RACES

But Turf Followers Above Petty Thievery and Restore Them.

(United Press Leased Wire.) New York, Oct. 12.—There are more honest people to be found on the race track than the general public believe. An evidence of this assertion is the number of lost things turned into the bureau established for that purpose by the Pinkerton agency. Some people grow so excited during a race and just after it that they forget all else and have been known to leave coats, umbrellas, glasses and pocketbooks on the seat beside them when they departed.

Women are more numerous in this respect than the men. These articles are picked up by someone passing and in nine cases out of ten they are turned in. One day last week the following articles were posted as having been found and awaiting a claimant: A sum of money, two diamond lockets, a parasol, gold watch, two emblems, press badge, railroad ticket, rain coat and a fountain pen. All the owners of these articles have to do is to prove his or her claim and sign a receipt and their property is restored. A man several weeks ago, while in the betting ring lost a roll of money amounting to $280. He reported it to the bureau and a description of the roll it was turned in by a New York lawyer, who found it, and it was immediately restored to its owner, and then came the usual gold bottle.

Billy DuBols Very Lucky.

Billy DuBols, the clubhouse commissioner, is indeed a lucky individual. At the Brighton Beach track he bought Charles Edwards for $5,500 and then won $18,000 in stakes right off the reel with him, besides picking up several good bets. At the same meeting he purchased Nealon for $14,000 and at his very next start at Sheepshead Bay got 6 to 1 against him and bet enough to clear $10,000. He also made money on the horse out and a few thousand besides. Several days ago he grabbed Running Account, Keene cast off out a selling race for $2,500, started him three times, once at 7 to 1, the second time at 5 to 1 and again at 10 to 1 and won all three races, adding to his exchequer $15,000 and has a filly which is easily worth $7,500.

Something About Clockers.

It is only in recent years that "clockers" have come into vogue. A "clocker" appears on the tracks for workouts, have become so prominent in racing circles. It is quite the proper career now for a man to have his own particular "clocker." Many of the big bettors are similarly supplied, so it is a hard matter for a man to receive a "work out" for each layer to have his own particular "clocker" noting it. The "clockers" tips are now quite the thing around the New York tracks.

"What are the 'clockers' playing?" is a frequent expression heard in the ring. It is often the case that the "clockers" will force a horse into favoritism, so much respect have the layers for the timekeepers' judgment. Most of these clockers receive $10 a day, but a great many of them get $15 a day. It is an interesting sight before betting begins to see a hundred or more layers sitting in the grandstand, each with his "clocker" receiving reports of trials, horses carded to race that day, have done in the early morning.

Jockeys Have Their Own Turnouts. In former years, after the day's racing was over, the stable jockeys generally returned to the barn, helped to feed the horses and do a few stunts in the way of cleaning up. It is the habit most of them had retired to their cottages, located in a box stall. Things are different now. No stable jockey leaves the track with eight or ten jockeys in it, and with the driver in the chauffeur's seat, and speed up Ocean avenue at a 20-mile clip.

Nicol was a runaway and a very fast trotter. But it is to little Eddie Dugan that the palm must be given. He has just bought a big red automobile, which he uses in going to and from the track. As a rule, in the evening he takes all of his fellow riders who are not fortunate in owning their own rigs, to their barns in Sheepshead bay, where all the riders live. It is one of the interesting sights to see Nicol's machine leave the track with eight or ten jockeys in it, and with the driver in the chauffeur's seat, and speed up Ocean avenue at a 20-mile clip.

CHICAGO TEAM NEW CHAMPION

Cubs Outfield, Outbat and Outplay Detroit Americans in Series.

TIGERS NEVER HAD BUT ONE CHANCE TO LOOK IN

Chance's Crack Players Rested for a Month Before Engaging in Final Struggle—Will Divide Receipts of Final Games Today.

(United Press by Special Leased Wire.) Detroit, Mich., Oct. 12.—Champions of the world. This is the title the Chicago National league team won this afternoon when they defeated their rivals in the American league—the Detroit—for the fourth consecutive time.

Outbatting, outfielding and outplaying the Tigers in every point, the Cubs demonstrated their absolute superiority. In only one game did the American league champions have a look-in. That was the first contest in Chicago, a game played after 12 innings and which would have been the Tigers' but for an error by Schmidt in the ninth inning, permitting the Cubs to tie the score.

Play a Steady Game. In the other battles the Cubs showed to advantage, played the steadier game and with their pitchers in excellent form, took four straight games from the Tigers.

True, the advantage was with Chicago. They practically won their pennant a month ago and then took things easy, while Jennings' men fought all the way to the last day to capture the coveted pennant. The strain of the last 10 days of the season weakened the Tigers. They did not display the dash and gincer which marked their fight for league honors.

But the Cubs played better ball throughout. They missed no opportunity to sock the hit and run game to perfection and ran bases with daring seldom seen.

Cubs Play Great Game.

Today's game was a hard-fought contest. The Cubs even without the aid of their manager, Chance, who was laid up from being hit by a pitched ball yesterday, played with a determination to make it four straight and succeeded. "Three-Fingered" Brown, held in reserve for an emergency, was in the box and the Detroit batsmen were helpless. Brown was especially effective with men on bases and was always master of the situation. Only one Detroit batter reached third.

Mullin also pitched a good game for the Tigers, who displayed a determination to at least check the Cubs' winning streak but the National league champions scored one run in each of the first two innings. This gave them the game and the title.

For the first time Slagle walked. The next two men were easy out, Sheppard flying to Jones and Howard fanning. Then Slagle stole second and came home on Steinfeld's single. Kling ended the inning with a fly to Cobb.

Score in the Second. The only other run of the game was scored in the second. Evers reached first on Coughlin's low throw. After Schulte fouled to Archer, Tinker singled to right and he and Evers worked a double steal. Brown walked, and with the bases full Slagle sent a grounder to Mullin who could not catch it to right and he and Evers worked a double steal. The Detroiters, although disconsolate, gave a hearty cheer for their plucky fight. Tonight the victorious Cubs returned to Chicago. The National commission also returned to the Windy City and tomorrow will arrange a division of the gate receipts.

W. S. C. BEATS BLAIR BY SCORE OF 86 TO 0

Pullman Football Players Roll Up Great Scores in Small Games.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal).

Pullman, Wash., Oct. 12.—In the second of a series of games to be played this fall by the W. S. C. team they defeated the Blair Business college team of Spokane on Rogers field today, the game being 86 to 0. The most remarkable feature of the game were the long-distance kicks made by Halm and Rader, rader having made the first kick from the center of the field over the goal. Two such kicks were made by the W. S. C. team.

Frost came, though not very fast, was rough, nearly every scrimmage resulting in some one being laid out. The Blair team, though they did not seem anywhere, put up a stiff fight to prevent the gains made by Hardy Nissen and Goldsworthy. The remarkable coaching of Bender makes a greater showing than even it did last year. The championship seems secure to Bender's husky "Farmers," as the score of this game and the one preceding with the Cheney Normal runs considerably higher than expected.

Nationals Win at St. Louis.

(United Press Leased Wire.) St. Louis, Oct. 12.—Errors in the field were mainly responsible for the St. Louis Americans being defeated in today's game in the post-season series with the Nationals. Score: Nationals... 1 5 0 0 0 2 1 9 10 1 Americans... 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 0 2 10 6 Froome and Noonan; Carroll and Stevens.

Call Race Meet Off.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Louisville, Ky., Oct. 12.—After the sheriff had notified the Louisville Jockey club he would prevent betting upon the races, the officials this afternoon called off the fall meeting scheduled to begin Wednesday to run until November 2.

Oregon Second Wins at Eugene.

Eugene, Or., Oct. 12.—The University of Oregon second team today defeated the Eugene High school eleven by a score of 5 to 0 in a hard, fast game. Neither team scored in the first half, but the collegians shoved the pigskin over in the middle of the second. The High school showed fine team work and came near scoring in the last few minutes.

Junction City Plays Football.

Junction City, Or., Oct. 12.—The Junction City football team defeated the high school yesterday afternoon by a score of 8 to 0. The game was fiercely contested during two 15-minute halves.

Waitaburg 6, Pendleton 0.

Pendleton, Or., Oct. 12.—In the game of football here this afternoon between the Pendleton Academy team and the Waitaburg High school, Waitaburg won by a score of 6 to 0. It was a hard fought game, straight from the start to the finish. The return game will be played at Waitaburg next Saturday.

Quarterback Whiting received a scalp wound during the fray. The Junction City team is anxious to meet valley eleven and will give all comers a chance. J. I. Whiting was elected captain of the Junction City team.
