ALUMNI WANTS TO PLAY MULTNOMAH

Efforts Being Made to Get Collegers and Club Men Together New Year's.

Portland football enthusiasts may see another big game before next season's curtain is rung up for a movement is on foot to arrange a game between Multnomah and a team composed of the best players on the University of Oregon's team and Oregon alumni on New Year's day. This date is left open on Multnomah's schedule and the college men are anxious to have the clubmen draw him out for old time's sake.

That the game would be popular with the rooters is certain because there is not one who would not travel miles to see such old stars as Hug, McKinney, Earl and Chandler on the gridiron in football suits. There are a few of the alumni that would be in the game should it be pulled off and there are probably many more who could be induced to play if the game were arranged.

The college men are anxious for the game. The alumni are building grandstands and other improvements for the athletic field at Eugene and would like to pick up a little money in the New Year's game to add to the fund already raised for this work. The clubmen could not get a better money-making attraction than this aggregation to close the season.

CORVALLIS HEROES RECEIVE WELCOME

Football Squad Hailed As Champions of Pacific by College Boys.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Corvallis, Dec. 3.—Like a conquering Roman general returning with the spoils of war, the Oregon Agricultural college football team returned home yesterday afternoon from Los Angeles with the Pacific coast football championship after defeating St. Vincent's college and were given the greatest demonstration of welcome ever known in the history of Corvallis.

More than 3,000 people were on hand when the heroes arrived in town. The student body and faculty composed the welcoming committee and the regimental band was on hand to play "See the Conquering Hero Comes." The crowd formed an escort from the college campus to the city.

The members of the team were in fine condition and reported a splendid time while on their trip, which included visits at Los Angeles, Venice, Ocean Park, San Francisco and Oakland.

HOW OLD PORTLAND STANDS IN SPORTS

Portland has given the east some high-class athletes, notable among them being Rockwell, formerly captain and quarterback of Yale; Gilbert of Yale, the famous pole vaulter; Smith, the Columbia university football player; Smithson, who has just commenced to figure at Yale; Seattle sent Dan Pullen to West Point, where he has been heard of in football; Sam Russell to Yale, where he figured both in the doubles and singles tennis championships; Crooks to Amherst, and Geny to West Point. Daly, the great captain Harvard has had in many years, came from the Pacific coast. If Chester Murphy, the Portland football player, had gone east instead of to Stanford he would be included in the great football generals of the gridiron. As he remained on the coast his reputation never extended in proportion to his ability.

TWO FIGHTERS WHO WERE STOPPED.

Tommy Murphy on the left and Burt Keyes who were just about to put up a rattling lightweight battle at the Sharkey Athletic club, New York, when the town constables jumped in the ring, displayed their stars and in unison cried, "fight will not go on, by gum!" And the fight did not go on, much to the dismay of the followers of the fist game, who are still feverishly anxious to see which one of these two husky scrappers can send the other to the ring floor for a doze.

WANT STANFORD TO PLAY IN ROSE CITY

Portland Rooters Want to See Real Live Game of Association Football.

Sportdom in Portland is enthusiastic over the possibility of a game of soccer football between a local team and the championship Stanford team in Portland when the college players are on their northern trip to play the Canadian teams. "Stump" Stott, who played such a strong game for Multnomah Thanksgiving day and whose name is held in memory dear by all Stanford men, is leading the local sporting fraternity. Portland's standing as an athletic center is so great that a recognition of the association game in the Rose City would do much to establish the game standing in the sporting circles of the coast.

The Bunker Hill Athletic club's football squad was put through a stiff practice Sunday morning by Coach Kennedy and the men are feeling so confident of their ability to defeat most anything left in the shape of a football team that they are anxious to take on the St. Johns aggregation Sunday. The Bunker Hill squad reports fine treatment from the Chemawa Indians and the members of the athletic team are coming on beautifully under the coaching of Kirby.

Corbett and Sullivan Comment.

(United Press Special Wire.) New York, Dec. 3.—James J. Corbett, commenting on the Burns-Moir fight, said: "I am sorry that Moir did not win so that Jeffries could fight the Englishman."

"The fight was unimportant," said John L. Sullivan. "With a little training I could whip both Burns and Moir."

BURNS DEFEATED BIG GUNNER MOIR

Britisher Easy Game for American, Who Claims Title of World Championship.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) London, Dec. 3.—If any Englishman had an idea that England might in the near future win back her prestige as the home of the boxing glove he met with a great disappointment yesterday when Tommy Burns smashed big Gunner Moir all over the 24-foot enclosure for 10 rounds, finally sending in three terrific wallops that ended the Englishman's claim to the championship belt.

It was all too easy. Burns stepped into his man in the first round, took his measure, and then began a system of fight which culminated in an inglorious defeat for the Englishman in the tenth round. Burns showed himself to be a clever warrior, and he was not skeptical that he has a punch, something that has been disputed heretofore.

Was a Good Fight. Despite the ease with which Burns won the fight was a good one to look at. The American played his game so carefully and gradually there were those present who thought Moir had a chance even though he was in the eighth round. The wearing away process, however, commenced as early as the fifth, when Burns landed a right on the jaw and dashed the Gunner over the eye with a swinging left.

Then came the sixth, when Moir lost all sense of the fight and swung like a mad man in his efforts to connect with Burns' anatomy. In the seventh Burns landed a smash on Moir's cheek that made an ugly wound.

Moir Fought Gamely. Bleeding and practically blinded, Moir came back in the eighth with all the gameness his backers could have desired. He was in any man's eye a fighter with all the skill and desperation at his command, but he was met and stilled in all departments of the game by Burns as Moir. Still the Gunner kept on fighting as if he had a chance to win the bout. He lasted the round and came back for more in the ninth.

In the ante-climax Burns simply beat Moir at will. Terrific rights and lefts were planted upon the Britisher, who kept in the ring simply because Burns' blows did not have sufficient force to send the Gunner through the roof.

Moir Stepped into a right arm jolt and went to the floor. He arose, but went to the mat once more from a left to the jaw. He was able to get up only in time to get a wallop on the jaw that ended the fight.

Burns was a 7 to 4 favorite when the men entered the ring. A large crowd saw the scrap, and still larger crowds waited outside the National Sporting club for the result. When the announcement came that Burns had won great excitement was manifested.

Moir Badly Beaten and Face Looks Like Raw Beefsteak. (United Press Special Wire.) London, Dec. 3.—Tommy Burns does not look today as though he had been in a fight, while Gunner Moir's eyes are badly swollen and discolored, his nose split and deep cuts and bruises on his face. Britons are dazed over the result. Burns will remain here for some time and will reappear in the ring soon.

MANY CHANGES FOR NEXT YEAR'S TEAMS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Chicago, Dec. 3.—The features of the past week in baseball were the announcement that McGraw would release Dahlen, Strang, Brown and McIntyre; that the Chicago Cubs would purchase Johnny Kane from Cincinnati; that Lajoie did best John Hatfield's throw in the late Cincinnati throwing contest; that Charley Comiskey will carry on a war to the finish against Ben Johnson; that the White Sox will get Pitcher Dusty Rhoades from Cleveland for McCreary; that the Philadelphia Athletics will manage the Kansas City team; that Jake Stahl will probably secure the Milwaukee franchise; that Bill Clymer will again manage the Columbus team.

Six players will comprise the team and they will play at Tacoma, Friday; Victoria, Saturday, and Seattle, Sunday. ## COLUMBIAS WILL PLAY CRESCENTS SATURDAY

Arrangements have been completed for an association game of football between the Columbias and Crescents Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at league grounds. The game was to have been played last Saturday but the players returning from Seattle were so sore and battered from their game with the sound players Thanksgiving day they were unable to play. The Seattle game was lost by the local men by a score of 3 to 2.
