

COURT KEEPS OVER 13 BONA FIDE CASES

Stay-Laters, Recipient of Hospital Swats, Crosscut Saw Disposition Owners, Possessor of Mormonism Ideas and Trigger Artists All Unyoked From Nuptials.

It came Judge O'Day's turn to listen to the weekly recital of matrimonial woes wound up in the divorce case books in the circuit court today. When the call had been completed 13 cases had been heard and 11 decrees granted. In the remaining cases a decision was withheld to await, in one case, examination of a law point involved, and in the other to afford opportunity for the admission of further corroborative evidence.

Three unhappy wives were numbered among the applicants and three husbands among the defendants. The most frequent charge in the divorce cases was desertion. In one case, desertion was alleged in three statutory grounds, and in two it was shown that the defendant is in the habit of deserting.

Miss Vivian Price said that Emil E. Price several times told her that he hoped she would leave him. She said that she was married in Albany in 1903 and she stated that her husband had been in the company of other women. She had marked in trying to shoot a chicken for the dinner table so that she could get it.

Two of three days after I had made up with him I found myself in a hospital, and didn't know how I got there. The lady who was my nurse, Mrs. Kerwin, told me that she had seen my husband in the company of other women.

LOW FANCY LEADS TO MARRIAGE

Gust Anderson Arrested for Showing Attentions to Another Man's Wife.

All kinds of trouble has come to Gust Anderson because of his affection for Mrs. Axel Johnson, wife of the proprietor of the West Coast Oyster house, in Seventh street, between Alder and Morrison. Last night he was arrested on a charge of being a disorderly person.

Anderson comes from Seattle, where he is said to be engaged in the business of a building contractor. He was in the city by the sound that he first met Mrs. Johnson, then Miss Freda Lovgren, and later on he met her. He declares that his affection was returned in kind and that an engagement to marry resulted.

Johnson denies that she ever promised to be more than a brother to Anderson. She says she came to this city about two years ago and married Axel Johnson. Since that time Anderson has made frequent attempts to see her, but she has constantly refused to see him.

Anderson was arrested last night at the Johnson home, 430 Columbia street, and when taken to the police station he was held in the immediate vicinity of the police station. A warrant was issued for his arrest on a charge of being a disorderly person.
