G. O. P. of Multnomah County Lays Foundation of Organization Which is Expected to Wield Some Old-Time Power.

Republican politicians who used to lead direct officials and offices in Portland, Multnomah county and the fourth judicial district, and who hope to do so again, have hauled out the old machine slate...

Up at the headquarters of the Union Republican club in the Columbia building, Max G. Cohen, its secretary, is busy building up the membership of that most carefully conducted organization.

So Much Per Head. Out in the highways and the byways "Jimmy" Korthem is gathering in the members to the club at a cost to the initiate of $3 per head.

In the meantime the executive committee is perfecting its "block system" of organization and expects by the time the primaries are on to have the city and county so solidly bound together...

Work for Strong Organization. It is the purpose of the managers of the Union club to make of that organization a far-reaching and powerful political machine...

When the club was organized just prior to the last municipal campaign one of the chief and most mooted provisions of the constitution was that which provided that one of the objects of the club would be to choose and endorse candidates for primary nomination...

Club Will Give Support. The plan now being attempted is for the executive board of the organization to either select men for the street offices and induce them to run under pledge of the club's support or to pick out candidates who may already have announced their intentions of running...

It is apparent that the old-time politicians are working together with as much harmony as possible in an effort to formulate a plan by which something of the power swayed by the machine in the olden days of the convention may be picked up again in spite of the direct primary law.

A Square Deal Federal Prosecutor Confers With Attorney-General About Idaho Frauds.

(Washington Bureau of the Journal.) Washington, Oct. 15.—Special Assistant Attorney-General M. O. Burch arrived here yesterday and held an all-day conference with Attorney-General Bonaparte. He said: "It is agreed between us that all criminal cases growing out of the Barbour Lumber company cases in Idaho will be prosecuted vigorously excepting that against Horace Rand of Burlington, Iowa, who has convinced the government by documentary evidence of his innocence, his case being dismissed."

In all other extradition proceedings were necessary to be carried through. The trials will be begun as soon as possible. John Kincaid, John L. Wells, Pritchard and others. The equity case against the Barbour Lumber company for the recovery of 17,000 acres valued at $500,000 will be prosecuted vigorously.

The case involving United States District Attorney Rulick will be offered to the president by the attorney-general as soon as the president returns from Louisiana. It is expected that a warm controversy will be raised over Rulick on a score of charges of improper conduct in reference to the Borah case at Boise.

The impression here is that the department of justice is disposed to defend Rulick and that representations will be made to the president by the opposition to Rulick in a strenuous attempt to induce the president to remove him.

Senator Heyburn professes ignorance of all issues in the Rulick case. Heyburn is here to remain until congress convenes, preparing the report of the joint committee of the house and senate on the revision of federal laws.

FEDERATED COUNCIL EXPELS ENGINEERS OF COING WEEK

Failure to Comply With Instructions Causes Difficulty in Labor Circles.

The Stationary Engineers' union of the city was expelled from membership in the Federated Trades council last night, because of its failure to comply with the instructions of the council.

The difficulty arose over a controversy between the engineers and the Portland Brewing company. The controversy, which concerns the number of engineers to be employed at the brewery, was referred to the council for arbitration.

The union refused to accept the decision of the arbitration committee, and after being warned was given until last Monday to comply with the instructions.

Instead of complying the engineers declared a boycott against the brewery, and set to work to curtail the consumption of the plant's product in every way possible.

As a result of this the union was expelled from the trade's council. The council will submit the facts in the case to the national board of the engineers' organization, confident that it will obtain orders being issued to the Portland union either to comply with the terms of the council or stand suspended from the national association of stationary engineers.

It was also decided at the meeting last night to appoint a committee to cooperate with the state and city authorities in fighting the efforts of the telephone company to declare the initiative and referendum unconstitutional.

Address on "Asiatic Exclusion" delivered at the Forum at its meeting in the Mulkey building November 13.

Report has it that county officials are working with the club and are requesting employees of the county to become members of the organization.

It is apparent that the old-time politicians are working together with as much harmony as possible in an effort to formulate a plan by which something of the power swayed by the machine in the olden days of the convention may be picked up again in spite of the direct primary law.

FOREST OFFICIALS MEET AT ROSEBURG

(Special Dispatch to the Journal.) Roseburg, Or., Oct. 19.—A convention of national forest reserve officers is in session in Forest Supervisor Bartrum's office here.

The object is to discuss generally the work in the forest reserves, looking to the betterment of the service. A number of the rules will probably be changed to comply with the local conditions.

In attendance are supervisors and their special representatives from the following reserves: Tillamook, Umpqua, Goose Lake, Ashland, Coast Range, Fremont and Cascade range south, besides four from Washington, D. C., making over 40 in all.

This is the first convention, and it is the intention to hold similar conventions annually. The work that the forest supervisors have done in southern Oregon is commensurate with the Oregon timber, and besides is the means of making the heavy timbered section of the state accessible.

They build good trails, purchase and mark out camping places, so that the traveler can easily go through the mountains in safety.

POLICE INSPECTION HAS BEEN POSTPONED

Button, button, who's got the button? Owing to the non-arrival of the brass buttons for the men in blue of the Portland police force the annual inspection which was to have taken place this morning has been postponed one week. The inspection will take place at the Armory on the morning of October 26.

WHITNEY MADE SMOOTH DEAL Dead Financier Discovered to Have Juggled Storage Battery Stock.

(United Press Leased Wire.) New York, Oct. 19.—The reputation of William C. Whitney, deceased, has suffered greatly by the revelations made in the investigation of the New York City traction system, and it was further damaged when Grant B. Schley of the firm of Moore & Schley, bankers and brokers, testified before the public service committee that a check for $254,000 which Anthony N. Brady sent the firm was applied to Whitney's account.

Whitney being in debt to the firm for a loan.

It appears that the greater part of $255,000 which Whitney paid out of the funds of the Metropolitan system for the paper franchises of the Wall and Portland street car lines in Philadelphia, aggregating more than $254,000. He transferred this to the company at 145 when the market price was between 145 and 167. Seven or eight months later the company bought more than $300,000 worth of stock in the open market at prices averaging around 75. The inference drawn from the testimony and Lawyer Ivins' remarks was that Whitney unloaded 254,000 shares of Metropolitan at 145 so as not to throw the stock on the market. Later support of the market was apparently withdrawn and the price dropped to 46.

It came out in Schley's testimony today that in 1899 Whitney sold to the Metropolitan street railway several blocks of stock of the Electric Storage Battery company of Philadelphia, aggregating more than $254,000. He transferred this to the company at 145 when the market price was between 145 and 167. Seven or eight months later the company bought more than $300,000 worth of stock in the open market at prices averaging around 75. NEW ROSEBURG BANK OPENS IN DECEMBER

(Special Dispatch to the Journal.) Roseburg, Or., Oct. 19.—Roseburg is to have a new national bank, to be opened December 1, known as the Roseburg National. The national bank already here is the First National of Roseburg.

The charter for the new bank was granted some time ago by the controller of the currency. The authorized capital is $500,000. The officers, elected yesterday, are as follows: Judge J. W. Hamilton, president; Napoleon Rice, first vice-president; J. F. Barker, second vice-president; and William M. Coombs, cashier. Other members of the board of directors are S. C. Bartrum, C. W. Parks and I. Abraham.

All the members of the firm are business men of this city. The building, in addition, will be occupied by the jewelry store of Mr. G. L. Moxley and a new barber shop to be opened on the Cass street entrance by A. L. Maddix. The upper story will be fitted up for office use.

Roseburg already has two banks, the Douglas County bank and the First National bank.

UNDESIRABLES ANGER WOMEN OF PULLMAN

Pullman, Wash., Oct. 19.—Sixty women, residents of Pullman, have appeared before the council in a body and filed a protest against allowing disreputable women of the adjoining town of Moscow, Idaho, to parade Pullman's streets almost daily, as they have for the past two weeks. Complaints were at first made by the ministers of Pullman to the city marshal and Mayor Lawrence with no effect.

The women ride over from Moscow in outlandish riding suits, and parade the streets of Pullman a number of times a week, and through the streets in a carriage singing. They were held up for office use.

Roseburg already has two banks, the Douglas County bank and the First National bank.

NO CESSATION AT BLUE LEDGE MINE

(Special Dispatch to the Journal.) Grants Pass, Or., Oct. 19.—Though other copper mines and smelters of northern California have closed down, there is no cessation of activity at the Blue Ledge mine in the Upper Applegate district. Superintendent Stanford states that the company will continue to employ as many men as can be profitably employed on the mine.

The mine produces about 1,000 tons of copper ore daily, and the company has a number of shafts open, and development will be continued on many of them through the winter.

PILE REFUSES TO TALK ABOUT PROSPECT

(United Press Leased Wire.) Seattle, Oct. 19.—So far any definite announcement is concerned United States Senator Pile will not be committed on the senatorial situation when he leaves for the national capital. The meeting between Senator Pile and the King county members of the legislature of 1903 and 1907 was called without the authorization of Senator Pile and word has been sent out to those who were notified that no meeting is to be held.

WOMAN IS SUING GREAT ALIENISTS

(United Press Leased Wire.) New York, Oct. 19.—The suit of Mrs. Ellen E. Kenyon Warner, against Dr. Ignatius Packer and Dr. Sidney D. Williams for $50,000 damages for causing her to be committed to the Middletown insane asylum three years ago is on trial here. The defendants are widely known as alienists.

When put in the asylum Mrs. Warner was receiving about $6,000 a year in royalties from her schoolbooks. She was then under contract with Dr. Packer and Co. to prepare for publication a series of readers. Several volumes were published and were very popular.

On her release from the asylum Dr. Packer and Co. refused to continue the publication of her books, as she was required to be insane, and her standing as an authority on educational matters was impaired. She and her brother, Walter Kenyon, were pioneers in the educational reform movement 25 years ago.

Her husband, with whom she had disagreements over property, caused her incarceration in the asylum in 1904.

OIL DRILL OPENS GEYSER IN IDAHO

Water and Sand Hurled 100 Feet for an Hour—Great Excitement.

(Special Dispatch to the Journal.) Payette, Idaho, Oct. 19.—The Oregon Oil and Gas company, drilling at well No. 1, located on the Coughanour tract, near the Oregon Short Line depot at this place, pierced a hard formation some twelve inches in thickness at a depth of 725 feet, and penetrated a cavity filled with gas and water, which shot up past the drill and machinery and through the top of the derrick to a height of 100 feet or more.

The outbreak continued for nearly an hour, and the public places discussing the remarkable event.

The drill was solidly imbedded in the well and it was not until late in the evening that it was extricated.

It is predicted by oil experts on the ground that a good flow of both oil and gas will be found at no great additional depth.

Some little excitement was caused among the crowd at the well when a stranger asserted that the flow was a fake, offering to bet a large sum of money, which he held in his hand, that the well could not be lighted, and when one of the employes at the well attempted to put him out he threatened to shoot the man if he put his hand upon him. He was prevailed upon to leave the grounds.

TWO NEW BUSINESS BLOCKS FOR EUGENE

(Special Dispatch to the Journal.) Eugene, Or., Oct. 19.—Among the new business blocks erected this year in Eugene is one just started by F. L. Chambers, his partner being located at the corner of Sixth and Willamette streets. It will be a two-story brick building, 25,530 feet, and will cost $5,000 of $10,000.

The Eagles also announce that they will erect a two-story brick, 40x100 feet, on their lot on Willamette street near fifth, to cost about $10,000. A joint stock company is being organized among the Eagles to finance the enterprise.

SAM ROCK, BURGLAR, CAUGHT AT ASTORIA

(Special Dispatch to the Journal.) Astoria, Oct. 19.—Patrolman McCombly arrested a burglar while attempting to enter a residence at Fourth and Commercial streets early this morning. This is the first capture of a burglar for over a year. The man gave his name as Sam Rock and claims to have come from Portland.
