WEATHER REPORT

The pressure is falling rapidly over the northern California coast this morning and a disturbance appears to be approaching that locality. No rain has as yet fallen, the cloudiness was general over California and Nevada. The disturbance over Vancouver island yesterday morning has moved rapidly eastward, and now overlies northern Alberta. Light rains fell over Washington northwestern Oregon and northern alberta. Light rains fell over Washington northwestern Oregon and northern alberta. Light rains fell over Washington northwestern Oregon and northern alberta for the country yesterday morning has separated into two portions, no remaining practically stationary and the other drifting slowly eastward, overlying the lower Mississippi valley. The depression over Alberta has moved eastward to the Mississippi valley. The depression over Alberta has moved australia statical the supper lakes. Very little precipitation in seresulted from the northeastern states due to the eastward movement of the low mass resulted from the low hower lakes and which has now passed beyond the range of observation.

Hain is indicated over this district west of the Cascades tonight and Saturday, while easts of the mountains rain or snow is probable.
