

ADDS DAUGHTER

H. & E. HALL'S GOLD TRAILS FALL BURGLAR BAND'S CHARGE

Hunt Lewis and Edgar Hafer Purchase Line. Once Known as Medford and Crater Lake for $150,000 Cash.

Mother Steals Little Girl Away From Guardian—Latter Warned by Father—Police Unable to Locate Woman.

Realizing that if Oregon is to have railroads the people of Oregon must build them without waiting for Harrison's assistance, Hunt Lewis of Portland and Edgar Hafer of Medford today purchased the Pacific & Eastern railroad from W. C. Morris, George Estes and Dr. Striker. The road was sold for $150,000 cash.

But 12 miles of the road, from Medford to Eagle Point, are completed, but the new owners will immediately put construction crews to work extending the line 20 miles through the sugar pine belt of southern Oregon to Butte Falls.

The road which changed hands today has had a varied career. It was originally projected by Medford capitalists, three years ago, under the name Medford & Crater Lake railroad. Tracks were laid to Eagle Point, but the promoters failed to raise the money for the purchase of equipment. Then the Pacific Coast railway company was organized, equipment purchased and preparations made to run the line through to Butte Falls. The failure of the Oregon Savings bank wrecked this scheme and forced today's scheme. The road line completed will be a profitable investment in its own best interest. It will tap a timber belt containing 5,000,000 acres, formerly of Pacific coast, run through 15 miles of rich fruit land in the Rogue river valley, transportation to the towns of Butte Falls, Butte Creek and Rogue River, and will be the natural route to Crater Lake.

The new owners of the railroad are highly successful young Oregon businessmen. Mr. Lewis, besides his Portland interests, has one of the largest fruit farms in southern Oregon. His family has been prominently identified with the history of Portland, and his brother, Lon Lewis, is president of the Allen & Lewis company. Mr. Hafer is manager of the low Box & Lumber company at Astoria, and is also interested in the new railroad.

The newly created railroad magnates have not decided whether they will change the name of the line.

Heney Says Prosecution Has Not Stopped Land Grafting—Men in Land Offices Who Pass on Filings and Proofs Responsible.

What do these prosecutions amount to insofar as stopping the land stealing is concerned? Are they not stealing government land all over the land districts of the country today? Are these prosecutions stopping the practice? No, I tell you the only way to stop land stealing is to go after the men at the top, the registers and receivers of the land offices who pass on the filings and final proofs and who are supposed to know absolutely that the law is being violated. If I were district attorney here in Oregon, or any other of the land districts, I would stop it.

"I would tell the registers and receivers that unless they made sure that the law was not violated I would indict them for the crime of land stealing, and would prosecute, not the entries, but the registers and receivers and hold them criminally liable for allowing the violation of the law. That is the way to put an end to land stealing. This is the way Francis J. Heney discusses the land fraud situation when he grows earnest over the grafting that is continually going on wherever government land is being taken up.

"A fraudulent claim is false on the face of it," continued Mr. Heney. "Anyone who reads the questions and answers in a final proof can tell the bona fide claim from the fraudulent one. Fraudulent proofs are passing through the hands of land office receivers and registers, and through the hands of the United States commissioners every day. Here in Oregon as well as in all other districts where public land is being filed upon.

"If the attorney-general would issue instructions to the district attorneys that unless they forced registers, receivers and commissioners to enforce the law we would prosecute the district attorneys and hold them criminally liable if they could not stop a stop to land stealing. That is the way," Heney qualified, "provided the senators did not call a halt on the district attorneys or the president did not back up the attorney-general."

"The way to stop criminal practices," concluded Mr. Heney, "is not to punish the little fellows and let the big ones go. The way to stop the crime, or who by their positions can prevent or stop it and then hold them strictly accountable for their actions. That would stop the little men no opportunity for violation of the law."

HONK! HONK! CHIEF WILL DRIVE AUTO

Head of Fire Department Will Soon Possess a Benzine Cart.

If the city council approves the recommendation of the ways and means committee, a water tower and life nets to cost $3,100 will be purchased for the fire department to be used in case of large fires. The recommendation comes after a long fight made by Chief Campbell for the apparatus, which is considered essential in all cities as large as Portland.

In fixing up the appropriations for the various department funds for the year, the committee allowed $3,500 for an automobile for the chief of the fire department and allowed for the erection of three engine-houses. One will be in the vicinity of St. Vincent's hospital, another at Fourteenth and Montgomery streets, and the third in Irvington. A total sum of $464,327 was allowed for the fire department for the year.

Other appropriations were for an animal-house and greenhouse in City park to cost $15,000, $2,500 for the police and fire department relief fund, and $42,000 for the purchase of 600 fire hydrants.

After cutting down the general fund to about $75,000, Councilman Vaughn made a motion for the appropriation of $20,000 for a new crematory to be erected on the present location. While this is considered a joke, there is a chance that the council may adopt the recommendation.

Among the larger appropriations recommended by the committee this morning was one of the engineering department of $94,000, health department $19,810; street-cleaning department $150,000; auditor's office $30,000; city hall $12,300; police department $130,000; street repair fund $99,000.

The committee also recommended that the following increase in the monthly salaries be allowed: Alex. Donaldson, superintendent of the street-cleaning department, from $135 to $150; O. P. Miller, assistant to City Treasurer Wendell, from $150 to $175; Frank Jenkins, day foreman of the street-cleaning department, from $110 to $120; three dog-catchers, from $65 to $75.

GOOD NEWS FOR FUNERAL TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Arrangements have been completed for the funeral of E. A. Goodwin, who died suddenly yesterday morning as a result of heart failure. Services will be held at Finley's chapel at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. Interment will be at Evergreen cemetery.

Goodwin, who was better known as S. Allen Goodwin, came to Portland about three years ago with the Ben Hur line of boats. He was a musician of some note, both as a vocalist and pianist, and was for a time president of the orchestra of the Ben Hur company. It will be remembered that the company presented the old "Mortality" play at the middle ages.

Goodwin severed his connection with the company here and went to Woodstock, where he started a chicken ranch. He had a large tract of land, principally because his early training had not fitted him for the work. His family was of some prominence in England, his mother-in-law being the widow of a city of Bristol. His mother is still living at the family home in Bristol.

Goodwin had a considerable circle of acquaintances among music-loving people in this city and was for a time a member of the choir of St. James Evangelical church. He also conducted a small class in singing. His mother-in-law's death he was employed as a checker at Columbia dock No. 1.

ROYAL TEACHERS KEEPS SCHOOL OPEN

President Campbell of University of Oregon Makes Report to Regents.

Loyalty shown by all members of the faculty of the University of Oregon Eugene has been the factor which brought the university through a period of much stress due to a lack of funds for carrying on the work, according to the report of the president, P. Campbell, presented to the board of regents at its meeting here this morning in the private office of Hon. C. A. Dolan.

Speaking of the spirit shown by the members of the faculty, President Campbell says that the loyalty and devotion shown under the hard conditions imposed by the lack of funds is deserving of the highest praise. Although going without salary or the month of October, November and December in some instances being sorely hampered in their work, the faculty in every one has worked enthusiastically for the welfare of the university.

Mr. Campbell says the faculty is lacking in acceptability of officers elsewhere, it has been from choice and not from necessity that they have remained with the university.

The decrease of the resources, President Campbell shows to be due to the increase in the cost of the appropriation from $47,500 to $125,000 per year including new buildings and equipment, which is only funds available for the past year, and the appropriation by the state, interest on the university fund, and the Willamette fund. The statement for the year 1908 showed a general maintenance of over $75,357, a sum exceeding by $15,000 the amount available for the year 1906 by more than $15,000.

Owing to this lack of funds it has been necessary to cut down expenditures for equipment and accept the services of the faculty without pay. President Campbell says that the minimum amount on which the state will contribute is $125,000, which will be applied by the voters of the state in June. It is the minimum amount on which the state will contribute, and it is maintained and suitable provision be made for urgently needed buildings and equipment.

It is interesting to note in this connection the cost per student to the University of Oregon as compared with the cost per student in representative western colleges. A table submitted showing the relative cost of the state, providing that the new appropriation for the year 1908 be next to the lowest in administrative expense.

The University of Washington's student costs the state $151; the University of Idaho, $179; California, $194; and so on down the list. The University of Oregon's cost per student is $133 per student, showing the caution and economy of administration.

The graduating classes numbered in the college of literature, science and the arts in the college of engineering, 20 in the school of medicine, 40 in the school of law, a total of 100. The total registration at present, including the graduate and the enrollment represents 24 counties of Oregon and 16 different states and foreign countries.

The number in the enrollment has increased during the present year three times as many as in the year 1906, and now sending out graduating class President Campbell says that the enrollment should be still more rapid in the future. The building program which has been established each year. The university will probably have to provide for between 500 and 600 students in the next year. The buildings are already over full, and additional room equipment will be urgently needed.

The principal needs of the university and the recommendations made by President Campbell are the election of several heads of departments, notably the departments of geology, biology, selection, philosophy and zoology, election of additional instructors, securing of additional lands for the campus, the campus are too narrow, new recreation rooms and laboratories, a woman's dormitory, suitably equipped for the library and additional equipment.

The total amount needed at once for buildings, library, department grounds and furnishings he estimates to be not less than $155,000.

Those present at the meeting this morning were President P. L. Campbell, Hon. F. V. Boan, Hon. S. H. Friedman, Hon. R. S. Holman, Hon. C. A. Dolan and J. C. Ainsworth.

THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE

Science has never gone beyond the above simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also affected, and many an evil deed or impure thought may be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. Foul, impure blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures and purifies the blood thereby curing, pimples, blotches, eruptions and other cutaneous affections, as eczema, tetter, or salt-rheum, hives and other manifestations of impure blood.

In the cure of scrofulous swellings, enlarged glands, open eating sores, or cases of old sores, or open eating ulcers it is well to apply to the open sores Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve, which possesses wonderful healing potency when used as an application to the sores in conjunction with the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" as a blood cleansing constitutional treatment. If your druggist don't happen to have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock, you can easily procure by enclosing fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 665 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post. Most druggists keep it as well as the "Golden Medical Discovery."

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of known composition having a complete list of ingredients plain English on its bottle wrapper, the same being attached to correct under seal. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

BITTER FIGHT AT BAY CITY

Ruef and Langdon Lining Up Forces for the Great Legal Battle Next Week.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, Jan. 21.—Preparations for one of the bitterest fights since the opening of the graft prosecution are being made today in both the offices of District Attorney Langdon and Abraham Ruef. In the office of the latter every effort is being made to whip the defense into shape so as to be able to meet the onslaughts of the prosecution next week, when the trial will undoubtedly open.

Ruef personally took charge of his affairs early this morning and, assisted by a large corps of clerks, spent the entire day in making arrangements for his defense. Ruef refused to state whom he had engaged to defend him, but announced that when his case shall come to trial one of the ablest attorneys in the state will represent him in defense.

In regard to what his defense will be he kept an absolute silence. However, it is rumored that from the coming trial Ruef will make public the result of the many conferences held between himself and the district attorney's office.

Ever since Ruef pleaded guilty to the extortion charge he has maintained a discreet silence. From one close to the case it was learned today that in the coming trial he will throw discretion to the winds and chance all upon the verdict of the jury.

District Attorney Langdon refused this morning to discuss any phase of the coming trial, but in the coming trial upon all the trolley indictments against him he replied that at present he would have nothing to say upon the matter. Upon what particular indictment he intends to place Ruef upon trial the district attorney declared it is impossible to state at this time.

BIG DEAL ON FOR THE HINKLE DITCH

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Echo, Or., Jan. 21.—One of the best irrigated land deals ever known in eastern Oregon is about to be consummated. Chicago capitalists represented by Charles Gros, formerly of Pendleton, but now of Chicago, are negotiating for the Hinkle Ditch company's holdings near here. The property consists of about 10,000 acres of land and laterals, and will irrigate over 30,000 acres. The price will be above $75,000, and the land under the ditch will be used to grow a colony of Chicago people this season.

The ditch is taken out of the Umatilla river near Echo and extends for 12 miles to the lower Butte creek country and taps the richest section of Umatilla county. All the land under the ditch can be made to grow from three to five crops of alfalfa or can be used as fruit and garden tracts, and when once irrigated is worth from $100 to $200 per acre.

The ditch can be extended indefinitely, as there is much vacant land in that section.

WILL HEAR MOTIONS TO QUASH INDICTMENT

Presiding Judge Cleland in the circuit court tomorrow morning will pass on the motions made in the names of J. Thurston Ross and P. T. Burkhardt to set aside the information against the accused officials of the Title Guarantee & Trust company. If these motions should be sustained the result would be a serious blow to District Attorney Manning's campaign. They are based on the ground that the questioning of persons concerning the affairs of the bank during the legal holidays was improper, and the further claim that the names of all persons examined should have been furnished to the defense.

Judge Cleland will also pass on the following motions tomorrow:

J. T. Simonson against J. C. Davis and Ross, motion to strike out parts of the complaint.

South Harbor Development company against E. D. Whitney and others, demurrer to third amended complaint.

Emma L. De Vere against Ella C. De Vere, motion to quash summons.

James W. Beaky, motion to set aside order.

Marguerite Dornaffe against L. O. Ralston, motion to complain.

Marguerite Moore against Lon Moore, motion for suit money.

Northwest Portland & Box company against Western Basket & Barrel company, motion to settle bill of exceptions.

Elrath & Sons against L. Q. Swellman and others, demurrer and motion to complain.

POLICE ARREST HIM WITHOUT WARRANT

H. H. Stark, a driver for Wells, Fargo & Co., who lives at 458 East Thirteenth street north, has a grievance against the police department because he was arrested last evening and held for an hour at the police station without any charge being made against him. The arrest was made shortly after 7 o'clock last evening when Stark was in the corner of Third and Morrison streets, waiting for an Irvington car to take him to his home. He sat in the car as the car came to the same corner at the same time each evening.

Stark says he had been at the corner but a few minutes when a stranger approached and halted within a few feet of him. At the same time a policeman in citizen's dress came up and placed both the stranger and Stark under arrest. Both men were taken to the police station. Stark was kept a prisoner in the office for an hour and was then allowed to go, no charge being made against him. Stark does not know the name of the officer making the arrest or the disposition made of the other man.

CITY WILL GO AHEAD WITH STREET WORK

Because of the numerous complaints received by property owners who failed to remonstrate against proposed street improvements before the time limit expired, City Auditor Barbur has decided that each property owner will be sent a copy of the city paper announcing the city's declaration of intention to make the improvement. This plan is expected to give each property owner ample opportunity to learn of the improvement and to lessen the chance of excuse after the work has been started.

PENDLETON BUSINESS CHANGE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Pendleton, Or., Jan. 21.—The Potlatch Lumber company, with headquarters in Idaho, one of the largest lumber concerns in the inland Empire, which has maintained branch yard here for the past year has withdrawn, having sold yards and stock of lumber to the Umatilla Lumber company in this city.

KLAMATH CAPITAL GOING AFTER OIL

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Klamath Falls, Or., Jan. 21.—Articles of incorporation of the Klamath Oil Company have been filed. The incorporators are H. S. Sims, Thomas Hampton, Charles Harlan, E. H. Hiett, Pierce Evans and J. Edgar, all of this county, mostly of Bonanza; J. W. Holmes, brother of the general manager of the Baker oil field; E. K. Weaver, manager of the Armour packing plant at Portland. The stock subscribers include J. Frank Adair, W. C. Danner, George W. Williams, John Stills, Lewis Gertler, and other prominent Klamath county citizens.

S. Sims is an oil expert, and is satisfied that the southern part of the county is rich in oil. The incorporators are very sanguine and work will commence immediately on its arrival.

TWELVE-ACRE TRACT IN SELLWOOD

A 12-acre tract at Midway, near Sellwood, has been purchased by Frank A. Sweeney from Moore Brothers at the rate of $1,000 an acre. The property was purchased for subdivision, the sale having been negotiated by the Moore & Frost Land company.

The same agency has sold for W. H. Ross and W. E. Roberts to Chris Tappan 14 1/2 acres on Milwaukee Heights for $7,250.

The residence of Chris Tappan at 673 Union avenue has been purchased by an out-of-town investor; consideration $5,500.

Dammeler Investment company took out a permit today for the erection of a three-story brick building, covering a half block on Fourth street, between Grand and Grand streets, cost $100,000. This structure is to be the beginning of the new north end Chinese quarters.

REDUCE VEHICLE TAX AND END FIGHT

Members of the license committee of the city council held a meeting yesterday afternoon and decided to recommend that the vehicle tax be reduced to $5 a year instead of $10 as it is at present. This is expected to end the fight that has been waged by the Draymen's association for reduction of the vehicle tax and it is believed that efforts will be made to have the city attorney's office drop the investigation of the section for alleged violations of the Beiding anti-trust law.

The slicing of the fee means a loss of about $25,000 a year to the city, and a saving of the same amount to the owners of vehicles used for hire.

BUSINESS CHANGE AT ROSEBURG

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Roseburg, Or., Jan. 21.—Rosenstein, Greenbaum & Co. of Salem have purchased the large department store of the Fisher & Bellows company of this city and will continue the business here. The retiring manager, W. H. Fisher, has been in the dry goods business here a number of years, but his health has been such as to compel him to retire. The new firm will continue a sale that was in progress and may restock and remain permanently.

COUNT SZECHENYI CAUGHT UNAWARES

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Pendleton, Or., Jan. 21.—The Count Szechenyi, who is in the city on a visit, was caught unawares by the police department when he was arrested last evening for a violation of the law. The count was arrested at the corner of Third and Morrison streets, waiting for an Irvington car to take him to his home. He sat in the car as the car came to the same corner at the same time each evening.

MORROW'S SHERIFF FOR PROHIBITION

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Heppner, Or., Jan. 21.—Sheriff E. M. Shutt of Morrow county, one of the most active sheriffs in eastern Oregon, has come out openly for county prohibition in this county and is now making an active campaign with that view. The recent killing of young Davis by Dan Doherty in a Lexington saloon has been the cause of the sentiment in the county and District Attorney G. W. Phelps of the Umatilla-Morrow county district declares that Morrow will try at the June election on account of so much criminal court business originating in the saloons.

HAPPY HOME FOR THREE WEEKS ONLY

C. E. Hiett believes in a honeymoon and then quits, judging from the divorce complaint of Mrs. Sadia G. Hiett, filed in the circuit court today. She says her husband provided a home for her for three weeks only. After that she was compelled to seek a sheltering roof at Woodruff's, in the vehicle, with whom she is now living. She also accuses Hiett of picking quarrels with her and of being unkind and disagreeable around the house. She wants to resume her maiden name, Sadia G. Carrigues.

PENDLETON SELLS CITY BOND ISSUE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Pendleton, Or., Jan. 21.—Through an agreement reached this morning between the council finance committee and William A. Scott, representative of E. R. Rollins & Son, a contract for $135,000 of the city bond issue was disposed of and as a result it is now assured that a city hall will be erected, the lease will be strengthened and the sewer system will be extended to the west end.

Under the terms of the contract the Pendleton, Or., and Wallawalla county High schools, held here in favor of Wallawalla county. The question was government ownership and operation of the railroads in the United States. Fred Holmes, Eula Poraythe and Amy Olmstead of Wallawalla county and the affirmative.
