

LOST LEVIATHAN FOLLOWS VESSEL

Captain Wikander Relates a Strange Experience With Whale.

INCIDENT OCCURS OFF THE COLUMBIA

Skipper Forms Conclusion That Monster Was Abandoned by His Friends to Die—Covered With Thick Coat of Barnacles.

Captain Wikander of the schooner Muriel says when whales lose their companions at sea they get very lonesome and will follow a ship for several hours, sometimes days and weeks. One of these lost whales fell in with the schooner on her way north a few days ago and scraped the hull several times when near the Columbia river lights. Captain Wikander hoped the leviathan would follow him into the Columbia and up to Portland, but near the river the monster fell behind and finally turned and stood out to sea.

Captain Wikander related his experience yesterday afternoon to a number of waterfront men, and he was not trying to spin a whale yarn either. Others who had been to sea concurred with the skipper even when he declared that the whale would come close to the vessel, assume a perpendicular position as a man treading water and look pitifully at those walking the decks as if appealing for information concerning his lost companions. In this connection it should be remembered that off this coast the whales nearly always run in schools, so that a lone monster is rarely seen.

This particular whale that followed the Muriel like a dog follows his master was one of the largest afloat, so Captain Wikander asserts, and the body was so densely covered with barnacles and sea weeds that it looked like a monster Neptune and it was difficult to tell how he could navigate. In places the parasitic growths were a foot long. This he believes to have been the cause of the big fellow's getting left by his tribe as it was plainly evident that he could not keep up with the swift pace of the more active members.

"The old guy was wise," said Captain Wikander, "for in following the vessel he improved his time by scraping off the barnacles that prospered on his sides and back against the hull and keel of the schooner. We could see how great chunks were torn from his sides and to the surface after having felt the immense body. He was peculiarly clean when we left him, and no doubt he has again found his lost friends."

The Muriel is loading lumber at the mills of the Portland Lumber company for a California port.

OFF FOR THE ORIENT.

Two Regular Liners Will Depart in Close Succession.

The Portland & Asiatic liner Alesia, Captain Ernst, will leave today for Hongkong and way ports. She will probably be followed within the next 48 hours by the Nicomedia, Captain Wagner, of the same line. The Alesia cleared last night with 52,561 barrels of flour, valued at $192,224.

GETS MONEY FROM HOME.

Norwegian Steamer Terje Viken Now Ready to Leave.

After waiting two days for money from home, the Norwegian steamer Terje Viken is now ready to proceed to Shanghai with the cargo of lumber she has been receiving here during the past three or four weeks. She will probably start today.

FOGS DETAIN VESSELS.

Costa Rica and Breakwater Report Conditions at Sea.

Dense fogs and strong northwesterly winds are keeping several steamers from reaching port and it is believed that half a dozen craft have assembled off the mouth of the river since last night. Up to noon today the fog had obscured the view of the bar from North Head.

SUSPEND THE PILOT.

Government Inspectors Hold That Hastings Was Negligent.

Suspension of his license for 30 days was the penalty meted out to Pilot J. C. Hastings this morning for negligence and unskillfulness in handling the steamer Bailey Gatzert on November 1 when he allowed the boat to hit a rocky ledge while landing at Washougal. Inspectors Edwards and Fuller announced the decision this morning. Hastings was in the pilot house at the time of the accident and landed the wheel.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT.

Ben Gable, a sailor, fell overboard yesterday afternoon from the ship before at Mersey dock, while engaged in painting the stays. He swam around the ship to the dock and saved himself without assistance from his shipmates.

The British ship Claverdon is expected to reach the Albina dock this afternoon, having left yesterday morning. The dense fog has held her back several hours or she would have been up about noon today.

FEAR OF LOSING COIN DRIVES HIM INSANE.

Crazed by fear that his savings may be lost and that all attempts will be cheerless or explain matters, William T. Aldridge was placed in jail this afternoon—a victim of the financial crash. Aldridge was an employe of the north bank road, and his mind became unbalanced as soon as he heard that the Portland bank had closed. He came to Portland, where he has a few hundred dollars on deposit. When he arrived here and heard bank talk on every hand he became more and more unbalanced. He put up at a local boarding-house and talked incessantly of his money.

Two days ago he refused to eat, and his conduct became such that it was considered unsafe to leave him longer at large. He was charged with insanity by the boarding-housekeeper and will be examined before County Judge Webster as soon as the holidays come to an end.

GREAT PROGRESS IN BAPTIST WORK

Thirteen Hundred Church Members Gather at An- nual Social Rally.

NEW CHURCHES FREE OF DEBT

Congregations Organized and Flour- ishing in Many Parts of City— Meeting Most Enthusiastic and Successful Ever Held in Portland.

Between 1,200 and 1,300 Baptists of Portland gathered last night at the White Temple for their annual social rally. There were 18 churches and six missions represented, each by a large delegation. Before the program was begun 24 young women marched in from a side room bearing banners representing their respective churches, and as the banners were called off by the presiding officer the different pastors responded with a word of greeting. In this way new pastors were introduced to the assemblage.

SAFE OF NEWBERG FLOUR MILLS BLOWN

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Newberg, Or., Nov. 5.—The safe at the Newberg flouring mills was blown last night. The outside and office doors of the building were scattered about the floor. Evidently they had been used for making a light. The mill is located on Chehalis creek, a short distance from town. The safe was blown off. The pick was used to tear out the inside of the safe. Rags saturated with coal oil were scattered about the floor. Evidently they had been used for making a light. The mill is located on Chehalis creek, a short distance from town. ESTABLISH NEW MISSION.

Special attention will be directed during the next year to the establishment of a mission on Bayview street. The churches will consecrate special effort toward this object. Last night $1,200 was subscribed toward this end which, with the previous subscription, makes $4,300, taken in offerings for that purpose. The sum raised will make the building project assured, although the amount needed is $7,000.

BANK BOOKKEEPER AT MEMPHIS DISAPPEARS

(United Press Leased Wire.) Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 5.—Frank Harper, 22 years old, a bookkeeper employed at a local bank and a member of a prominent family of this city, has disappeared, and every effort to locate him after more than three days of searching has proven fruitless.

CURED AFTER SIX YEARS OF SUFFERING

Chronic Stomach Trouble Pro- nounced Incurable by Physi- cians Yielded to the Tonic Treatment Although Pa- tient Had No Faith in It.

"For six years I suffered untold misery from stomach trouble," says Mrs. H. P. Flanagan of Canton, South Dakota, "although I was treated by four physicians. No two agreed as to the nature or cause of my disease. One said I had ulcers of the stomach, another that it was chronic stomach trouble and incurable, another called it neuralgia.

"The pain was dull, not sharp, and when I walked or rode I noticed that it was a great deal more severe. It was relieved when I rested or would lie down. I had no appetite and didn't care to eat at all. I tried to eat to keep up my strength, but the pain was there whether I ate or not. I was run down in strength and weight.

Doctors Prescribe

Dr. Lorenzo Waite, a Prominent Physician of Pittsfield, Mass., who is a Graduate of Berkshire College, Says That he Has Used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, as a Tonic Stimulant with Satisfactory Results.

In years past I have used your Pure Malt Whiskey in my practice with very satisfactory results. Recently I had occasion to administer Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as per directions to an anemic patient of mine, and I anticipate remarkably good results. With many thanks for your introducing a pure tonic stimulant for the benefit of the public and practitioners of medicine, I am, Lorenzo Waite, M. D. Aug. 20th, 1907.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain; great care being used to have every kernel thoroughly malted, thus destroying the germ and producing a predigested liquid food in the form of malt essence, which is the most effective tonic stimulant and invigorator known to science; softened by warmth and moisture its palatability and freedom from injurious substances renders it so it can be retained by the most sensitive stomach.

CAUTION.—When you ask your druggist, grocer or dealer for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. It's the only absolutely pure medicinal malt whiskey and is sold only in sealed bottles—never in bulk. Look for the trade mark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and make sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. Price, $1.00. Illustrated medical booklet and doctor's advice free.
