

Vegetables are still quite plentiful in the local retail markets despite the fact that this is well into the wintry season. Some few of the summer varieties are missing from the displays but taken as a whole your table can be quite well supplied from the markets at this time.

Supplies of spinach are limited but some of the larger markets have some. Try this in preparing it:

To four quarts of the vegetable provide one tablespoon of cream, an ounce of butter, three or four eggs, a teaspoon of lemon juice, a grain of cayenne, a tablespoon of salt and pepper to suit.

Now soak the spinach thoroughly, washing it in several waters, then pick the stalks off. When washed it should be placed into a dry saucepan and after sprinkling it with salt, place it in a range. Enough liquor will be drawn from the spinach by the salt

The Lunch Counter

Is the Cause of Dyspepsia and Indigestion, Catarrh of the Stomach and Heart Disease.

Nine-Tenths of Those Who Eat There Bolt Down Their Food.

The next time you eat at a lunch-counter just you watch the people opposite. Look down the whole line and notice how they bolt down their food, washing it down with hot coffee or cold water. First, they take a large bite then a drink, a bite and a drink, hurrying through their meal in five or ten minutes.

Many of them don't know the correct way to eat, while others are so intent on money-making that they will not take the time to eat properly.

The lunch-counter creates a great demand for Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, for every one who knows that they assist the stomach in digesting the food that has been suddenly forced down into it.

Health should be the first thing sought for in the battle for existence. With a sound body all things are possible to man; while ill-health handicaps him.

The dyspeptic is usually grouchy and cannot meet his fellow-man in the proper spirit to win his confidence and esteem. Many a fine proposition has failed because a dyspeptic was back of it.

Your brain does not work right where dyspeptic conditions prevail, neither does any organ of the body.

Get your digestive apparatus in perfect condition first and all will go well with you.

Take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets until you care yourself of indigestion, catarrh of the stomach and dyspepsia, and your heart, liver, brain and all the organs of the body will perform their functions properly and you will be in sound health.

Don't give up in despair, but get right and all things will come your way and fortune will again smile upon you.

You can purchase Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets anywhere on earth. They have become a family necessity everywhere.

They are 50 cents per package.

Why Suffer?

If you suffer pain from any cause, Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills will relieve it—and leave no bad after-effects. That's the important thing. Neither do they create a habit. More often the attacks become less frequent, or disappear altogether. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills have no other effect except to relieve pain and quiet nervous irritation.

"We are never without Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. My husband and son, aged 15 were always subject to sick headaches until we began using these Pills, and they have broken them up entirely. Don't think they have had to use them for six months. I recommend them to every one. A few weeks ago I heard an old lady friend was sick. I went to see her. She was down with LaGrippe, and nearly crazy with awful backaches. I gave her one of the Anti-Pain Pills and left another for her to take in a short time. They helped her right away, and she says she will never be without them again. Last winter my husband was taken with pleurisy on both sides, and I knew he would have died if it hadn't been for the Pills. In less than half an hour he was sweating, and went to bed and slept."

HUMMEL ON DEATH BED

Dapper Lawyer Transformed Into Old Man by Disease Which Will Forbid His Leaving Blackwell Island Prison Alive.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

New York, Dec. 4.—Abe Hummel, the lawyer, first nighter and at one time the best-known figure on Broadway, convicted of conspiracy in the Dodge-Morse divorce scandal, is dying in the Blackwell's island penitentiary.

He will not survive his term of imprisonment, which ends in March. He is in the grip of a fatal disease and his death may occur at any moment. Dr. Phillip H. Metz, resident physician at the prison, said today: "Hummel will not live to leave the penitentiary. He has been in bed for two months. He may live weeks or he may die at any moment, but there is no power known to medical science by which his life can be saved. He is suffering from intestinal nephritis, a kidney disease which has spread to his heart. It is in such an advanced stage that it is impossible even to check its ravages. It would not surprise any of the physicians who have visited Hummel to have him drop dead any day."

"He would not be recognized by the old friends who knew him when he was the dapper, smiling, alert lawyer on Broadway. He has shrunk terribly. He has lost 30 pounds in weight. His cheeks are thin and the ironed muscles sag. His eyes are lack-luster and there are great puffs under them. He is so weak that he cannot now stand alone."

Hummel's Offense.

Abe Hummel was convicted on December 20, 1905, of conspiring with his partner Benjamin Stenhardt, and Charles F. Dodge to invalidate the marriage of Mrs. Dodge and Charles W. Morse, the banker and ice trust magnate. Dodge turned state's evidence, after being caught in Texas and brought back to New York.

"This man and his firm have been a menace to the community for 20 years." It was a noted and notable firm that the district attorney thus branded. William F. Howe was the senior partner in the New York public schools, he served as an office boy for Howe, and was admitted to the bar when he was 19 years old. He became a member of the firm in 1869, and his influence grew rapidly, so that long before the death of Howe, Hummel was the more widely known of the two. He was lavish with his money. His entertainment, at his home or along Broadway, according to the character of his guests, was sumptuous. He made an enormous income, and he spent a large part of it gratifying his love of pleasure. But even that money was well spent, from an advertising point of view, for it was from Broadway, in the lower walks of life, that Hummel drew his paying clientele. They were men and women with "pasta." They were divorced, or to be kept out of the clutches of the law, and to Hummel they went for the one thing or the other.

Model Prisoner.

Since his imprisonment, Hummel has been a model prisoner. He has complied with every prison rule. He wears the coarse prison garb of stripes the same as any other convict. The stories that he is dressed in soft, silken undergarments is not true. He is allowed nothing that is withheld from any other prisoner, and he has asked for nothing.

Hummel has completely lost his appetite. The prison fare, which is all he can get, is not alluring to a man who has lived for years on the choicest delicacies obtainable. He is allowed milk, eggs and bread for breakfast, meat, vegetables, tea or coffee and pudding for dinner and a soup and vegetables for supper.

The inability to eat has contributed to his weakness. He is now as helpless as a baby.

SENTENCED TO FIFTY YEARS FOR ROBBERY

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, Dec. 6.—William H. San Thomas Conwell, William McLaughlin and James Purcell were each sentenced to 50 years imprisonment in the penitentiary yesterday. These four things were convicted of highway robbery. Two months ago they met George Felphes, a waiter on the steamer Sonoma, one night in the burnt district. He asked them to direct him to a hotel. Instead they struck him down with the butt end of a pistol and relieved him of $15 in gold.

Enfs Gas.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Los Angeles, Cal. Dec. 6.—Despondent and feeling she had been cast aside by her husband for another woman, Mrs. Ida C. Wulst committed suicide last night by inhaling illuminating gas. Near the body were found the fragments of a note which she had written to her husband, who is the proprietor of a lithographing establishment.

ADRIFT IN BAY FOR THREE DAYS

Fishermen in Crazy Skiff Tossed About by Storm Try to Make Shore.

Without food or drink for 72 consecutive hours and bearing evidence of having been buffeted by storm, Charles Losee and George Goff, amateur fishermen, arrived at their homes in Fort Hamilton, says the New York American. They told how a little boat in which they had drifted was tossed about by several fishing smacks, although the two endangered men signaled wildly for help.

Losee, who lives at Ninety-third street and Fifth avenue, and Goff, who resides at Ninety-second street and Battery place, left Fort Hamilton Saturday morning in a skiff rigged with what seemed to be a stout sail. This skiff was known as a "hard luck" craft, for it had capsized twice last summer. But the men intended to go out beyond Sandy Hook to fish and ignored all superstition when they sailed away. They had no trouble until they reached the Hook and there they bobbed around, getting many fish.

Early Saturday afternoon they started back for Fort Hamilton. As they got to the mouth of the Narrows the big storm of that night struck them. The sail of the skiff was rent as if it were tissue paper. The mast cracked and fell overboard, tipping the vessel until the men believed they would be drowned. The storm not only raged with sail and mast, but even ripped the rudder loose, so that it was useless.

Losee and Goff were helpless. They had taken along only enough water and food to last until late in the afternoon and as the night wore on and the gale swept them hither and thither, in the cold and darkness, they began to suffer from thirst.

As the morning broke the storm increased in fury and the fishermen had no idea where they were. Rain descended in such volumes and was driven with such vapor-like clouds that they could not even see the shore.

A sailing vessel, struggling with the choppy sea, passed close to the skiff. Losee and Goff shouted wildly and waved pieces of the tattered sail. But the craft went lurching on her way, the captain paying no attention to the yells for help.

Passed by Other Vessels.

Later another vessel, a big fishing smack, hove in sight, and the cries were renewed, but again they were ignored. Several other vessels sailed past, the seemingly doomed men and they abandoned hope.

Meanwhile the police had issued a general alarm for them and all the life-saving stations along the New Jersey coast were notified. Crews of outgoing fishing vessels were requested to keep a lookout for the missing sail, but no word was received from them until late yesterday. At 7 o'clock last night they appeared at their homes.

They had drifted into Point City cove, about eight miles from Atlantic Highlands, and had managed so as to maneuver the boat as to permit of landing. The two were bedraggled and haggard from exposure and lack of sustenance. They won't go out in the skiff again.
