Rev. Christopher Alderson of St. Johns, one of the pioneer ministers of the Oregon conference of the M. E. church, was struck and almost instantly killed by a freight train at Albany yesterday morning. He had been visiting a daughter in Albany and had started for the depot to board a train for Portland. On a high trestle he was overtaken by the freight and his lifeless body tossed to the bed of the creek below. Mr. Alderson was 82 years of age and came to Oregon in the mining days, when fearlessness and rugged strength counted for much even with clergymen. Four years ago he came to Portland, attending the church at Sunnyside. He is survived by his widow, two sons and three daughters. One son, W. C. Alderson, is principal of the schools at St. Johns, and the other, W. S. Alderson, lives at 173 East Seventh street.

The local organization of the stationary steam engineers' union is practically outlawed because of the action of its delegates in walking out of the regular meeting of the Federated Trades council Friday night. The trouble arose because of the refusal of the union to abide by the decision of the council in the arbitration of differences between the engineers and the Portland Brewing company. As the situation now stands, the union is suspended from membership in the Federated Trades council, and unsupported in attempting a boycott on the Portland Brewing company. If the union persists in its boycott it stands in danger of censure from its national organization.

Alleging that on Christmas day her husband attempted to brain their child with a chair and that she threw herself in the way and received the blow intended for the little one, Mrs. Louise Kibury is seeking a divorce from Nathl. Kibury. The charge is made in an answer to a complaint for divorce filed by the husband. Mrs. Kibury claims that she is the one that is aggrieved. Mrs. Kibury also states that her husband has several times attempted to kidnap their little boy, seven months old.

J. E. McAfee of New York, a layman in the Presbyterian church, who is here attending synod, will address the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon at 3:30. He is a young man who believes in promoting Christian work on twentieth century business principles. He has shaken some of the old methods of doing church work loose from their moorings and will probably make some of the old excuses men have been making for living in sin, look pretty sick. All men are invited to hear him.

The victim of the Sellwood car run down and killed Friday night, was identified last evening as Mathias Frueh, who has been employed in a saloon at Oregon City. At the morgue the remains were recognized by acquaintances from Oregon City. Frueh was 42 years of age and so far as known he has no relatives in this state. He deliberately stepped on the track in front of an approaching car, supposedly while under the influence of liquor.

We guarantee every garment made by us and we will cheerfully rectify any error whereby we are at fault. We use the best of linings, canvas, haircloth, etc., and remember our price is only $25 for any suit in the house to order. No other firm in the city will do this. Our aim is to please and if honest quality of material and workmanship will produce that end we feel sure of your patronage. Unique Tailoring Co., 309 Stark, near Sixth.

"The Negro as a Citizen" is to be the title of an address by Mayor Lane at the laying of the cornerstone of the Mount Olivet Baptist church, Sunday afternoon, October 20. Dr. Broughton, pastor of the first Baptist church, will officiate. Dr. Merriman will present an amendment to the constitution. Dr. Broughton with a silver trowel. SEVEN THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED TIMES SOUSA'S BAND HAS PLAYED

John Phillip Sousa.

The entire week, beginning September 23, 1907, John Phillip Sousa and his band was the prime musical attraction of the famous Corn Palace exhibition at Mitchell, South Dakota—a fact, by the way, that has many times been repeated in past years in Dakota state affairs before and since the old state division. The Corn Palace exhibition is noted even in the old world, and the crowds that attend them are enormous as a rule. Two events occurred that week at complete Sousa history that were of moment and which created active interest among the crowds of thousands of strangers gathered at Mitchell. The first was the fifteenth anniversary of the organization of Sousa's band, and the other was the cataloging of the 7,500th concert of the Sousa organization. Both notable events were duly celebrated in a quiet way at Mitchell, with becoming privacy, with sincere ceremony, but without embellishment of trumpets or acclaim by cries from the house. Sousa gathered his men, tried, trusted and true (many of whom have served with him for years, anywhere from three to a dozen, while they still remain a few of the charter members of September, 1892, 15 years ago), and his special artists, 55 in all, and celebrated both anniversary events in one by a private banquet, at which Sousa himself, who is a brilliant post-prandial speaker, made an impressive address that brought the band to their feet more than once with shouts of responsive bravo. There were some interesting words and strains of eloquent music.

N. Y. STYLES HERE. Distinguished Clothes for Men Sold by W. W. Robinson & Co.

Additional stock and many new fixtures for the clothing department recently added by Robinson & Co., give the place a decidedly up-to-date appearance. "Quality of material and leadership in styles are the distinguishing features of our stock of high-grade clothing," said Mr. Robinson when seen in his salesrooms on Washington street under the Perkins hotel. "We aim to satisfy the men of critical tastes, the men who travel and know what is just the correct thing in their attire, the men who have been in the habit of visiting the tailor to get certain patterns he fancied he could not get elsewhere. The great and famous clothing manufacturers who turn out our clothing have access to the mills and can get more exclusive patterns than it was ever possible for any tailor or combiner to secure. The proof of the matter is easily ascertained by a comparison. We have all the latest and most stylish patterns and colors seen on Broadway, New York. It may take a little time but the high and stylish character of our clothing will become known and appreciated. It is truly distinguished clothes for men."

CITY IS RISING FROM DESERT

Hermiston Growing Under Stimulus of Government Irrigation Project.

George H. Carr, mayor of Hermiston, Umatilla county, is in Portland on a flying business trip. He speaks enthusiastically of the future of his town, which is headquarters for the government force engaged in the big Umatilla irrigation project, by means of which 20,000 acres of land will be brought under the plow.

"It is expected that about 7,000 acres of this land will be ready for settlement in January," said Mayor Carr. "Several miles of privately owned canals will be turned into this system. Water is to be diverted from the Umatilla river by a canal 27 miles long, the point of diversion being about three-fourths of a mile from Echo."

"The big reservoir included in the project is at Cold Spring. It will be one of the largest earthen dams in the United States, 90 feet high and 4,000 feet long. When once filled, it will hold water sufficient for irrigating the entire 20,000 acres without replenishing."

"The town of Hermiston is growing remarkably fast. Although we have only about 350 people, twenty-five houses are planned for erection within the next six days. Already we have a two-story brick department store, and a warehouse soon to be built for feed stuff and feed. The proposed owners are preparing to lay out miles of sidewalks, in addition to one and one-half miles already down. Our principal streets are to be macadamized."

"We have just one grievance. The O. R. & N. refuses to stop trains Nos. 1 and 2 at Hermiston. These are the through trains, and we have no day trains except a stub from Pendleton to Portland, although the through night trains stop at Hermiston. This is very aggravating for our citizens, and will be more so with the rush of homeseekers, when the opening takes place."

"Petitions of protest have been signed and will soon be presented to the railroad officials, asking them to remedy the situation. Evidently the only reason for running the trains through without stopping is to save a few minutes' time, but we don't think we are being unjustly treated."
