TODAY'S MARKETS Good Hard Work Is the Only Thing That Will Make Hop Organization a Success— Growers Should Be Wise,

PRICES ADVANCE IN EGG MARKE

Receipts Are Not so Liberal . forecasted by The Journal sevand Some Charge 27 1-2c During the Day.

Produce market features: Egg market is advancing. City butter is stendier. Outside butter just holding. Small supplies of dressed meats. oultry market expected to weaken. Oranges are in poor shape. Hop sales still active. Potatoes are very duil. Nominal onlou business. Wheat market is inactive. Small fish are very scarce

Egg Market Is Advancing.

Advancing figures are shown in the local egg market because of the cold smap. Supplies are not so liberal and some dealers, have advanced the price to 27 Mgc. Crhers are reporting sales at 26 #26 Mgc. The tendency of the trade was to shove up egg values at the very first sign, of cold weather even though the rece, pts at that time were but fractionally decreased. At this time the artionally decreased At this time the ar rivals, while not so liberal as they were a weel, ago, are still quite fair. Several of the dealers who attempted to put up their price to 27% c said the trade would not buy at this figure so sales were made around 26% One reason for the smaller supplies here is the better buyint; from the northern cities during the last days of last week.

City Butter Is Steadier.

In city manufactured butter a steadier tone is ruling because of the cold snap and the smaller supply of cream. The and the smaller supply of cream. The late advances in the castern price has likewise helped to put this market on a better footing. Outside creameries do not pretend to charge more than 25c for their extras while most of them are rulobtainable of 30c, while extra quality of storage sells under this figure. Idaho storage sells under this figure. Idaho and southern Oregon butter continue to nour into this market because values here are higher than in other coast markets for the same quality.

Apples From Coos Bay.

now in market. Late receipts of this now in market. Late receipts of this market were the poor article from Los Angeles were the poor est ever shown in the celery from the quality shown in the celery from the same market and dealers here are much because their supplies are not imported Liverpool, 50s. $20.00 100s. $15.50 inported Liverpool, 50s. $20.00 100s.

Jupanese oranges are not selling so freely as a short time age. The fact that every hox must be famigated by the authorities because of infection, causes the fruit to arrive here in very poor shape. The oranges are not of long-keeping quality and they are very seur. Retailers claim that people are not willing to take chances of infection by earling them and the trade wants are therefore easily supplied.

FARMERS ORGANIZE TO

(Shecial Dispatch to The Journal.)

Pendleton, Or., Feb. 3.—C. A. Barrett, president of the Inland Wheat Growers' association, states that the principal object of the organization will be to reduce the price of sacks. The dealers declare prices the dealers ask for sacks are unreasonable. Mr. Barrett declares the growers will be able to save at least $40,000 this year and that the association will be to the acceptance. te association will buy its own sacks

Another purpose of the association is to force the O. R. & N. and the North-ern Pacific to arrange to shift cars from one line to the other without re-moving the goods from one car to the other, and also to have them reduce rates on shipments.

Its Skull the Biggest of Any Known Land Animal, but Its Brain Tiny.

From the New York Sun.

The skull of a new horned dinosaur, the only specimen of the kind in the world, has just been restored and placed in the Peabody Museum of Yale university. The skull is the largest of any known land animal. Some idea of its size can be gained from the fact that a dozen persons could perch on the head dozen persons could perch on the head dozen persons could perch on the head dozen. lozen persons could perch on the head and the huge frill that extends some live feet behind.

This last addition to the collection prehistoric animals was dug out of the cretacic deposits of Converse county, Wyoming, in 1891, by J. B. Hatcher, Lumber Schooner, and purchased by Professor Marsh for the Yale Museum. Its scientific name is torosaurus.

So far as is known only two specimens of forosaurus have ever been uncartaced, and both are the property of the Yale museum. There are two long horns on the top of the skull and one short horn at this nose.

The Sant Pablo reported to be off Capo librate. The skull as mounted is 8 feet 6 inches heig and 5 feet 8 inches across. The Yale scientists say this was a young specimen and perhaps had not got the Yale was probably 25 feet long. It is full growth when it perished.
