Grand Friday Feast of Bargains

$10 in Gold for a Name for Our Friday Sales (See SIDE NOTE)

$10 in Gold Given Away!

("SIDE NOTE")

We have cudged our brains, bored our friends, laid awake nights and busted our grey matter over-time days in casting about for a name for our coming great weekly bargain events. "The Bargain Fridays," which start tomorrow. There are "Economy Sales," "Surprise Sales," "Challenge Sales," and other Friday sales galore. None of these quite reach the standard we seek—and of course the name by which our Friday sale is known must be "Different." So we have decided to call in the aid of the public to "name the baby." What shall we call our Friday sales? For the best name suggested and received—by mail—to be decided by a committee of advertising men—before Sunday, December 1, we will pay $10 in gold coin. A great chance for children or grown-ups to earn Christmas money for holiday spending or for wanted necessities. Everyone is eligible—nothing to buy—no age limit, send in the name or names you suggest with your name and address plainly written. Address your suggestions to Advertising Department.

STRONG CASE AGAINST RECEIVER G. H. HILL

Sensational Developments Expected in Hearing on Petition for Removal in the United States Court Saturday—Did Ross Ask for Closing of Own Bank?

Institution showed that but $9,000 in cash remained on deposit. An itemized statement of the liabilities and assets of the institution is also being prepared and will be ready by the time the case comes into court. This statement will show, it is said, that with the exception of the stock held by W. M. Ladd, and a few scattering shares apportioned to the different officials, directors and others, all the stock was held or controlled by J. Thorburn Ross, the president of the corporation.
Ross Controlled Coy Stock.
The stock of Nathan Coy, the Boston man who asked for the appointment of Hill, is said to be in reality the property of Ross, who therefore, to all practical intents and purposes, petitioned for the close of his own bank and the appointment of his own receiver. The Reed stock, a large block, is also held in fact by Ross, being under his control.
By this statement it will also be shown that one note for $20,000 written by one of the bank officials, and practically unsecured, is held by the bank as an asset and that many other notes for larger or smaller sums lent to different members of the official family are held as assets and unsecured.
Steel's Notes in Bank.
It will be shown that George A. Steel, state treasurer, has two notes for $5,000 each listed as assets of the bank, that the Portland Fuel company, which practically means George A. Steel, has one note for $5,000, one for $3,000 and an overdraft of $4,000, also listed as assets of the bank, and so far as now known without any security.
It will also be shown, so the story runs, that the bank officials led by President Ross, were in the habit of charging substantial bonuses for loans made, and going back into the early history of the institution that at the time the bank was organized it had a capital stock of $250,000, while over a debt of $407,000 was being secured by a property title to which was yet in doubt.
With all these showings it is expected

WORKING TO UNITE CENTRAL AMERICA

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Mexico City, Nov. 21.—The Central American residents of this city, who have organized a commission with the object of a strong propaganda in favor of the federation of all the states of Central America, have published a long manifesto of which the following is a resume:
First—The Central American commission established in Mexico will exert every effort to procure the union in one single republic of the five states of Central America.
Second—The commission will take no new steps till it has been established in Mexico an international congress of all the Central American states.
Third—The commission will open a register for the names of all persons who sympathize with the idea of the union and who wish to lend their services in awakening the patriotism of the people of Central America.
Fourth—The commission will address the governments of the old and new worlds, the diplomatic corps and prominent men of all countries, praying their moral support.

THREE THOUSAND JAPS COME TO VANCOUVER

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 21.—It transpired at a sitting of the immigration commission that 3,000 Japanese entered Vancouver alone during the first 10 months of this year. Large numbers at Victoria who came on to Vancouver are not counted. Evidence is that the Canadian Nippon Supply company offered to supply the Grand Trunk Pacific with oriental laborers but the offer was refused. At the head of the Nippon company is Major C. Gardiner Johnson, one of the best officers for years in the Duke of Connaught's Own Rifles (Canadian regiment here). The plan of supply was to bring laborers from Japan and after charging the men for getting work to take $1 a month from the wages of each. In addition the company had also to furnish all supplies required for the men.
Rain Coat Sale.
This sale includes fancy stripes and plaids with inlaid collars and cuffs and strapings piped and button trimmed in every color. The following special prices will be made tomorrow: $37.50 silk raincoats $29.95, $30 silk raincoats $24.95, $25 silk raincoats $17.75, $20 silk raincoats $14.95, $15 silk raincoats $11.95. SUBTREASURY IN PORTLAND

Senators Fulton and Bourne, With Aid of Northwest Congressmen, Will Urge Congress to Pass Act Establishing Government Depository in This City.
Portland can laugh at panics in the future if the plan that is now proposed by its senators and representatives in congress is carried out. This is to have the treasury department establish a subtreasury in Portland, thus collecting and conserving all the government money in the northwest in this city and loaning portions of it to the banks in time of need.
At present all receipts in the post-offices, the revenue offices and custom houses of the great Pacific northwest pass through this city on their way to San Francisco, which is the nearest subtreasury station. The only other one in the west is Chicago, which is farther than San Francisco. The need for a subtreasury in this part of the country is well known to all bankers and government officers.
The matter of securing the treasury for Portland has been placed before United States Senators Houser and Fulton who are now investigating it and have promised to work for the passage of an act of congress creating such treasury in the next session of congress.
Congressman Ellis and other Oregon and northwest congressmen will also be asked to join in the movement and there is no doubt but that all the representatives in Washington from this part of the country at least will give the measure their hearty support.
At present thousands of dollars are daily passing through the hands of the government officials in this city while thousands more are being shipped to Portland from the postoffices in the towns and cities of the northwest. But all this money has to go out of the city and be sent to San Francisco, whence it is shipped to New York.
It is claimed by those who are anxious to secure the location of a subtreasury here that with $3,000,000 or more on deposit all the time the treasury could lend money to the banks if proper security were given, and that with that much actual money on hand all the time there could never be a shortage of funds in Portland.
If the consent of the treasury department is gained by the Oregon senators and the proposed measure passes congress it is probable that one of the local banks will be selected as a place of deposit for the government money until such time as the treasury department builds its own building.
