The joint public installation of the officers of Webster Camp, No. 65, W. O. W., and Royal Circle, Women of Woodcraft, will take place Wednesday evening, January 15, at Woodmen of the World Temple, on Eleventh street, between Washington and Alder. A musical program has been arranged, which vocal and musical artists, well known to Portland's public, will appear after which dancing to the music of the orchestra will be indulged in. On this occasion a welcome will be tendered to Hon. Frank Motter, past consul, who has just returned from Washington. D. C. Webster camp now has the largest bona fide membership of any camp in Oregon.

A well-attended meeting of the Mount Scott Push club was held last night, and Dan C. Kellaher, city councilman, made an interesting address, covering both sides of the annexation question. He dealt logically with the matter, pointing out the cost of annexation and what might be expected from annexation, and was heard with much interest. The committee on county roads was able to report that work would be begun at once. The committee on library reported that a place had been found for the books. The report on water was referred back to the committee for further report. President E. T. Nagher presided.

The annual meeting of the First Unitarian church society will be held this evening in the chapel on Seventh and Yamhill streets, at 8 o'clock. The annual reports of the church officers, the ministers and the subordinate departments of the church work will be read. William S. Woodward, president of the church, will preside over the meeting. It is expected that the reports of the trustees will be especially interesting, for the year has been a prosperous one for the church and it is closing its records in good shape. A social evening will follow the business meeting which is public to friends.

A hand-ax and a saw were taken from an unfinished house at East Sixteenth and Welder streets during Saturday night. The funeral of Edwin G. Fanning, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Fanning of 267 Sixth street, will take place Wednesday afternoon from Holman's undertaking rooms. Mr. Fanning died after an illness of but a week. For 13 years he was a member of the city fire department and later was in the service of the city of Walla Walla, Washington. He was a night engineer on the Burnside bridge for the past two years. Mr. Fanning is survived by his mother, now visiting in the east, his father, his two brothers, Fanning of Portland, and three sisters, Emma and Alva Fanning of Portland and Mrs. James Harper of Cincinnati, Ohio.

A. L. Gage, an employe of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives Hellyer and Maloney at the request of the local Pinkerton detective agency. He is being held a prisoner at the city prison pending advice from Catawaga, Pennsylvania, where he is wanted to answer to a charge of embezzlement. It is claimed that Gage was formerly a bookkeeper for the Davis & Thomas company and that the firm he was $500 short in his accounts.

At a "star chamber" session of the police committee of the city executive board yesterday the members accepted six policemen for the police department upon recommendation of the civil service commission, and this morning the following three were appointed to positions: Alexander F. Gordon, F. E. Leavens and R. J. Ellis. These men recently passed the civil service examination for patrolmen.

When fire was discovered in the Fiedler building, Tenth and Washington streets, this morning, the alarm was turned in through the National Automatic Fire Alarm company's auxiliary box. The response from the department was immediate, the fire apparatus arriving within two minutes. The box was "pulled," showing the great advantage of these auxiliary systems.

Frank Ward was acquitted of the charge of larceny by a jury in Judge O'Day's department of the circuit court this morning. He was accused of stealing three saddles that were lost in transit on the line of the O. R. & N., valued at $90. Two of the saddles were recovered, and the chief evidence against the defendant was E. E. Woods, the railroad driver who had traced the saddles and gained information from Ward while the latter was intoxicated in a saloon at The Dalles.

TRADES SCHOOLS TO BE INSTALLED

Board Decides Upon Opening First Department in Atkinson School.

Members of the board of education decided upon installing the new trades school in the Atkinson school and an instructor will probably be selected at the next meeting of the board from the four applicants for the place. The board also took favorable action on the installation of cooking schools in the high schools.

Inasmuch as considerable time will be required in fitting up the Atkinson building for the trades school, and because of the time needed in installing the machinery and equipment, it is probable the board will urge the work forward at once in order to have the trades school ready at the opening of the school year next September.

Rev. William Hiram Foulkes was invited to deliver the graduating address for the February class at the West Side High school and Lawyer W. D. Fenton to make a similar address to the graduating students of the East Side High school.

An application from the United Brethren church for the use of an old school building used formerly as a manual training school at the South Mount Taber school was referred to the committee on the line of C. R. & N., wants the building for a Sunday school room. Plans and specifications for the new school buildings to be erected this fall were ordered by the board of trustees and the contracts will be let in the near future.

RECALL INTERESTING LIFE OF DR. SPALDING

Ministerial Association Lists to Sketch of Exciting Career of Missionary.

Rev. G. L. Deffenbaugh presented to the Presbyterian ministerial association yesterday an interesting sketch of the life of Rev. H. H. Spalding and his wife, the earliest missionaries to the Indians whose mission was established a few miles out of Walla Walla.

Rev. E. M. Sharp, who had held a parole at Walla Walla, spoke of the celebration there of the half-centennial of the establishment of the First Presbyterian church in Oregon, to be organized by Rev. Spalding and Marcus Whitman in 1838.

At the business meeting preceding the paper a motion was introduced to the effect that Glip Smith, the evangelist, be invited to come to this city and that the secretary be authorized to ask the other ministerial churches to contribute already done so to unite in this petition.

BACKSLIDERS GIVEN FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Dr. Foulkes Draws Lesson From Experience of Hosea.

Backsliders came in for their portion of the evangelistic meetings of Dr. W. H. Foulkes at the First Presbyterian church last night, with a lesson taken from Hosea in the Old Testament. Fred Butler, the soloist from Seattle, appeared in three numbers and was heard by the largest audience that has attended the meetings.

Dr. Foulkes said in part: "Hosea, in his love for an erring wife and his interpretation of God to wayward people is more like Jesus Christ than any of the other Old Testament characters. His writing is one of the greatest written before time.

"He had been happily married and his wife left him an orphan child for a lover. With a broken heart, the old man called to God in his despair and God told him his troubles were as nothing compared to his own griefs for Israel was worshipping idols again. After that answer Hosea was ready to take his wife back and planned a scene to humiliate her and expose her to the jeers of the neighbors, but he had another vision and says if his people will only turn back to him he will restore to them all the dowry they had left behind when they fled with false gods and would find pleasure again in old songs from lips that had since been defiled.

"And the gift of the valley of Aker where the ancient sinner of Jericho was stoned to death! The vale of humiliation becomes the doorway of hope. God leaves the initiative and says if his people will only turn back to him he will restore to them all the dowry they had left behind when they fled with false gods and would find pleasure again in old songs from lips that had since been defiled.

"It was God speaking through his prophet to his people—Israel. By gentleness and love he would lure them back to the desert where they had first pledged truth in a covenant. He would restore to them all the dowry they had left behind when they fled with false gods and would find pleasure again in old songs from lips that had since been defiled.
