WEATHER REPORT

Weather conditions and general forecast for Oregon, Washington and Idaho: The western disturbance is now central over the upper Mississippi valley and the barometer is relatively high over the Pacific and Rocky mountain states. The Atlantic high-pressure area has moved southeastward and its center is now evidently at sea off the Carolina coast. During the last 24 hours light to moderately heavy rain has fallen in northern California, Oregon, Washington and Idaho, and light snow is reported in western Nevada and at scattered places in Montana and North Dakota. Local rains have also fallen in the lower Mississippi valley. It is cooler in the north Pacific states and western Montana, and much warmer in the Mississippi valley and Atlantic states. The temperatures in the upper Mississippi valley are from 20 to 30 degrees above normal.

The indications are for generally fair weather in this district tonight and Wednesday. It will be cooler tonight east of the Cascade mountains.
