Francis J. Heney has been forced to decline the invitation to deliver an address before the Municipal association tomorrow night, in which it was supposed he would again turn his guns loose on Senator Fulton. Mr. Heney went over the question of the address with some members of the association last night, and told them that his duties here in the Hall case, and his desire to return to San Francisco to engage in the prosecution of Abraham Ruef, whose trial begins tomorrow morning, renders it impossible for him to deliver another public address in Portland. Mr. Heney will leave here for San Francisco tomorrow night, and will arrive there Saturday morning in time for the opening of the Ruef trial. The trial of Ruef is scheduled to begin tomorrow morning, but it is not thought that the taking of evidence will begin before Saturday, as at least two days will be consumed in securing a jury.

J. G. Compton was acquitted of the charge of forging a lease by a jury in Judge Gantenbein's department of the circuit court yesterday afternoon. Compton is a man of 65 years who has long been engaged in the real estate business, and it was shown that in the transaction in which he was accused of forging a lease, he was acting as agent for Mrs. Mary Thompson, formerly of Grants Pass. Thompson purchased the Yamhill rooming house for her and afterward leased two rooms to a tailoring firm without consulting Mrs. Thompson. He signed her name, and she had done at previous times, and the jury decided that there was no criminal intent in the act.

G. Goodie, who pleaded guilty to a statutory charge before Judge Gantenbein in the circuit court a few days ago, promised that he would be good for at least one year in consideration of being placed on parole. Yesterday he engaged in a battle with dishes with another Greek in his restaurant on North Third street and was again placed under arrest. This affair may cost the Greek his liberty, for he promised Judge Gantenbein that he would keep out of trouble if allowed to go free. He has a sentence of one year in the penitentiary hanging over him which he may be forced to serve for violation of his parole.

A jury in Judge O'Day's department of the circuit court last night awarded Mrs. Hattie T. Ritkewine $61 damages for her tumble into the sewer at Twenty-third and Clinton streets one night last March. Instead of the $19,000 for which she sued, the defendants in the case were Joseph Paquet and his associates in sewer contracts. The testimony showed that although Mrs. Ritkewine had fallen 18 or 20 feet she did not sustain permanent injury, but is now in as good health as ever. In awarding her $61 the jury evidently had in mind her doctor's bill and hospital fees.

The promised rush in the tax department of the sheriff's office is being developed this week. Frequently several persons have to wait on the same book, as only one clerk can work on the same book. These annoying delays can be avoided by all who will send to the tax department a description of their property, so that statements can be mailed to them. These statements can be obtained promptly, as the clerks work at night to prepare them, and wise taxpayers are being urged to adopt this method to avoid troublesome waits in the tax collection department.

A trial by jury in the county court is the unusual proceeding demanded by the contestant in the disputed will case of George Francis Stevens against George Tobias Myers Jr. Mrs. Stevens is seeking to break the will of her father, George T. Myers Sr., who left her only $20,000 and gave the rest to her brother. She says her father was influenced against her by a delusion that her mother had been murdered and that the contestant was in some way connected with it. This will be the first jury demanded in a probate proceeding for many months.

A meeting of the special street lighting committee is being held at the city hall this afternoon to discuss the best method of lighting Portland streets after the expiration of the city's contract with the Portland Railway, Light & Power company at the end of the present year. City Engineer Taylor has received a committee from Seattle telling of the method employed by the sound city in lighting its streets. Other communications will be read and Chairman Collins expects a large attendance on hand to present views on the question.

to be due as commission on the sale of a tract of timber land in Skamania county, Washington, went to trial before a jury in Judge Gantenbein's department of the circuit court this morning. The plaintiffs allege that Bolen sold the land to a purchaser found by them and that Bolen has never paid as promised.

A residence on East Sixth street near Ellsworth, recently purchased by August Welner, was damaged by fire about 7 o'clock last night. The house was formerly on Grand avenue, but last week was moved to the new site on East Sixth street. It is supposed that the fire caught from the chimney, which may have been damaged in moving. The loss to the owner of the house will be about $500.

Manufacturers' Association Looking for Sites—Ask for Tariff Commission.

The Republican national political organization is in danger of losing its main source of sustenance and comfort. Manufacturers who every four years have been paying tribute to the Republican national machine in exchange for so-called "protection," are demanding that the tariff question be taken out of politics and placed in the hands of a resolution unanimously adopted, that the president to appoint a tariff commission for adjustment.

Two Portland organizations, representing the strongest industrial interests on the Pacific coast, yesterday passed resolutions supporting this demand. The trustees of the Portland chamber of commerce at their regular monthly meeting yesterday fully discussed the tariff commission idea, and passed a strong resolution calling upon the president to appoint a tariff commission and take the tariff question out of politics.

Approve Tariff Commission.

At a monthly meeting of the Northwest Manufacturers' association last evening the same question was taken up and it was declared by the meeting, in a resolution unanimously adopted, that the tariff commission plan is the correct policy for the national government. Telegrams were sent to Senators Fulton and Bourne asking them to support the Beveridge bill creating a tariff commission.

The manufacturers' meeting was one of the most interesting held in months. It gave evidence that there are at the present time a surprising number of new manufacturing industries seeking favorable locations for plants in Portland and Oregon. The association secretary is looking for a three-acre site, near water and rail transportation, and smaller sites for other concerns.

A fiber furniture factory is one of a number of new manufacturing enterprises which the association has in prospect for Portland. There are large opportunities on the Pacific coast for this line of business, suitable woods being plentiful, but easily obtained at low cost, and the need for reasonably priced furniture apparent. It is said that a large saving can be effected by furniture manufactured here from Pacific coast materials, as now everything has to be shipped from the east by rail at high freight rates.

A fiber furniture plant formerly operated at Hongkong, China, by T. P. Keeney, made a success from the construction point of view, and the same success can be repeated in Portland, where the demand for these goods would be very large.

The Manufacturers' association is seeking a site for a plant to be established by the Star Drill company, $1,000,000 concern of Akron, Ohio, who desires to establish a branch in the coast. The company has plants in Kansas and employs 450 skilled workmen.

An effort is being made to enlarge an interior Oregon city, where conditions are ideal for the manufacturing of woollens, and the demands of the market are growing faster than capabilities of the present factory can keep pace with.

SIVENER PLEADS NEXT THURSDAY

J. P. Sivener, who came into the limelight at the time of the murder of Policeman Gittings by M. G. Bradley, is being a brother of Mrs. Bradley, who arranged in the circuit court yesterday on two informations charging him with passing bad checks.

It is alleged that H. Hanson told on a check on Hartman & Thomas, and that H. B. Sloan was a loser to the extent of $11 on another. He will plead Thursday.

Another arraignment was that of H. Hanson, who is alleged to have stolen valuable jewelry from M. G. Bradley of 360 San Rafael street.
