We have $10,000 worth—too many blankets, that's the plain truth of the matter in a nutshell. The cold weather we expected in early November failed to materialize, and blanket sales were much slower than they should have been, so we've gone through our stock of blankets and selected 31 styles, approximating a total of $10,000, and reduced these in a remarkable manner, the savings averaging one-fourth and one-third. It's an opportunity to purchase high-grade bedding that offers savings greater than the Portland public have ever known.
