

RECEIVERS APPOINTED MAY BE FREED

New York Banks and Trust Companies Placed Under Control of Outsiders by Attorney - General Who Wants Investigation.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
New York, Nov. 16.—Charging that the president of the Jenkins Trust company of Brooklyn borrowed illegally, $557,000 from that institution and that evidence of civil and criminal liability had been found in the Borough bank of Brooklyn, as well, Attorney-General Jackson started today financial circles today by the obtaining of temporary receivers for six suspended banks and trust companies. He announced that disbursements by experts will be placed before the grand jury. Only two of the institutions have been inspected but all state institutions which have shown signs of trouble will be subjected to close scrutiny by Attorney-General Jackson. He says:

"In the Jenkins Trust company there has been found over-loans to the president of the company. For instance the records show over-loans to the president aggregating $557,000. The banking law prohibits loaning to any officer or director of more than 10 per cent of the capital stock and surplus and also prohibits any loan to an officer or director without approval of a majority of the trustees.

The capital stock of the Jenkins Trust company is but $500,000 and its surplus $197,000. It is claimed by trustees that they knew nothing about these loans to the president.

The temporary receivers were appointed at Kingston as follows:

Williamsburg Trust company of Brooklyn, Frank P. Faber, president of the Buffalo Dredging company, bond, $1,000,000.

Brooklyn bank, Bruyn Hasbrouck, of New York, bond, $150,000.

Hamilton bank of New York, Frank White of Albany, bond, $200,000.

Jenkins Trust company of Brooklyn, John Mulhall of New York, bond, $200,000.

Borough bank of Brooklyn, Henry A. Powell of Brooklyn, and Isaac N. Cox of Ellenville, bond, $100,000 each.

International Trust company of the Borough of Manhattan, Goodwin Brown of New York, bond, $100,000.

Orders to show cause why permanent receivers should not be appointed were issued returnable before Justice Bristow of Albany, on November 20. Up to the financial crisis John G. Jenkins Jr. was president of the Jenkins Trust company and Howard Maxwell of the Borough bank of Brooklyn. Both resigned when the institutions closed. Last Thursday State Superintendent Williams reported to the attorney-general that the institutions were unable to meet the situation and suggested that receivers be named at once. Jackson then appointed experts to examine the books. The attorney-general says in part:

"Evidence of both criminal and civil liability, in the opinion of the attorney-general, has been found in the investigation thus far has been confined to the Borough bank of Brooklyn and Jenkins Trust company of Brooklyn.

"In the Borough bank of Brooklyn there has been found evidence of illegal over-loans, over-drafts, forged papers and other criminal transactions which will be presented to the grand jury."

Frenzied Financier Hopes to Escape Law by Taking Advantage of Immunity From Testifying Against Himself in Case.

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.)
Chicago, Nov. 16.—John R. Walsh's plea for immunity will be decided Monday. His attorneys will press the point closely, seeing in it the last hope of the former banker to escape the hazard of being sent to the penitentiary by a jury.

The whole matter rests on the decision of Judge Anderson on the question of admissibility of the books of the corporation known as the Walsh railroads as evidence against the financier.

The defense insists that the government has no right to introduce the books of the Indiana Southern and other railroads controlled by Walsh as evidence against him on the ground that the roads were owned by Walsh himself and the constitution, by its fourth and fifth amendments vouchsafes to a defendant protection from testimony which he is compelled to give against himself.

Attorneys for Mr. Walsh take the stand that use of the books of the Walsh roads seized by the government cannot legally be made against the defendant, because that would be virtually compelling him to testify against himself.

The question of adverting evidence from the railroad ledgers was undecided by the court when adjournment was taken.

Without this evidence it is predicted the efforts of the district attorney to secure a conviction against Walsh may be hopeless.

State Examiner Edward P. Moxey, the government's main witness, was on the stand when the mooted question came up for decision yesterday afternoon.

MODIFY LAWS OF NATIONAL GUARD

Administration Wishes to Make Militia Second Defense of the Country.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, Nov. 16.—The national administration desires existing laws modified so that the national guard of the United States can be made effective as the second line of defense of the country. With this end in view Acting Secretary of War Gilmer has invited the Interstate National Guard association to appoint a committee to meet him and the general staff on December 12, and unite upon resolution. Resolving the provision limiting the length of active service of the militia to nine months; permitting service abroad; and the requirement of regular army standard where states have not a full regiment of militia.

Built With Steel Hammers and Norway Rivets

A 10-lb. turkey will be given away FREE OF CHARGE to everyone ordering a Monarch Malleable Range between now and Thanksgiving. We have made arrangements with the leading market to supply us with the birds, and they're guaranteed to be first-class in every respect—no cold storage birds allowed—and if that turkey doesn't roast to a nice brown you'll know it's the fault of the Monarch Range. You have all heard of the Monarch Malleable Range; it may be that a friend or relative has one, so we won't weary you with a long-winded description. But let us impress on you the fact that Monarch Malleable Ranges are entirely different in construction and material from cast-steel ranges, and so far superior in every way that there is no comparison. The top of the Monarch is lighter in weight than an ordinary cast-steel top. A lighter and more close-grained metal will transmit heat more quickly and with less loss than a thicker metal. Now, fully four-fifths of the household cooking is done on the top of the range; therefore a top that will heat more quickly and conduct more heat with less loss will save fuel. See the point? MAJOR M'LAUGHLIN IS VICTIM OF DESPONDENCY

Financial Troubles Cause California Politician to Murder Daughter and Commit Suicide—Second Anniversary of His Wife's Death.

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.)
Santa Cruz, Cal., Nov. 16.—Major Frank McLaughlin, Republican politician, ben vivant, and one of the best known men in the state, shot his only daughter, Agnes, through the head today at their beautiful home, Golden Gate Villa, and a few minutes later ended his own life with cyanide of potassium. Before he swallowed the deadly draft he telephoned the news of his awful deed and equally terrible intention to W. T. Jeter, ex-tenant governor of California, but when his frightened friends arrived he was already dead, while his daughter lay in a bloody pool on the floor, dying.

The tragedy was enacted on the anniversary of his wife's death, two years ago today. McLaughlin had been brooding over the death of his wife, together with his more recent troubles, developed a determination to commit suicide.

What pleadings, what remonstrances, what fatal words passed between him and his daughter will never be known. Whether he stole silently upon her, revolver in hand, or whether he told her his purpose cannot be gathered, but it was the father himself who confessed he had murdered his daughter.

Telephone to friends. All day it was half-past 11, with the dying girl lying near him, that McLaughlin telephoned to Jeter, after having written over a dozen short notes of farewell to various friends.

"I have just killed my daughter. Now I am going to kill myself. Come down to the Golden Gate Villa."

With these words Major Frank McLaughlin, Republican state central committeeman and mining promoter, announced to his friend, former Lieutenant Governor William T. Jeter, the double tragedy then being enacted at his beautiful Santa Cruz home.

Jeter notified several acquaintances and a physician, and together they hurried out to Golden Gate Villa, arriving just in time to find McLaughlin huddled in a chair and breathing his last. The laugher, sprawled upon the floor with blood streaming from a gaping wound in her left temple, was still living, but unconscious.

Rev. P. J. Fisher was hastily summoned to the side of Miss McLaughlin and she was revived sufficiently so that he might administer the last rites of the church.

Financial Trouble Is Cause.
McLaughlin's revolver, with one chamber empty, was found upon a table, while the phial which had contained the poison had rolled from his hand and lay on the floor beside his chair. In a number of prominent places he had left brief notes addressed to different friends and companions of his former pleasures. One directed to F. E. Morgan stated that financial trouble was the cause of the double tragedy.

The suicide left about 15 notes addressed to prominent politicians and influential people all over the state which contained the simple message, "Good-bye."

Major Frank McLaughlin was one of the most widely known Republican politicians in California and for many years took an active and leading interest in what was going on in the management of the Republican party in this state.

He had been chairman of the Republican central state committee, a member of the Republican national committee, and managed the Danielator campaign for United States senator in California and for many years made him a familiar figure in Washington, and he had a hand in most of the big "confidential" gatherings of the party when political activities he figured as sympathetic with, where not directly agent of the Southern Pacific company.

In business he was a promoter of large mining ventures, and in this capacity moved between San Francisco, New York and London.

Major McLaughlin's personality was so genial and few men in the west had so large a circle of acquaintances as he. Miss McLaughlin died at 6:25 to-night.

Autumn Chills

Caused by the wet and changeable weather, are especially dangerous this year, because of the debilitating effects of an uncommonly trying summer.

In their grip, the whole system suffers—

Catarrh is produced or aggravated by the wet weather, indigestion and constipation occur, there are the chills of malaria, twinges of neuralgia and rheumatism, and liability to blood diseases like the grip, diphtheria, typhoid, scarlet fever, etc.

It is important to take a reliable blood medicine now to nourish and enrich the blood, cure or prevent autumn diseases and protect general health. The best is which makes rich, red, warm blood, benefiting the whole system.

The usual liquid form or chocolate tablets known as Sarsatabs. 500 doses $1.

TAYLOR'S FUTURE TO BE DECIDED

Former Governor of Kentucky Will Confer With Willson at Indianapolis

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Indianapolis, Nov. 16.—The future of William S. Taylor and Charles Finley, the Kentucky refugees will in all probability be decided in this city tomorrow when ex-Governor Taylor will see and talk with Governor-Elect Willson of Kentucky, who is to be here with his wife to visit Mr. Willson's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Willson came here en route to Washington to visit Justice Harlan, ex-Governor Taylor would not discuss the matter today further than to answer that it is not true that he will return to Kentucky on the day Willson is inaugurated. Taylor seemed to be intensely interested in finding out what Willson will be here tomorrow.

SLAYER OF BROWN

family and to give the cause for the overthrowing of her reason in this specific case.

The forthcoming week will be one of surprising dramatic interest in the case. It is an absorbing story of passion among persons lifted by rank and intellect far above the ordinary ranks of crime.

It may be interesting to glance back over the life stories of the central figures in the tragedy, the final scenes of which are being enacted before Justice Stafford and a jury in Criminal Court No. 1.

Arthur Brown was born of highly respected parents—farmer folk—on what is known as Schoolcraft Prairie, Mich., not many more than 50 years ago. Schoolcraft Prairie is about 15 miles from Kalamazoo. His father was an old abolitionist and a henchman of old Zach Chandler. Brown had a college education and was graduated from the law department of the University of Michigan, carrying off both degrees of bachelor of arts and bachelor of laws. From the beginning he succeeded, and within a short time he had the largest law practice of any attorney in Kalamazoo.

He married a Miss Howland, a talented and well-to-do family, who is now living in Columbus, Ohio, where her daughter, the issue of the marriage with Brown, is engaged in the profession of journalism. Brown developed early, however, wayward tendencies—women and whiskey. He was a handsome looking fellow, of sunny nature, big hearted, generous, of most engaging manner. He disregarded his vows and became enamored of a Miss Isabel Cameron duplicated his former success, and soon was one of the most popular practitioners in that city. Then Mrs. Bradley entered his life and another scandal, which ended in his death, ensued.

"One of the greatest difficulties we have met with," said Judge Powers today, "is in getting Mrs. Bradley to tell anything about Brown that will in any way reflect upon him. Her affection for him is as strong as ever."

The trial will be resumed on Monday morning. It is believed it will take a week to present the case of the defense. We will probably bring Mrs. Bradley to the witness stand about Thursday.

Theobald Otjen, who represented the Fourth Wisconsin district in congress for 14 years, has announced his candidacy to succeed William J. Carey, who defeated him last fall. It is not yet known whether Mr. Carey will be a candidate for reelection.

GLIMPSE OF OLD FRANCE AT FETE

Wedding of Prince Charles and Princess Louise Is Stately Affair.

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.)
London, Nov. 16.—A glimpse of the manners and customs of the old French court was presented today at Wood Norton when Prince Charles of Bourbon and Princess Louise of France were united in marriage with ceremonies, the picturesqueness and stately magnificence of which hardly could have been exceeded had the Duke of Orleans, the owner of Wood Norton, and the bride's brother, been the occupant instead of a pretender to the throne of France.

Thirty members of the royal families, relatives of the bride or the bridegroom, were present, each bearing a name closely identified with the history of Europe in bygone centuries, while among other guests, numbering nearly 400, were diplomats representing most of the nations of the world, including the American ambassador to the court of St. James, Whitelaw Reid and Mrs. Reid, and the American ambassador to France, Henry White and Mrs. White, and a host of nobles gathered from all the courts of Europe.

The religious ceremonies were performed by the registrar in St. Mary's Roman Catholic church at Evesham, at 8:30 o'clock this morning.

The religious ceremonies were carried out at noon in an artistic temporary chapel, and the Roman Catholic bishop of Birmingham officiated.

AUTHOR CONWAY DIES IN PARIS

Distinguished Writer Found Dead in Bed at His Quarters.

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.)
Paris, Nov. 16.—After an illness of several days, Rev. Dr. Moncaur D. Conway, the distinguished United States author, died here last night. His death was sudden and unexpected.

Dr. Conway was found dead in the bed in his quarters at the Hotel de Ville, where he had been staying for several days, but the physicians who were called attributed his illness principally to his advanced age.

He had come here several weeks ago, after a visit to Andrew Carnegie in Skibo castle, had taken a modest apartment on the Rue de Villiers and intended to sail today for the United States.

Charges of poeage have been brought against James M. Smith, who was a candidate for the governorship of Georgia in the last campaign. Mr. Smith in one of the largest growers of cotton in the state. The charges against him were made by a family of negroes, who allege that he has kept them in virtual slavery.

ALWAYS WAS SICK.
When a man says he always was sick—troubled with a cough that lasted all winter—what would you think if he should say—he never was sick since using Ballard's Horehound Syrup. Such a man exists.
