

IN THE ORCHARD PEASERS FOR CITY OF CLIFFS EASTERN OREGON

Busy Builders Are Laying Foundations of a Metropolis There.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Cliffs, Wash., Jan. 21.—Four months ago the surveyor was busy laying out and platting the townsite of Cliffs. Today it boasts of being the busiest town on the north bank road between Vancouver and Kennewick. About 60 houses now occupy the grounds that once James Coffield a rich man by producing abundant crops of the fine orchard fruit occupies only about 30 acres, most of which will be spared for several years to come or until the owners that belong to the townsite company have been disposed of. A great many families have purchased lots in the orchard and have erected buildings as far as possible the choice fruit trees, chiefly peaches, apricots, cherries and blueberries, and for the fruits they will produce. The principal business streets are just outside the orchard tract.

Something New Every Week.

Every week witnesses some advancement in the business district. Looking over the grounds today one finds a mill, a sawmill, a carpenter shop, a building supply house, a hotel, restaurants and stores, pool and billiard parlors, a weekly newspaper, barber shops, general stores, machine stores, postoffice, real estate office, insurance and commission agents, livery and feed barns, a plumbing shop with gas and water pipe fixtures, lodging houses, a school house, a furniture store, the townsite company's office and numerous residences. Among the unfinished buildings at this date there are a store building, an opera house, a furniture store, a drug store and a general store, and several dwelling houses. A Presbyterian church and a Congregational church are being planned and will be built soon.

On the railroad grounds are a 15-stall roundhouse, turntable, work shops, 20 pocket coal bunkers, engine house, tool house, water tank depot, and numerous other smaller structures. The railroad company owns and has in operation its own private power system. The town also owns its water system, piping water in from mountain springs.

Healthy and unobscured.

The climate in this locality is unobscured. There is neither mud nor sand. There is practically no hard freezing weather nor chilly raw weather in winter, but also plenty of sunshine and balmy days. Health could not possibly be better anywhere. No lawns are yet located here, and so far there has been no need for any. Religious services are held twice a week in the school house and Sunday school every Sunday afternoon. Between 30 and 40 pupils are enrolled in the public school. Literary entertainments are given every Thursday evening, and a dance at least once a week.

The town will incorporate as soon as 70 more persons are added to the population. This step is looked forward to with eagerness.

ACQUITTAL IN NOTED CASE IN SHERMAN

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Waco, Or., Jan. 21.—The jury in the case of the state vs. Ward, charged with assault with a deadly weapon upon the person of W. McDonald, returned a verdict of acquittal after the session of court in Sherman county. The case attracted more than usual attention on account of the acquaintance of both parties in Sherman and Gilliam counties. Ward was a market gardener and peddler of vegetables in both counties and had in operation and operated the ferry on the John Day which bears his name. The verdict was not a surprise in either section.

EIGHT MEN KILLED IN GEORGIA WRECK

(United Press Lined Wire.)
Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 21.—Two white men and six negroes were killed yesterday and 18 persons were injured as the result of a work train being wrecked near Fairburn on the Atlanta railroad. It is thought here that the train ran into a telephone pole lying across the track.

United Miners' Session.

(United Press Lined Wire.)
Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 21.—Delegates from many parts of the United States and Canada filled Tomlinson hall this morning at the formal opening of the nineteenth annual convention of the United Mineworkers of America. Formalities attendant upon the opening occupied the first session, and the real business of the convention will not be taken up until tomorrow. President John Mitchell, the retiring executive, and Vice-President T. L. Lewis, his successor, received ovations from the big assembly, as did also Secretary-Treasurer Wilson and other prominent officials of the organization.

In Memory of Lee and Jackson.

(United Press Lined Wire.)
Charlotte, N. C., Jan. 21.—Interesting exercises in commemoration of the birthday anniversaries of Generals Lee and Jackson were held in the Academy of Music this morning under the auspices of the local chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy. The principal feature of the program was a memorial oration delivered by Major William A. Graham.

MANIAC ESCAPES FROM ASYLUM

Bloodthirsty Madman Runs at Large in Marion County Hunting Victims.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Jan. 21.—Napoleon Roy, an insane man of homicidal and suicidal intent, escaped from the state insane asylum Monday. He was committed from Douglas county on October 24 last. He was reported as having called at a farm house about a mile east of Mr. Bradley's place, where he got hold of an ax and killed a dog. He was detained in ward eight, which is in the hands of an experienced attendant, but there is no clue to the method he employed to get away.
The institution is overcrowded with this class of criminals, and will be in a badly congested condition until the new wing, nearly ready for occupancy, can be thrown open. The wing was built especially for this class of patients.

Governor Fort in New Jersey.

(United Press Lined Wire.)
Trenton, N. J., Jan. 21.—The inauguration of John Franklin Fort as governor of New Jersey took place in Taylor's arena here today in the presence of members of both branches of the legislature and a large number of people. The oath of office was administered by Chief Justice Gummere. The great seal of the state was formally handed to Governor Fort by the retiring governor, Trenton, which Governor Fort delivered his inaugural. At the conclusion of the ceremonies Governor Fort, ex-governor Stokes and other chief participants in the ceremonies were entertained at luncheon by a joint committee of the legislature. There was no inaugural parade.

High Bred Fowls.

(United Press Lined Wire.)
Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 21.—The second exhibition of the Philadelphia Poultry, Pigeon and Pet Stock association opened in Musical hall today, and will be continued through the remainder of the week. Several thousand entries of high class chickens, ducks, turkeys, geese and pigeons are on view, and the display of guinea pigs, rabbits and other varieties of pet stock is especially fine. The exhibitors represented by a dozen or more states and various parts of Canada.

Mississippi's New Executive.

(United Press Lined Wire.)
Jackson, Miss., Jan. 21.—The inauguration of E. E. Noel as governor of Mississippi today was one of the most brilliant events of its kind ever seen here. Great crowds began arriving yesterday and last night, and every train this morning brought large additions. The inaugural ceremonies were preceded by a large military and civic procession, in which the state militia participated in full force. Governor Noel's inaugural address, delivered in the presence of members of the legislature and many other people, dealt almost exclusively with matters pertaining to the state.

Frank Christy Fights, on Almost Equal Terms, With Fierce Beast.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Rock Creek, Or., Jan. 21.—To be suddenly awakened and compelled to fight a full grown lynx for half an hour before breakfast, is not a very desirable experience, even if it is a novelty in the way of early morning exercise, but such was the necessity forced upon Frank Christy, a Rock Creek resident, who waded on the John Day river at the mouth of Rock creek.
Christy was awakened by the baying of a pack of fox hounds, presumably very close to the house. He knew the hounds and the owner, a varmint and hunter, and hastily dressing himself he proceeded to investigate.
After walking about a quarter of a mile up the creek he found the dogs engaged in a fight with what he supposed was a coyote, and arming himself with a club he crossed the creek to help the dogs kill the animal.
On approaching the fighting animals the varmint jumped down into the creek bed, ran about 50 yards, and jumped back up on the bank, so closely pursued by the dogs that it came to bay in a dense clump of sagebrush. Christy dashed into the sage brush and dealt the varmint a terrific blow across the back, which caused it to slip into a brush shelter, 50 yards farther away, to which it was followed closely by the dogs as well as the hunter, who waded into the creek and struck again with renewed force.
In return a huge lynx leaped straight at him, but for the time the assistance of a large black and tan fox hound that seized the big cat by one of its hind legs, and the lynx, who has no doubt received serious injuries.
Christy decided to call for assistance, and summoned his nearest neighbors, Mossell and his two sons, Herbert and Fred. He returned to the scene of battle with his neighbors and reinforced by the large wolf hounds. The lynx was soon dispatched, but not without a wicked fight. As soon as he saw the crowd approaching he turned to run, but was quickly overtaken by the wolf hounds. The lynx seized the largest dog around the neck with both fore paws, and the dog, who was on the leash, the wolf hound never uttered a sound, but fastened its jaws on the neck of the cat and held him to the ground until dead.

BELIEVE MRS. KEENE COMMITTED SUICIDE

(United Press Lined Wire.)
Seattle, Jan. 21.—Did a woman who was a wealthy resident of Seattle, who has been missing from her home for three weeks, commit suicide in the Steadman insane asylum on January 17, under the name of Bertha Standy? This is the question which has been put up to the local officials, and which still remains one of the most puzzling mysteries brought to light here in several years.
Mrs. C. R. Keene, whose maiden name was Edith Keene, was taken into the asylum for three weeks under circumstances which led to considerable anxiety as to her safety.
On Friday a woman known as Bertha Standy committed suicide by hanging herself in her cell at Steadman insane asylum on January 17 in this city. Later they moved to Snohomish, then to Bellingham. An account of her mental aberration has been confined in the hospital at Bellingham for several weeks previous to the time she was last seen.

HOOD RIVER FARMERS WHIP PHONE COMPANY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Hood River, Or., Jan. 21.—The proposition of the Farmers of Hood River to operate their own telephone system was taken up Saturday by them and the Pacific States Telephone company has resulted in an interesting and important company to give them central office service for $2 per year provided they buy the rural lines and maintain them at their own expense. The committee appointed by the farmers to take the matter up, to be satisfied with the terms of the proposition, were solicited to take over the country lines of the Pacific States company.

National Board of Trade.

(United Press Lined Wire.)
Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—Delegates representing more than 50 cities throughout the United States, sent by the boards of trade and other commercial organizations of those cities, assembled at the New Willard hotel today for the thirty-eighth annual meeting of the national board of trade. The program for the meeting contains a large number of resolutions which have been adopted by the board and presented to the national body for discussion and action. They embrace a wide range of subjects, such as tariff and reciprocity, river and harbor improvements, the parcels post, interstate commerce law, the American merchant marine, transportation, improvement of the consular service, postal affairs, national currency, coastwise system of canals, territorial possessions and international arbitration.

Mrs. Gould Faces Footlights.

(United Press Lined Wire.)
New York, Jan. 21.—High society turned out in force and with great reception given at the Plaza hotel this afternoon by Frederick Townsend Martin, who is noted for his unique entertainments. The feature of the evening was a one-act play in which the leading roles were taken by Mrs. George J. Gould, who before her marriage was an actress of high reputation, and Kyrie Bellew, the well-known actor. It was expected that Mrs. Lillian Nordica would take part in the performance, but another engagement made it impossible for the celebrated prima donna to be present.

HOME TREATMENT

For Consumption and Throat Troubles Also Common Colds.

The camps for tuberculous patients in the pine forests of Maine have demonstrated a wonderfully successful phase in the treatment of pulmonary diseases.
The remarkable stimulating effect on the respiratory organs by the resinous atmosphere of the pine forest has always been a matter of great interest to the medical world and now that science has produced a form of pine extract that is free from resin, and that the treatment has sprung into popular prominence. The formula as originally prescribed is the following: "One-half ounce concentrated oil of pine, two ounces of glycerine; half pint of good whiskey. It should be shaken thoroughly and taken in doses of a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful every four hours."
If this preparation be used patients will have the advantages of the pine forest camps right at their own homes and the most effective remedy obtainable for any case of lung trouble that is not too far advanced and a cure for any cough or cold that is curable.
The ingredients can be procured from any well stocked prescription drugstore and the mixture made at home. Care should be taken to secure only the "Concentrated" oil of pine, which comes put up for medicinal use in half-ounce vials and is closed in screw top caps which protect it from heat and light, thus avoiding the instillations frequently found put up in wooden boxes. They usually work havoc to the kidneys.

North Carolina met in extra session today to consider and take action on the railroad passenger rate law passed at the last session. This law fixed a rate of 2 1/2 cents a mile. It is the view of the governor and his council, after a thorough investigation of the conditions, that it would be more equitable to all concerned to increase this rate to 3 cents a mile. In return for this modification of the law the railroads are expected to make desirable concessions in the way of interstate rates and interchangeable mileage books.
