Mr. Sigler based his estimate on the average earnings of the company for the past five years, which was consid-ered equal to 10 per cent of the capital-ization. Dividing, this figure by the number of miles in operation, a value of $47,000 a mile was found for the company. In addition to the mileage and rolling stock, the company's report to the state rallroad commission as to the amount of cash on hand and the bills returnable to the rallway was as-seased by the assessor. This totaled on a 75-per-cent basis $16,180,000, and on a 16-mill taxation will return to the county each year the sum of $256,000. The Northern Pacific company was assessed $47,000 a mile, while the South-ern Pacific was assessed by $30,000 for its roadbed and $3,000 a mile for its rolling stock. Suggests Suit to Settle Question of Payment for Street Work.

Mayor Harry Lane vetoed two ordi-nances this morning. One was the or-dinance authorizing the mayor and city auditor to draw warrants to pay Frai-ney & Keating $1,121.72, as payment for street improvement work on Main between King and Chapman street streets.

Mayor Lane said in his veto message that the city attorney stated in an opinion that the claim is a just one and can be recovered from the city through the courts, but on the other hand cites a supreme court decision which says that the contractors have neither moral nor legal right to the money on such a claim. He suggests that a friendly suit be entered into be-tween Frainey & Keating and the city. The other veto was in regard to an ordinate vacating a portion of an al-ordinance vacating a portion of an al-ley entering into Vaughn street in block 29. He gave as a reason for vetoing the ordinance that it did not seem compatible with the city's interests to give away any city property without a re turn in value.

SHUT DOWN

The camps throughout the Oregon and Washington district are preparing to curtail their outputs, and in some instances are shutting down entirely. Within the past few days Jack Wendall, proprietor of a mill turning out ties at La Center, on the Lewis river, shut down-his plant and discharged the crews employed by him.

Following his lead it is expected that

Following his lead it is expected that practically all of the camps in that dis-trict will either cease operations en-tirely or curtail their output. The Peninsula Lumber company's plant, employing about 400 men, will close down November 1. It will remain closed until December 15 at least, and probably until after New Year's. The reason for the shutdown, as given by the management, is a desire to over-haul the plant and install new machin-ery. Eandicapped by Estiroads.

All the injured were on the incoming Bandicapped by Bailroads. Throughout the northwest district tributary to the Harriman eastern lines the lumbermen and millowners are pre-paring to decrease their output, and in many instances to cease all operation whatsoever. Last week a large num-ber of small mills ceased to run, and more are on the list. Rumor has it that those mills in Portland which have been working night shifts will cut these off within a short time, in accordance with the action taken by other northwestern mills. Orders Are Beduced. All the injured were on the incoming passenger train. The engineer of the engine which left Pendleton says he thought it was Fri-day, as the passenger on the branch comes in two hours later every other day. Today was its early day, instead of as he understood. This is the second accident on this road near Pendleton in a week. Last Saturday a freight train ran away, in-juring the fireman and engineer and killing many cattle.

Orders Are Reduced.

Orders Are Medicoed. The reason given for the shutdown of the tie-producing mills is attributed in part to a feeling that the O. R. & N., which company uses practically all of the ties, is about to make a big reduc-tion in its demand for this product. The proprietors of these mills are fear-ful that, should the company shut down on its demand for ties it would cull out the best material and leave these mills ANTONE HOLMES ASKS city, seriously injuring Engineer G. N. Wise of Pasco, Messenger Pringle of Seattle and Fireman Charles Bennett of Ellensburg, Washington. The latter it is feared may not live. Both legs were crushed and he was internally injured. The passenger train was coming in from Pasco on the Pendleton branch. The freight train went out from Pen-dleton through a mistake in orders, run-ning into the passenger as it came down a hill three miles north of Fen-dleton. Both engines were entirely de-molished. It is said, however, that there is a provise in the promises, and this throws much doubt about the matter. The senator is very busy with matters of importance in the east, according to the portance in the east, according to the statements made, and his visit is de-pendent upon the completion of this business. Senator Bourne has been coming to Oregon for several months now, and each time as the date of his expected arrival drew near, he has informed those interested in his coming that it would be impossible for him to leave Wash-ington, and the date of arrival has been shifted farther back along the cal-endar. ndar.

Old Friends in the Dark.

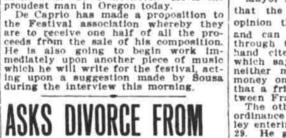

None of the old friends and supporters of Senator Bourne know anything "f his intentions. Those who helped to nominate and elect him allege to be completely in the dark regarding his movements and express the belief that he will not return to Portland at all prior to the opening of congress in De-cember.

Plums for Distribution

Flums for Distribution. There are many reasons why the presence of the senator in Portland 's to be desired by politicians. There are several federal jobs which will have to be filled, and the Portland war horses are anxious to have a heart to heart talk with the junior member of the Oregon delegation. The office of United States attorney, held by M. C. Bristol, is an open issue, and there are many who would like to advise Mr. Bourne in regard to it. Postmaster Minto's term of office has only a little more than of office has only a little more than a year to run, and already there is be-glinning to be conjecture as to who should move into Mr. Minto's new of-fice. Then G. A. Westgate would like to tell the senator why he should be sure of the surveyor senaril's position sure of the senator why he should be sure of the surveyor-general's position, and on the other hand there are several people who would like to argue on the other side. Besides these there are other things of interest and some mo-

of Antone K. Holmes' suit for $35,000 ment. Just this condition of affairs is damages against the Eastern & Western Lumber company. Holmes lost a leg while operating a band saw in the de-fendant's mill, and alleges that the ac-cident was due to defective machinery. The accident took place on August 7, 1966. The complaint describes the con-struction of the big carrier that con-veyed logs weighing from three to ten tons to the saw, the track on which it ran and the chute that disposed of the sawdust, bark and other waste swept by the scrapers from between the track timbers. He says that the debris would become jammed between the feed rod and the sides of the chute, making it necessary for him to go to the chute, and clear away the obstructions. While he was doing this, he says, the carriage damages against the Eastern & Western given, however, as a very good reason why Senator Bourne will not come back to Portland at this time, and the belief that he will heed the latter argument seems to outweigh the expectation of his speedy arrival.
