LIGHT AND POWER COMING FROM CANBY

Molalla Power Company to Take Over Aurora Plant and Relocate It.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Canby, Or., Jan. 29.—The Molalla Power company has filed articles of incorporation and proposes to take over the plant and business of the Aurora Electric company, now operating at Aurora, and supplying Hubbard, Aurora, Barlow and Canby with electric lights. The company has arranged to issue 20-year 6 per cent bonds in denominations of $100. These bonds will be issued to the amount of $15,000. The new company proposes to locate the Aurora plant on the Molalla river, about three and a half miles southeast of Canby, where valuable rights have been secured. The proposed site was selected several years ago, but was later abandoned and the plant located at Aurora. the Canby location will furnish adequate power, which can be increased from time to time as the development of business may require. The plant is now earning a net income of 10 per cent on the investment and in the new location it would serve a much larger field. Hydraulic engineers went over the ground last week, and pronounced the plan entirely feasible. The water will be conveyed by a ditch which will tap the Molalla river at a point several miles above the plant. The bonds have been secured by the Aurora State bank, at Aurora. When the new plant is in operation a day current will be furnished for power purposes.

NEZ PERCE CHIEFTAIN LOSES PRETTY SPOUSE

Umatilla Bride Returns to Former Home Taking Hubby's Full Purse.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Pendleton, Or., Jan. 29.—Chief Peo-Peo-Talik prominent among the Nez Perce Indians near Lewiston is evidently not appreciated by his young and handsome Umatilla wife, who recently deserted her spouse and has returned to the Umatilla reservation near Pendleton with the family purse containing about $200.

The chief has been here to try to induce the truant wife Liza to return to him, but she refuses. The woman went to the Nez Perce reservation a short time before the beginning of the Christmas dance and the old warrior becoming enamored of her, secured her hand in Indian marriage. She remained in his tepee and cooked his meals for a period of several weeks and the first intimation of her dissatisfaction with the marriage contract was her return to Pendleton while Peo-Peo-Talik was visiting another section of the reservation.

ARCHBISHOP AT BOSTON HONORED

William H. O'Connell Has Pallium Conferred Upon Him by Catholic Church.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Boston, Mass., Jan. 29.—Amid solemn, impressive and resplendent ceremonies and in the presence of a distinguished portion of the Roman Catholic hierarchy of the United States, Archbishop William H. O'Connell was today invested with the pallium, the sacred insignia of his archiepiscopal office. The conferring of the pallium was performed by Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, who was assisted by a large number of archbishops, bishops and priests.

The ceremony took place in the cathedral of the Holy Cross where, 33 years ago, the recipient of the honor today acted as an altar boy when the pallium was conferred upon his predecessor, the late Archbishop Williams. The cathedral was decked in the papal colors, yellow and white, interspersed with the American colors and the archbishop's purple.

About 10 o'clock a solemn procession of the clergy wended its way into the cathedral and a throng of other persons crowded the edifice. The program began with the celebration of high mass. The music was furnished by a choir of more than 100 vocalists from the various churches of the city, accompanied by the organ and an orchestra. Cardinal Gibbons acted as celebrant, and at the conclusion of the celebration, the Very Reverend L. K. Hearney, of Washington, D. C., delivered an eloquent sermon. Following this the pallium was placed upon the altar.

Cardinal Gibbons, robed in the full vestments of his high office, began the ceremony of conferring the pallium. The pallium is a band of white wool, with two pendants of the same material, and bearns four black crosses. It was handed the cardinal, who arose and placed it upon the kneeling archbishop's shoulders. The ceremony concluded with the archiepiscopal blessing to the congregation.

GOVERNMENT TO WORK EXPERIMENT FARM

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Pendleton, Or., Jan. 29.—On the 40-acre tract set aside on the Umatilla irrigation project for an experimental farm, the agricultural department will this year conduct some elaborate experiments in irrigation according to promises given Congressman W. R. Ellis.

This 40-acre tract was set aside for an experimental farm some time ago but it has not been known whether the agricultural department would carry on the experiments or whether the state would be asked to bear the expense and furnish the experts for this purpose. Now Congressman Ellis has notified interested parties that the government will make experiments here this season.

The tract is near the reservoir of the project, and is favorably situated for extensive experiments.

HIGH FIRE INSURANCE RATES IN CALIFORNIA

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, Jan. 29.—The people of San Francisco paid the great sum of $5,600,000 in fire insurance premiums in 1907. This is the largest amount ever taken out of this city by the companies and it appears that the lowest loss ratio in local history must be recorded for the year. Much local complaint over insurance charges have been heard. The chamber or commerce of San Francisco has argued the question of rates with the executive committee of the board of fire underwriters in behalf of the city mercantile interests.

The chief contention of the chamber of commerce was that it was unfair to maintain 25 per cent higher rates in California than were paid by other states west of the Rocky mountains. The total insurance premiums paid in San Francisco in 1906 was $3,987,260. In 1906 the payments were advanced to $4,518,275. The premiums of 1907 were more than $1,000,000 for this city than were those of 1906, and $2,700,000 in round figures more than those of 1905, which was a boom year in real estate values.

ROBBERS PRETEND TO BE LAND DEALERS

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Mateo, Cal., Jan. 29.—Louis A. Demardo of San Francisco is dying at the emergency hospital here of wounds inflicted by two unknown men who decoyed him to this neighborhood on the pretext of selling him land, and wounded and robbed him. Demardo may die without giving a clue to his assailants. Demardo was anxious to purchase real estate, and the two men met him in San Francisco and interested him in some pretended bargains. When they had decoyed him to an isolated spot he was set upon and stabbed twice. He fell to the ground and was shot three times. Then his pockets were rifled of $100 in coin and a gold watch and chain. The thieves also stole his two diamond rings.
