WINNERS OF NOBEL PRIZES

Rudyard Kipling Will Receive Magnificent Literary Award Tuesday.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Stockholm, Dec. 7.—The five Nobel prizes, founded with his vast fortune by Alfred Nobel, the inventor of dynamite, to reward each year those who have most aided humanity by scientific or medical research, by idealistic literature, and by the promotion of peace, will be distributed next Tuesday, which will be the eleventh anniversary of Mr. Nobel's death. The names of most of this year's prize winners are already known and announcement of the others is expected within the next day or two.

The literary prize goes to Rudyard Kipling, the distinguished English author. Kipling's predecessors have been Sully-Prudhomme, Mommsen, Bjoernsen, Mistral, Echegaray, Sienkiewicz and Carducci.

The prize for chemistry will be awarded to Sir William Crookes of London, the discoverer of thallium and the inventor of the radiometer, and who recently discovered a process of extracting nitric acid from the atmosphere, a discovery which is expected to revolutionize the nitrate industry and the world's food problem. The recipients of the chemistry prize in former years were Professor Van Hoff of Germany, Professor Fischer of Germany, Professor Arrhenius of Sweden, Sir William Ramsay of England, Professor von Bayer of Germany, and M. Mossen of France.

The prize for physics this year has been awarded to an American, Professor A. A. Michelson of the University of Chicago, in recognition of his discovery of a new method of determining the velocity of light. Dr. Michelson's predecessors have been Professor Roentgen of Germany, Professor Lorenz and Professor Zeemann of Holland, M. and Mme. Currie and M. Becquerel, of France, Lord Rayleigh of England, Professor Lenard of Germany and Professor Thomson of England.

The Nobel prizes have an average value of $40,000 each and are given annually to those who have done the most useful work during the year in literature, physical science, chemistry, physiology or medicine and for the propaganda of peace. The Nobel Foundation, which has the awards in charge, was established by Alfred Bernhard Nobel, in a will which he made in 1895. The inventor's fortune of $9,000,000 was devoted to capitalizing the prizes, and the administration of the foundation and awards of prizes are in the hands of the Swedish learned academies and, for the peace prize, a committee of the Norwegian parliament. The prizes were first awarded in 1901, the distribution taking place annually on December 10, the anniversary of Nobel's death.

It is believed that Wong Fong, who lived at 358 Eighth street, Oakland, was a private detective, as several recommendations to well known people of this city introducing him for his reliability and integrity were found in his pockets.

THOUSANDS OF KIDNEY CASES IN PORTLAND

The famed Dr. Loomis of Bellevue hospital has declared that his autopsies show that nine-tenths of men and women over 40 have kidney disease, and as probably one-tenth of the people in Portland are over 40, thus nine-tenths of these would mean thousands. But if Dr. Loomis' statement is only partly correct, it would show the astonishing prevalence of kidney disease. Another and important fact is that kidney trouble is not only curable but commonly gets well of itself the first few weeks. But if it has been hanging on and become chronic it is then considered fatal, and that it has been so is shown by the census deaths from kidney troubles—now over 63,000 annually. This frightful annual death list also shows the futility of the scores of medicines that claim to cure kidney trouble. While many of them are possibly helpful during the first few weeks of the curative stage, there is only one thing known that gets recovery in the chronic or supposed fatal stage, and that is Fulton's Renal Compound. It has a proven efficiency in just this class in nearly nine-tenths of all cases, and the Fulton company is the only one in the world that limits the recoveries it publishes solely to the supposed incurable forms. As it is impossible to say whether a given case of kidney disease is in the first or second stage, the only sensible plan if you have kidney trouble is to start on the only thing that will reach it in both stages.

"The authorities coincide in declaring the disease incurable. Do not the numerous recoveries under this treatment demand a new adjustment of our beliefs?"—Berkeley, Cal., Daily Reporter.

ASKS JURY TRIAL FOR EACH GAMBLER

First Found Guilty, Attorney Now Asks Separate Hearing for Remainder.

The municipal court is just now threatened with an avalanche of jury trials. Attorney Malarkey, who appears as counsel for the thirty Chinese arrested at 131 Second street on the night of November 29, has declared his intention of demanding a separate trial for each of his clients and that a jury will be demanded in each case.

The first of the cases came up for trial yesterday afternoon and resulted in a verdict of guilty by the jury, which had been summoned to hear the evidence. As Judge Cameron postponed sentence there is much guesswork being indulged in as a consequence. The evidence against the other 29 defendants is practically the same as against the Chinese tried yesterday and it is therefore asserted that a conviction in each case is practically certain.

It is within the power of Judge Cameron to impose a fine of $300 and 90 days in jail in every case where a conviction is had. Should the Chinese, through their counsel, persist in blocking the business of the court with jury trials and inflicting the consequent inconvenience on the great number of business men whom it will be necessary to summon to sit on the juries it is within the range of probabilities that the court will impose heavy fines in all cases of conviction.

THEY CAME FROM MOONSHINE LAND

But the "Revenues" Can't Find Them Moonshining in Washington.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 7.—For more than a year reports have been received by the internal revenue collector here that moonshiners were operating on the headwaters of the Skagit river in the northern part of the state. After a thorough investigation it has been found to be untrue.

The collector sent one of his most trusted men into the district in the guise of a timber cruiser. For several months he traveled the country over without exciting suspicion, but without finding anything to indicate the presence of an illicit distillery. He stopped with one of the leading settlers, and giving out that he had been sent into the region to make an investigation of the character of the forests and estimate roughly the amount of standing timber on a number of tracts of land, he went about from house to house. All trails leading from settlers' cabins he carefully followed, and even went to the length of picking up blazes on trees and following them for miles through the woods in order to make sure that they did not lead to some fastness where "mountain dew" was being brewed.

That section of country, he found, has been settled by a colony from the mountains of Kentucky and Tennessee. They are intensely clannish among themselves, and yet hospitable to an excessive degree, and with a deep vein of religious fervor in their makeup.

PLENTY OF CARS FOR ALL SHIPPERS NOW

North Pacific Is Making Them at Shops and Wheat Cars Have Come West.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 7.—For the first time in several years the Northern Pacific is filling all orders for cars. Officials here claim that their ability to serve shippers now, whereas it was totally impossible some time ago, is caused partly by the great numbers of box cars that the shops here and at Livingstone and other points are turning out. The Tacoma shops are building regularly five new cars every working day. The shortage has also been partially relieved by the policy of rushing cars west at the opening of the fall to assist in moving the wheat crops. The shutting down of sawmills has also tended to produce an overplus.

The paucity of skilled labor from which the company's shops have suffered for several years has now been cured by the employment of numbers of carpenters and expert mechanics, whom the shops have heretofore been unable to get.

at Spokane. He is now preparing to move to Portland.

H. M. Adams, who was assistant traffic manager of the Great Northern, with headquarters at Seattle, has been made general passenger and freight agent of the Portland & Seattle road, and will came to Portland January 1. He is now at Washington, District of Columbia, in attendance at the interstate commerce commission hearing on the transcontinental lumber rate.

Mr. Adams will be the head of the freight and passenger business of the Portland & Seattle, the Astoria & Columbia River road, and the Goldendale road, all of which are now properties jointly of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroad companies.

May Build Oregon Branches.

The freight and passenger departments of the Northern Pacific, now presided over respectively by F. H. Fogarty and A. D. Charlton in this city, will not have any direct relationship to the Portland & Seattle, and the latter road will be operated entirely independent. The line will be opened for business some time in January from Pasco to Vancouver.

Work on construction of the road through to Spokane by the direct route is being pushed, and so is construction of both the Columbia river and Willamette river bridges at this end of the line. It is expected that all these undertakings will be completed some time next year, and the entire line, including the Astoria and Goldendale branches, will be operated together.

Nobody knows what will be done after the system is completed. It is believed it will be operated as an independent railroad system and other branches extended into Oregon territory.

Ralph Jenkins, at present general freight and passenger agent of the Astoria, road, will be brought to Portland after the first of the year and take a place in Mr. Adams' department. His exact position in the new organization is not yet defined, but he will become an assistant in either passenger or freight business. Appointments on this staff are under consideration by Mr. Adams.

Of Interest To Women.

To such women as are not seriously out of health, but who have exacting duties to perform, either in the way of household cares or in social duties and functions which seriously tax their strength, as well as to nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proved a most valuable supporting tonic and invigorating nervine. By its timely use, much serious sickness and suffering may be avoided. The operating table and the surgeons' knife, would, it is believed, seldom have to be employed if this most valuable woman's remedy were resorted to in good time. The "Favorite Prescription" has proven a great boon to expectant mothers by preparing the system for the coming of baby, thereby rendering childbirth safe, easy, and almost painless.

Bear in mind, please that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse, because of the uncertainty as to their composition and harmless character, but is a MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, a full list of all its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle-wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol in its make-up. In this connection it may not be out of place to state that the "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, and sold through druggists, all the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of these endorsements will be sent to any address, post-paid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card, or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce Buffalo, N. Y.

BEST OF MONEY FOR THE WORST OF LAND

But Buyers Hope to Double on Overlap Land Investment.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Pendleton, Or., Dec. 7.—Within the past few weeks many thousands of acres of barren, rocky land in the western part of Umatilla county have been purchased at $8 and $10 per acre, and the purchasers state that they will make all the way from $5 to $100 on their purchases.

This land lies in what is known as the overlap section, which embraces much of the western portion of this county, and also much land in Washington. In early days the land was granted by the government to both the Northern Pacific railroad and the O. R. & N. By reason of dual obligation the government had difficulty, for it could not give the same land to two corporations. It then tried to divide it equally, but by a decision of the United States supreme court last winter the Northern Pacific company was given the right to demand every alternate section within the overlap section.

Before the supreme court's decision had been rendered, much of the land had passed into private hands, having been either purchased or filed by settlers, mostly stockmen. In consequence of the court's decision the government now has either to secure title to the land and deed it back to the Northern Pacific or give that corporation other land in lieu thereof. Owners who will accept government scrip for their holdings will be given it, and they may then place their scrip on any vacant government land in any state through which the Northern Pacific passes.

It is because they wish the land as a means of securing scrip that the recent purchasers have offered such seemingly high prices for the barren sections, and when it is known that scrip is worth from $15 to $20, and may sometimes be used to far greater advantage, it can readily be seen how they can pay $8 and $10 per acre for the land.

Robinson was cited to appear to answer for alleged contempuous and insulting language used in a petition for rehearing in the Sullivan will case, now pending in the supreme court. Judge Robinson, through his attorneys, offered to make a full and complete apology for the offense to the court and asked to have the proceedings dismissed.

SILVERTON'S MAYOR STOPS STREET WORK

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Silverton, Or., Dec. 7.—At the November meeting of the common council the matter of grading the east hill in this city was placed in the hands of the street committee and they were given power to act as they saw fit. Subsequently a force of men was set at work making an eight-foot cut. At the last meeting of the council Mayor Wolf put a damper on the improvements by stating that he would not sign warrants in payment for such work and all efforts have been abandoned. His reason for making such objection is on account of the present financial situation.

GARRETT WALKED OUT OF CELLAR BUT WILL GO BACK IN AGAIN

Joseph Garrett, an escaped prisoner from the county jail at Vancouver, Washington, was taken into custody this morning and will be turned over to the Washington authorities this afternoon.

Garrett is presumed to be the possessor of a considerable fortune, he having recently fallen heir to a fortune estimated at $14,000. It was while on a visit to an attorney's office here for the purpose of drawing some of this money that he was apprehended.

About a month ago Garrett was arrested in Vancouver on a charge of larceny. He was convicted on the charge and given a six months' jail sentence. He was made a "trusty" by Sheriff Sappington and allowed a certain amount of liberty about the county jail. Last Tuesday, during the temporary absence of the sheriff, Garrett walked away and was not seen again until he appeared at the office of his attorney this morning.

SIX-FOOT CUPID PUT ON BRAVE FRONT TILL HE FACED POLICEMAN

They were the long and the short of it. He was six feet or more, husky and apparently as strong as an ox. His looks indicated that he would tackle anything. She was thin and particularly short. One might call her a sawed-off. But what did she care about the people—the world, anything or anybody—she was with her affinity, the big fellow.

They strutted into the postoffice, or rather, he walked—she was so small she had to get up a slow trot to keep up with him. When she looked up into his manly face it took both her hands to prevent the hat from falling from the back of her head.

They espied Joe Burke, the postoffice policeman, as soon as they entered the postoffice corridor. Joe saw them coming. The man—the affinity—braced himself for an emergency. The young couple started toward the officer of the law. Then the man's courage failed him. He hesitated, looked around and then stopped. The girl, the tiny little thing, came to the rescue.

"Is this the courthouse?" she piped to the policeman.

"Not yet," he replied, politely.

"Well, we're looking for the county clerk's office," said the little one.

"Yes, I know," answered the law. "I can tell. You didn't have to tell me. Don't tell anyone. They'll all know." And then he told her how to find the courthouse.

She transmitted the directions to the man of the hour, the one man in the world, who was soon to be hers forever.

And then she strutted out of the building with the man, thinking what a great catch she had made, how brave and strong and great and fearless the man of her choice was, and how he would rule the house, herself and even the world from now on.
