ONION TRADE MOVES MORE LIVELY AGAIN

Onion trade is increasing again and most dealers are now paying 90c and $2 at country shipping points for best quality. Trade with San Francisco is not so great, but a better demand is ruling in southern California and in the southwest. Northern cities are likewise in the market again and dealers are more willing to buy at the higher figures than they were at the lower range a week ago.

FRONT STREET POTATOES

Front street potatoes are selling at low prices. Hops are at low prices. Millfeeds are advanced $1. Wheat is firm and active. Smelter flour trade is fair. Smelters drop lower today. Better buying in onions. Few transactions in potatoes. Dressed meats selling lower. Hay market is just steady. Higher prices on oats.

HOPE SELL AT LOW PRICES

Activity in the local hop market continues and transactions are almost as fast as previous to the holiday, when low prices continued to rule. Buyers say they are not offering over 70 for any grade, although a few claim to have offered 75 or better for choice. Hart & Hubbard have been very active late. According to Harry L. Jones, a local grower, the crop of 1908 is reported as low as 1 1/2 a bushel. Some growers are holding out for 2 1/2 a bushel, but the average figure is 60 and 6 1/2 for good times.

MARKET SELLING LOWER

Dealers report no egg sales along the coast during the past 24 hours at any price over 30c, and it is stated that one 7-sized lot was made at retail trade. There is a radical change in the weather in the trade believes that lower prices will be the outcome. It is generally the rule for egg values to stiffen a little with the approach of cold weather. About the middle of February egg values generally begin to break, and an alarming price, but unless the other becomes cold soon these low prices will likely rule in the near future. Just at present the retail trade is disposed to purchase more eggs in it can use from day to day, this is the reason that dealers are afraid of a heavy Eastern market. Eggs are sold at any price and it is quite likely that further concessions in value will have to be made in order to move the market.

CHICKENS ARE NOT MOVING FAST

While dealers are able to move their flocks of chickens at the price quoted in the Journal, trade is not lively. Heavy live and dressed, are in great arrival and sales are hard to make, even though prices are sacrificed. Mark Levy & Co. report in the largest shipment of wild geese that ever came to the Portland market. Supplies in good price. Market is not active, however, cause of the low prices ruling on domestic poultry. The market is very badly affected on account of mixed quality. HERRING—New and old, 14c; mixed, 12c for best-known brands.

DRESSED MEATS SELLING LOWER

Slightly lower range is today shown the dressed meat market along Front street. The market is more liberal in prices of the past few days. Hogs generally moving at 7c for best, with only a sale of two or three at 6c. The run of Columbia river hogs that prices were dropped to 2 1/2c and 3c today. The market is glutted with supplies. It is likewise affecting other lines of fresh market, all the demand being in a few hands.

BRIEF NOTES OF THE TRADE

Apple trade is still increasing and a fractional advance is noted in the price. Orange market is gaining strength and sales are being made mostly at 20c to 25c. May market is just holding steady at 17c to 18c for the mild weather. Front street sells at the following prices. Prices paid shippers are less unless otherwise noted.
