the nervous system a whole lot when one finds out how much more it costs for eatables when groceries are bought at a credit store, but it's a shock that's mighty beneficial to your pocketbook. Now, if you are a credit buyer, just take your last month's (December) bills and compare the prices you are charged, as against our advertised cash prices. If the difference fails to arouse a desire for a sure remedy we miss our calculations, and of course you know where to find that remedy—it's our cash buying and strictly cash selling; nothing else is so sure and effective in the building up of a big savings account. No one can really afford to pay top-notch credit prices, unless they're absolutely compelled to do so. See the point?

No other market in Portland can satisfy you quite so well in Quality and Price. The wholesome cleanliness, purity, scientific sanitation and courteous service of our Market is a byword in the mouths of all who know what they want in the line of meats. Suppose our prices do undersell others, it's not because of a quality sacrifice at all—it's because we buy and sell for cash and handle more meat than any other three Portland markets combined.

"Is It U. S. Government Inspected?"

The Oregon boy can grow up healthy and strong because his stomach is protected by the United States Government, and by his mother, who is careful what she orders. All sorts of untold dangers lie in meat that is not inspected; run no risks.
