EARLY TRIAL FOR RADDING

Court Overrules Demurrers and Holds That Information Filed by District Attorney Is Sufficient Upon Which to Try Defendants.

E. E. Radding and Mrs. Belle Waymire will have to stand trial in the circuit court on the charge of outraging public decency by the scene which they created in the office of Mayor Lane in the latter part of September. This was made certain today when Judge Cleland overruled the demurrers of the defendants' attorneys and held that the information filed by the district attorney is sufficient.

The chief contention in the attack on the information was that it charged a conspiracy, but that facts sufficient to show a conspiracy were not alleged. Drawing still other legal distinctions, it was contended that the acts charged might justify an accusation of assault or other crime, but that these could not be joined together to make up the offense with which Radding and Mrs. Waymire are charged.

Judge Cleland's opinion was a complete victory for the prosecution. He said that while it is true that a conspiracy is mentioned, the acts alleged, when taken together, come fairly within the definition of outraging public decency.

"The culmination of the acts charged, in attempting to make it appear that the mayor was guilty of an act of indecency," said the court, "comes fairly within the definition. The fact that the door was broken down, or that there was some damage to personal property, or some touching of the person that might be construed as an assault, does not amount to a crime as against the culmination of these alleged acts, charging an outrage of the public decency under the statute."

It will now be up to the defendants to come into court and plead to the information, after which the time for trial of the cases will be set. They probably cannot be reached before February, at the earliest.

PORTLAND TOO DRY FOR ROSES

Portland's park commission came in for a berating at the hands of the Rose Festival association last night for declining to plant rose bushes in the city park and in other public parks of Portland.

The various committees of the Rose Festival association met last night to compare notes and look over the situation for next June's festival. They found the park commission had failed to assist them as much as they had expected, and criticism of the board was passed very freely.

One of the plans for the festival was for the public parks and private property owners to plant as many rose bushes as possible, so that the entire city would be covered with blossoms next summer. Many private property owners have complied with this request and entered into the spirit of the occasion. The Union depot company has planted rose bushes through all of its grounds, and other private parks have been similarly beautified. When the park board consulted Olmsted Brothers, the Boston landscape architects, however, the Bostonians frowned upon the scheme and said it wasn't at all artistic, so the city gave it up. Another reason advanced by the board for not planting roses was that Portland was too dry to have them do well.

Plans for the all-Oregon float parade are coming along very satisfactorily, and letters were read from many cities who have agreed to send representative floats. Astoria will have a huge salmon, and Seattle will send a gold nugget, symbolical of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition.

The following committee was appointed to confer with the park board: E. W. Rowe, F. Y. Holman, W. S. Gibson, E. B. Piper, L. G. Clarke, F. I. Dresser, Dr. Emmet Drake and William McMurray.

Why I Lost My Job

Reasons Why Thousands Like Me Cannot Satisfy Their Employers.

I believe my fate is not unlike that of thousands of other workers who daily lose their places for reasons they do not know, and probably would not believe. When their last pay envelope comes along, it is usually "Your services no longer required." If the truth were known, the reason for their unceremonious removal would probably be that their usefulness was destroyed because of some mental worry, bodily ailment or general indisposition. These things, as we all know, are the most fruitful causes of failure in all walks of life. The battle of Waterloo was lost because of a headache. In this quick age our minds must be clear, rapid, active, and free from outside influence or worry, or else we go down to failure with the throng of "floaters" who go from one place of employment to another, giving no satisfaction to others or to themselves, constantly growing older and less useful, with no ambition, no will power, and no hope.

Every man requires from every other man the best that is in him. But no man can use or get the best that is in himself until he is first free from all fretful indispositions and worries.

That was my trouble. I was full of troubles. That's why I lost my job. My stomach in the first place was always out of order, and I was worrying about it and my mind grew cloudy, and slow. I made mistakes, and grew grouchy. That was the end.

There are thousands like me, going about with "quick lunch" faces, dyspeptic manners, and repulsive atmospheres. No employer wants such men's services.

Take my advice. A healthy stomach is half the battle, for it keeps your mind clear, and your face rosy. I have a healthy stomach now and hold a good position, and my employer is satisfied, and so am I.

I started to take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets which I was told were good for the worst cases of indigestion and dyspepsia. The first two tablets made a wonderful difference in my condition.

One ingredient of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digests 3,000 grains of food. The stomach doesn't have to work at all. The Tablets do all the work, no matter how heavy your meal.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure brash, eructations, burning sensations, bloat, irritations, loss of appetite, nausea, heartburn, lack of energy, loss of memory, and dyspepsia and indigestion in their very worst forms.

No other little tablets in the world can do so much. You should carry them around with you wherever you go and take them regularly after meals. Then you will realize what it is to be freed from stomach torment, and have a clear mind, a quick memory, a happy disposition, comfort and rest. Get Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store for 50c a package.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package, free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

AGREEMENT WITH LADD COMPLETED

Expected That Satisfactory Terms With Depositors Will Be Signed Today.

W. M. Ladd and the representatives of the Depositors' association of the Title Guarantee & Trust company will in all probability sign the agreement this afternoon by which Mr. Ladd agrees to take over the claims of the depositors against the wrecked bank.

A meeting was held yesterday afternoon between Mr. Ladd, his attorneys and the representatives of the depositors, at which time two slight alterations were made in the statement drawn by Ladd's attorneys. Upon the request of the depositors it was agreed that Mr. Ladd should pay all interest annually at 4 per cent, instead of at the close of his stewardship, as outlined by Mr. Ladd's agreement.

It was also asked that Mr. Ladd insert a clause by which he agrees to make up any deficiency in interest payments provided there would not be sufficient funds on hand to pay all interest claims when these payments fell due.

Both of these changes were agreed to by Mr. Ladd and new copies of the agreement were to have been written and finished this morning. The work has been delayed, however, and no final conference was held this forenoon. As soon as the documents have been prepared and checked over for errors or omissions a final meeting will be held, at which Mr. Ladd will sign the agreement, while the representatives of the depositors will sign in behalf of the depositors of the institution.

Following the final settlement of these negotiations, Mr. Ladd's representatives will take up negotiations with W. C. Bristol, the attorney for the American Surety company, when it is expected an agreement will be reached finally settling all negotiations and insuring the assumption of all the business of the fallen bank under the guarantee to pay its claims dollar for dollar with interest at 4 per cent, the final settlement to be made on or before the expiration of three years.

SPRECKELS GETS JOLT AT JERSEY

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Jersey City, N. J., Jan. 8.—Claus Spreckels, the sugar king, received a disappointing jolt today when he tried to inject ginger into the annual meeting of the American Sugar Refining company by starting a fight to force the officers of the corporation to take the shareholders into their confidence.

Undaunted by those opposed to his plan, Spreckels reentered the fray by opposing a resolution crediting the earnings and outside dividends to the surplus. He argued that the stockholders could not vote intelligently as no statement had been made as to what the surplus consisted of.

PURSE SNATCHED ON GRAND AVENUE BRIDGE

Mrs. H. B. Stafford, wife of a clerk at the O. R. & N. east side depot, was attacked by a purse snatcher on the Grand avenue bridge over Sullivan's gulch at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and relieved of a purse containing about $3.

Mrs. Stafford, who lives at 180 Union avenue, North, had been shopping on East Morrison street, and was returning home along Grand avenue with her arms full of bundles and her purse hanging on her arm. As she reached the north end of the bridge a man whom she had just passed, turned and grabbed her purse. In the scuffle that followed Mrs. Stafford was struck in the face and kicked on the ankle, sustaining a cut and bruised upper lip.

RANKIN DENIES CLAIM OF ATTORNEY WATSON

Answering the suit of Attorney E. G. Watson, who is suing M. B. Rankin for $10,000 commission on a land sale which Watson claims on a contract, Rankin declares that Watson is not entitled to anything. He declares that Watson advised him that a large tract of timber land had been illegally located by S. A. D. Puter and his associates and undertook to secure a cancellation of the grant of the lands by the state land board to Puter and others acting with him.

Rankin says he had filed a prior application and that for this reason the Puter grant was not valid. But the state board decided against Rankin, Puter got the title, and subsequently sold the lands to the Abiqua Land company. The latter company later sold to the Commonwealth Trust company, and this in turn disposed of the land to Rankin. The latter admits that Watson was instrumental in the final transfer, but says he had no contract as to any reward, and that an advanced price had to be paid over the sum required when the agreement between Watson and Rankin relative to revoking the Puter grants was made.

PLASTERER DROPS DEAD CROSSING STREET

A plasterer by the name of John Taylor who has been living at the Union hotel, Sixth and Everett streets, dropped dead on the street about 10 o'clock this morning near his hotel. He had no relatives in Portland though he had been sending money regularly to a wife and daughter at Nelson, England. Taylor came to Portland a few months ago from San Francisco and took rooms at the Union hotel. It was while attempting to walk across the street that he was overcome. He was of a stout build and died of heart trouble according to Coroner Finley.

Miles Jury Disagrees.

After being out since yesterday afternoon, the jury in the case of Dr. Thomas Darling against S. A. Miles, was discharged by Judge Bronaugh in the circuit court this morning. Darling claimed that Miles attempted to sell him a strip of land to which he did not possess title, and sought to recover $400, which he alleged he overpaid.

Shortly before noon today 86 Republicans and 26 Democrats had been added to the registration books. There were also three Prohibitionists, two Independents and one Socialist, making a total of 123 up to that time. The proportion of Democrats is heavier than on any preceding day since the books opened.

UNEASY LIES U.S.D.A. HEAD

Schuebel as United States District Attorney Biggest Bone of Contention Yet to Pry Open Breach in Oregon Delegation.

Christian Schuebel, Senator Bourne's choice for United States district attorney for Oregon who has been nominated for the office by President Roosevelt, is not so sure of confirmation as he might be according to some of those who are supposed to be of the inner Bourne circle. There is much uneasiness lest Senator Fulton may again take the bit in his teeth as he did in the case of W. C. Bristol and object to the confirmation of Mr. Schuebel when the nomination is presented before the judiciary committee of the senate.

One thing is certain that the successful recommendation of Mr. Schuebel by Senator Bourne against the united recommendation of the remaining three of the Oregon delegation cannot be taken as anything but a very decided snub to Senator Fulton and the two congressmen by the president.

Flames in Smouldering Fire.

Because of this and other things that have happened in the recent past it is also very probable that the friction that has slumbered between Senator Bourne on the one hand and the other three members of the delegation on the other will break out into open flame. Because of this latest culminating event it is thought that Senator Fulton may fight Schuebel's confirmation.

All has not been harmony in the Oregon delegation since the two senators and the two congressmen gathered together in Washington. Because each had views at variance it was proposed that the delegation act as a unit in all matters pertaining to appointments and similar acts, the vote of the delegation to be determined by a majority. It is believed that this plan was adopted because Senator Bourne had manifested a disposition to pull away from his colleagues.

Majority Plan Ditched.

When Fulton and Ellis left Washington it was agreed between them and Hawley that the latter should make an effort to win Bourne over to the candidacy of Bingham, or if he would not agree on Bingham, then to some man other than Schuebel.

If a new man was to appear as a compromise no action was to have been taken until the return of Fulton and Ellis to Washington. Failing any compromise Hawley was to present the name of Bingham in behalf of the delegation, according to the majority agreement. Senator Bourne, however, refused to abide by the majority plan and his minority recommendation won with the president.

According to senatorial usage the recommendation of a district attorney lies between the senators without regard to the desires of the congressmen of a delegation, and it is believed therefore that Bourne considered himself opposed to Fulton merely, which view was probably shared by Roosevelt.

Fulton has done several things to displease Bourne, one of which was the recommendation of A. Bennett of Irrigon for postmaster. Bennett is specially obnoxious to Bourne because of his continued onslaughts on Bourne in his paper, The Dalles Optimist.

Fulton and Ellis are also interested in securing land office business for Bennett, which has been barred from him by Senator Bourne. This and other like incidents have been widening the breach between the two senators, thus making it improbable that Fulton will submit meekly to the very decided snub of Schuebel's nomination.

Senator Fulton has had an unfortunate record in regard to federal appointments. During his nearly five years in office he has been able to secure the reappointment of David M. Dunne as collector of internal revenues, the appointment of P. S. Malcolm as collector of customs and the appointment of George A. West gate as surveyor-general.

On the other side of the ledger, John H. Hall was reappointed district attorney upon the suggestion of F. J. Heney at the beginning of the land cases, while Senators Fulton and Mitchell had just about decided to give the place to another man. Heney then had himself appointed after the removal of Hall and over the strenuous objections of Fulton.

Bristol was nominated and has since held office in spite of the remonstrances of Fulton. Charles J. Reed was appointed United States marshal in the face of Fulton's displeased opposition after Jack Matthews had been discharged, also against Fulton's desires.

Thus it will be seen that outside of a few land office and postoffice appointments Senator Fulton has been turned down by the president on many occasions. These things also do not make for peace in the delegation when Senator Bourne is a party to the last great snub.

TYPOS CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Multnomah Typographical union No. 58 celebrated its twenty-fifth birthday yesterday in singing, dancing and merrymaking. From its proud position as the oldest typographical union in the northwest it was able to look back over a quarter of a century of existence during which time it has been the leading union organization of the state.

An extremely interesting feature of the festivities, which were held in the east side Woodmen hall, was the presence of two of the original charter members of the union, John M. Vaughn and Edward King, both of whom are working in Portland at present. E. H. Flagg of the St. Helens Mist, who although not a charter signer, was still practically a charter member of the union, was also present at the birthday party of the union.

Early in the evening addresses were made by J. J. Price, who acted as toastmaster throughout the banquet, George H. Howell, A. A. Bailey and others. Miss Alberta Butler sang; Mrs. J. P. Morgan gave a recitation; Miss Pickthorn recited and Mrs. E. Kleist sang.

P. A. Campbell's orchestra furnished the music for the dancing.

The dance was very successful, one of the most attractive features being the program and menu printed in a novel form, which contained some appropriate verses and quotations relative to the advance in years and prominence of the union.

The present officers of the union are: President, Will Daly; vice-president, Percy Coburn; secretary, George Vath; sergeant-at-arms, James L. McCown; executive committee, A. N. Raven, L. E. Gotschall, Marshall Jones, John A. Palmer and W. A. Gault.

In charge of last night's birthday celebration were: J. J. Price, chairman; Harry H. Austin, F. D. DeWert, Thomas Gibson, Fred Perry, F. M. Zigler, and James F. Rait. The reception committee was composed of Will Daly, chairman; R. Percy Coburn, George Vath, J. L. McCown, W. H. Stivers, Wilkie C. Duniway, O. W. Athey and O. Gallup, and the card committee was George H. Howell, chairman; J. T. Haynes, W. H. Baker, L. E. Gotschall, F. R. Mitchell, Arthur Purdy and Z. M. Young.

When the Multnomah union was launched the meeting for organization was held January 7, 1883, in the Holmes building at 105 First street. Frank G. Lee was the first president and there were 100 members for the new organization. It prospered and grew rapidly and last night nearly 400 people were present at the entertainment.

The finale toast on last night's program was:

"Let us hope that all the errors in each life galley will be lightly passed by the Great Proofreader."

Tomorrow and Friday will positively be the last days for discount on west side gas bills. Portland Gas Co.

NO CHANCE TO REACH ARSENAL OF WEAPONS

One of the men who held up and robbed Deputy City Engineer E. L. Maxwell on East Water street about nine months ago now occupies a cell at the city prison. He is Elmer Johnson, alias Elmer Wills, and was arrested Monday by Detectives Jones and Tichenor at the Lee ranch, eight miles west of Gaston, Oregon.

George Frazier, the other man engaged in the holdup, was captured a short time after the robbery occurred. He confessed his share in the crime, and is now serving an indeterminate sentence in the state penitentiary. He revealed the identity of his companion in crime, though it was not until recently that the police were able to learn of Johnson's whereabouts.

The ranch where the arrest was made is owned by Jim Lee, a man who has for years figured in the criminal courts of Washington county, and is known to the officers of almost every county in the state. He is said to be a distant relative of Johnson.

When the detectives arrived at Gaston they were told by the officers at that place that it would be extremely dangerous for them to attempt to take their man during the daylight hours, as he would undoubtedly be protected by some of the rough characters who are said to make the Lee ranch their headquarters. The detectives, however, drove to the place in a buggy, and by representing themselves to be land buyers, succeeded in getting to the house without exciting suspicion.

While Jones entered the front door, Tichenor ran to the rear. Johnson, who was in the house in a room where there were several rifles and shotguns, was surprised and made no effort to resist arrest. He was taken to Gaston and then brought to this city without further trouble.

The accused man will be arraigned in the police court tomorrow, and it is probable that Frazier will be brought from the penitentiary to give evidence against him.

WET AND DRY FORM FUSION

Once Warring Elements of Forest Grove Unite for the Progress of a Very Dry City—Ticket Named in Mass Meeting.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Forest Grove, Or., Jan. 8.—Last night marked an epoch in the history of this city when the voters of the town, comprising the "wet" and "dry" factions, met together in the free reading room and in the spirit that will some day animate the lion and the lamb, nominated a ticket for the coming city election next Monday.

Rev. Cephas Clapp was elected chairman of the meeting and Dr. Hines secretary, after which Recorder Hogue stated that the object of the meeting was to ascertain if the voters of the city could not lay aside for once the animosities which have annually marked election time in Forest Grove, and work with united effort for a more progressive upbuilding of the city.

Councilman Hollinger was determinedly opposed to the idea of a union ticket, stating that it would occasion much dissatisfaction among the citizens and would not be for the best interests of the city. His stand precipitated a lively discussion, among those engaged, being President Ferrin of the university, Councilman Hinman, Recorder Hogue, W. B. Haines, Riley Boyd and others. The hit of the evening was made by Alvin Brown, one of the oldest residents of the city.

Much hilarity and good feeling marked the caucus and the following ticket, to be known as the Union Progressive ticket, was unanimously nominated: for mayor, B. H. Laughlin; present incumbent; for councilmen, short term, Henry Wirtz; long term, H. J. Goff, C. O. Roe and George Patterson for recorder, Walter Hogue; for treasurer, L. J. Carl, for marshal, Edward Wirtz.

For years there has been a sharp line between the wets and the drys. Speakers representing the Prohibition party from different parts of the state and the northwest have come to the college town and expended much eloquence against the liquor traffic and urged the voters to support the dry ticket straight, and the wets have been just as persistent.

There will be no saloon in Forest Grove. Last year a supposedly wet council was elected but no liquor house was licensed and the "drys" point out that the year has been a most prosperous one notwithstanding.

BUSINESS CHANGE AT NORTH POWDER

North Powder, Or., Jan. 8.—Hanson Brothers, who a little over a year ago bought the "Swede store" of Frosstrom Brothers, have just purchased the North Powder branch of the Haines Mercantile company's store, which next after Gorham & Rothschild's, is doing the largest general merchandise business in this section. The consideration is not made public. The location of the buildings, a stone store 80x60 feet, and a fireproof warehouse 100x80 feet, is central and on the main street.

Y.M.C.A. WORKING ON CASH BASIS

Prospective Organizations Must Show That They Can Equip Properly at Start.

All new organizations of the Y. M. C. A. in Oregon and Idaho must show that they have money enough properly to equip their association before the executive board will look favorably on petitions to recognize the branch. At the meeting of the executive board for the two states yesterday petitions from nine cities were read asking that permission be granted to organize local associations. The board voted to withhold all indorsement until it could be shown that the association would be properly equipped.

The report of J. D. Rhodes, traveling secretary of the association, showed that during the past year two new college associations had been formed—those at western normal and at the state academy, Pocatello, Idaho; the Salem association has paid off its debt; Payette, Idaho, secured $15,000 for a new building; Boise, Idaho, received a $10,000 legacy for a new building; a $35,000 association building was started for the railroad work at Pocatello; $350,000 was raised for the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. buildings for Portland and the first county Y. M. C. A. in the northwest—the Yamhill association—was formed.

The officers for the coming year were elected as follows Chairman, A. C. Schmitt, Albany; vice-chairman, A. F. Flegel, Portland; secretary, A. C. Veazie, Portland; treasurer, B. Lee Paget, Portland.

The members of the committee are: A. L. Veazie, Portland; J. H. Albert, Salem; C. C. Anderson, Boise; J. E. Babb, Lewiston; John Bain, Portland; G. F. Billings, Ashland; H. L. Bates, Forest Grove; E. RADDING TAKES CASE TO COURT

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Astoria, Or., Jan. 8.—E. E. Radding, who is under indictment in the Multnomah circuit court for having conspired with Mrs. Belle Waymire to injure the reputation of Mayor Lane, has his fighting armor on. Yesterday he was refused a seat in the convention of the Oregon State Federation of Labor, it being charged against him that he was a renegade member of the painters' union and not entitled to a seat in the convention.

This morning President Gram and the credentials committee of the convention were served with summons by Judge McBride to appear before him in Oregon City on January 11 and show cause why Radding was not seated in the convention. Radding has taken his contention into the courts, and it is understood will bring action against those who are responsible for his not being given a seat in the gathering.

In spite of the fight being made by Radding the convention is still doing business as though there had been no interruption.

FILL JURY BOX IN THAW TRIAL

(United Press Leased Wire.)

New York, Jan. 8.—The jury box was filled this afternoon. Nine jurors are still subject to peremptory challenge. Clarence E. Anderson, a broker, qualified as the eleventh juror and George W. Hubbell as the twelfth.

The proceedings were a trifle slow today. During the first hour Evelyn Thaw appeared drowsy and seemed to have a hard time keeping awake. Occasionally she was awakened by a nod of her head.

The information leaked out today that Harry Thaw has been taking a deep interest in Christian Science and that he has been carefully studying the doctrines of Mrs. Eddy as set forth in a book presented to him by the late Mrs. Parmelia Leonard.

INDICTMENT FORGOT TO GIVE FULL DETAILS

Judge Cleland in the circuit court this morning sustained the demurrer to the indictment of Sam L. Beary, charged with selling postcards bearing immodest pictures. Vald Liddell and John Fisher, who face similar charges, did not fare so well, demurrers in their cases being overruled.

It was contended by the defendant's attorneys in each case that the character of the pictures was not sufficiently described in the information. In the cases of Liddell and Fisher, however, the informations stated that "a further description of the pictures is too gross and indecent to be described." This clause was lacking from the information against Beary, and the prosecution will have to commence over again if he is to be tried.

About 25 decisions and rulings on points of law were handed down by Judge Cleland this morning, finally disposing of the holiday accumulation. Among the number was the suit of Francis I. McKenna against the city to restrain the city from proceeding with its bond issue for improvements in the water works and involving other issues initiated by the city council that were voted on at the last election. The decision of this case, adverse to the city, was announced in substance some time ago, and was only briefly referred to this morning.

In two hotly contested divorce cases pending motions were disposed of in favor of the husbands. Laura B. Eaton is denied suit money until her case against Garrett J. Eaton comes to trial, and Najib Khury, the Assyrian whose romantic missive to his wife pleading to see his child, have been read in court, will have permission to visit the little one at suitable hours not later than 9:30 p. m.

POOLROOM CRIME'S NEST

Robberies in Albina Committed by Boys Who Habitually Frequent Resorts. Chief Requests Close Investigation by Officers.

The poolroom evil is brought into strong relief by a report made to Police Captain Moore today by Patrolman M. E. Lillis, whose tour of duty is in the Albina district. The report is self-explanatory and is as follows:

"In my district I have two poolrooms. In the afternoons young boys hang around these places. They average from 16 to 20 years of age. Recently there have been several robberies in Albina. The last robbery was committed by two young men who were seen coming from one of the poolrooms the afternoon the robbery occurred. I should like to know what action I should take in investigating into the action of these boys who hang around the poolrooms and spend their money so freely. Perhaps some of the recent robberies might be traced to some of them."

Of this report Chief of Police Gritzmacher has made the following notation:

"I would find the names of the boys who habitually hang around the poolrooms and do not work, and notify their parents. If they cannot do anything with them then bring to the station for further investigation."

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 8.—A duel to the death was fought late yesterday in a Sansome street saloon between Frank Cochran, an old time gambler, and Frank R. Bell, a young capitalist. When six shots had been exchanged, Cochran fell dead in the arms of Charles Cadlem, a bartender, after stumbling over the unconscious form of his antagonist, which lay near the table mortally pierced by three bullets. The tragic battle was caused by Bell's alleged attentions to Ella Cochran, the young and beautiful wife of the dead man.

TAFT WINS SUPPORT OF OKLAHOMA PARTY

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 8.—The Republican members of legislature in joint caucus last night unanimously adopted a resolution in favor of the nomination of William H. Taft for president.

The caucus asked the state committee to declare for an instructed Taft delegation from Oklahoma.

This will probably be the most remarkable victory Taft has gained so far in his campaign. It was supposed that he would have found few friends among the legislators of the new state because of his speech last fall attacking the constitution framed at Guthrie.

MUMMAH ARRESTED BY SURETY COMPANY

A warrant was issued this morning for the arrest of R. A. Mummah on a charge of larceny by embezzlement. The complaint was sworn to by W. H. Giles, local representative of the National Surety company.

According to the story related to Deputy District Attorney Stevenson by Giles, the man whose arrest is sought is now in Colorado Springs, Colorado, and the authorities of that city have been notified by wire to arrest and hold him until an officer can be sent to bring him back here for trial. Mummah was formerly a collector for P. F. Collier & Son, and while in their employ he is alleged to have embezzled the money referred to in the present charge. The amount involved is $128.75, which sum has been made good by the National Surety company, which was on Mummah's bond.

BURIAL OF LAMBERT AT FOREST GROVE

Forest Grove, Or., Jan. 8.—Coroner Brown came up from Hillsboro and decided that no inquest over the body of Barney Lambert, who was drowned in Gales creek a week ago, was necessary.

The body, which was recovered yesterday, was buried in Naylor's cemetery today. A pipe, a piece of newspaper and a handkerchief were found on Lambert's body, but nothing that would indicate where he was from. He was about 45 years of age, 5 feet, 8 inches in height and weighed about 175 pounds. He was black-haired and there was a wart on his left eyelid and a scar on his forehead. It is thought he came from Michigan.
