Obeying Father's Dying Request Son Takes Boulder to Illinois.

From the Chicago News. compliance with the dying request of his father, Dr. Walter O. Blaisdell of Punxsutawney, Pennsylvania, of his father, Dr. Walter O. Blaisdell Jr. of Punxsutawney, Pennsylvania, fourneyed all the way from central Illinois to Augusta, Maine, after a huge boulder which lay on the old farm where his father had spent the happy days of his boyhood. The great mass of red granite was loaded upon a flat car and then shipped 1,500 miles to McDonough county, this state, and placed upon the grave.

The elder Blaisdell was taken ill a few weeks ago and his son was summoned from his home in Pennsylvania. When it was seen that the end was near the son asked his father if there was not some last desire that he might wish gratified. The parent thought a few moments and then replied in the affirmative. He recalled particularly a boulder which stood near the old homestead and which was the center of his playground. With his voice shaken with smotion he asked his son to place that boulder upon his grave. He declared that he could secure no monument so satisfying as that rough pile of stone around which such pleasant memories associated.

The son found the boulder just where his father said that it lay and it was shipped to the west. Carved upon its side is the word "Blaisdell."

family Christmas reunion at the home of Mrs. Rose McBride, sister-in-law of the eloping bridegroom. She was like one of the family, and the young folks called her "Aunt Winnie." Miss O'Donnell sent word that she would be very busy and unable to leave her home.

"Aunt Winnie's" refusal of the invitation to the Christmas party was the first surprise the McBrides got; the second came when "Uncle Jim" announced on the evening of December 16 that he had decided to go to Colorado Springs for his health.

Soon the tip got around the neighborhead that Mr. McBride had married. Investigation by Mr. McBride's kinsfolk showed that the ceremony was performed by Father Duffy at St. Michael's church, Ninth street, Jersey City, on December 18. The bride was attended by the wife of Police Sergeant Foley, and Michael O'Donnell, brother of the bride, was the best man.

LONGWORTH'S HEAD MISTAKEN FOR ROSE

Pink Pate in Line of Hat Trimmings in Roosevelt Box Party Looks Like Gorgeous Flower.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11 .- Only a few days before the recent operation on Mrs. Nicholas Longworth she and her husband were at a Washington theatre as guests of Mrs. Roosevelt. The party occupied the box which the president's wife always takes, the stage box at the left of the auditorium.

It was a strictly family party in the box that day-Mrs. Roosevelt, the Longworths, Miss Ethel Roosevelt, Miss Hagner, who is Mrs. Roosevelt's private secretary, and, in the back of the box, but evidently well entertained, the vate secretary, and, in the back of the box but evidently well entertained, the new governess.

Mrs. Roosevelt was in her customary place in the corner. Mrs. Longworth sat next her but farther back in the box. Miss Hagner, at Mrs. Roosevelt's request, was in the middle front seaf and Mr. Longworth was just bebind the private secretary. Miss Hagner wore a large black hat, with broad, first brim and dark trimming.

During the performance a woman sitting in the balcony happened to glance toward the Roosevelt box and it suddenly occurred to her that Miss Hagner's hat was adorned with a bit of trimming she had not noticed en her earlier inspection.

"Why," she said to her companion, "look at that immense pink rose on Miss Hagner's hat! I didn't notice that before, did you?"

Her companion peezed at the hat in question.

"No." the said. "Isn't it nuese."

question.

"No," she said. "Isn't it huge?"

"Perfectly immense. Seems to be out in the brim of the hat, doesn't it?"

"Y-yes."

And just then—the rose moved.

It was Mr. Longworth's baid head. The relative positions of head and hat made it seem from the balcony that the crown of the former was on the brim of the latter.

Of course, an ordinary head would have shown for what it was, but a fine, pink baid head made one of the most startling pink roses even in this year of startling hat timmings.

The delay amounts sometimes to 20 minutes altogether, and some remedy has been resolved upon by the Montavillans.

When a Montaville car reaches East Twenty-eighth street, coming in the Rose City Park car is allowed to go ahead of it. As a result the Rose City car hurries on to the city and the Montavilla car is delayed, picking up passengers that should have boarded the car ahead.

Future Copper States.

Future Copper States.

From the American Review of Reviews.

Two tons of average iron ore will make one ton of metal, but it takes from 33 to 75 tons of copper ore to produce one ton of copper. Iron ore occurs in very large deposits, worked in some cases by steam shovels, whereas copper comes from comparatively narrow veins or irregular masses. some cases by steam shovels, whereas copper comes from comparatively narrow veins or irregular masses.

In 1882 the western states attained promisence as copper producers, the lakes supplying 25,660 long tons, Arizona 8,000 long tons and Montana 4,000 long tons of copper. In 1887 Montana was first in production and has never been headed, with Arizona second and the lakes third in 1905.

Before the civil war Tennessee was the chief copper state. In 1896 that state was credited with 3,750,124 pounds of copper and 18,821,000 pounds last year. Utah added 35,712,000 pounds to the world's stock in 1906 and California 24,421,000 pounds. Alaska sent to the smelter 8,700,000 pounds of copper last year, and Utah and Novada are the largest certain sources of new supply:

Woman Thought First Husband Buried in Scotland and Weds Another.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 11-Arrival of her first husband in New York from Scotland with their child has led Mrs. Scotland with their child has led Mrs.
Roland G. Williams of Middletown to ask the superior court for an annulment of her second marriage.

Mrs. Williams believed her first husband was dead. She is 23 years old, and in Glasgow six years ago was married. Her maiden name was Mary McCabe. After the birth of her baby she returned to her parents, left the child with them and came to America.

While working in New Haven she heard that her husband was dead. She became the wife of Williams, a superintendent for the Southern New England Telephone company, but did not tell him of her first marriage. A year ago she returned to Scotland to see her child and discovered her first husband alive. He tried to see her, but she fied to America.

DAVENPORT TO TELL

Yesterday, after the long distance telephone line between here and Silverton had been kept hot for a longer verton had been kept hot for a longer time than the man who settled the bill cares to contemplate, arrangements were completed by which Homer Davenport will deliver his famous lecture on the Arabian Desert and his experiences in making an expedition through that little known country recently, at the White Temple on the night of Wednesday, January 15. Mr. Davenport returned to his old home at Silverton a week or so ago to be at the bedside of his father who has been seriously ill, but who is now on the high road to recovery.

but who is now on the high road to recovery.

The well-known cartoonist came up to Portland the other day and spoke at a banquet given by the chamber of commerce and at that time the matter of a lecture was broached to him. Final arrangements were completed yesterday by which he will speak under the auspices of the White Temple on next Wednesday, night. Mr. Davenport is unquestionably the foremost living American carteonist and he is greatly in demand in all the large cities of the country as a lecturer.

He is a very graphic and interesting talker and illustrates his lecture with his wenderful drawings made in view of the audience. His appearance at the White Temple Wednesday night will undoubtedly bring out one of the largest audiences of the season for Oregon and Portland are very loyal to Homer Davenport, our favorite son.

be in good condition all the time or he is liable to do harm to himself and others.

A clear head is necessary to run a locomotive or conduct a train. Even a railroad man's appetite and digestion are matters of importance, as the clear brain and steady hand result from the healthy appetite followed by the proper digestion of food.

"For the past five years," writes a railroader, "I have been constantly troubled with indigestion. Every doctor I consulted seemed to want to starve me to death. First I was dieted in warm water and toast until I was almost starved; then, when they would let me eat, the indigestion would be right back again.

"Only temporary relief came from remedies, and I tried about all of them if saw advertised. About three months ago a friend advised me to try Grape-Nuts food. The very first day I noticed that my appetite was satisfied which had not been the case before, that I can remember.

"In a week, I believe, I had more energy than ever before in my life. I have gained seven pounds and have not had a touch of indigestion since I have been eating Grape-Nuts. When my st wife saw how much good this food was doing me she thought she would try it a while. We believe the discoverer of the Grape-Nuts found the Perfect Food."

ding, a daughter of Judge Isaac Redding of Los Angeles.

The announcement of the marriage came to Portland vesterday in the form of a telegram, containing the succinct but enlightening information that the bride is pretty and a blond. Further than this and the statement that the ceremony had been performed January 8, no details were sent.

Mr. Healy is one of the best-liked theatrical men in the west. He is young and talented and has made a remarkable success with his opera company which he gathered together immediately after the San Francisco fire from the remnants of the old Tivoli company. His company is now playing in Los Angeles.

book and not against the author or publishers thereof. Yet a case of this kind was brought before the Warsaw courts the other day.

The charge was laid against a work by a certain Gustave Baumfeld as being of a nature "likely to grouse its readers to revolutionary actions." The dock was perfectly empty and evidence was given by the police who had confiscated the propagation of a plan for the maintenance of persons out of work, while they are seeking employement.
