

HENEY'S SALARY BETWEEN SEASONS

What Prosecutor Earned Since His Connection With Oregon Land Fraud Cases—Attorney-General Determines Compensation:

(Washington Bureau of The Journal.)
Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—F. J. Heney has received a total of $50,000 from the government since he first accepted employment as land fraud prosecutor in Oregon in 1903. All this has been paid excepting $8,000 which item pends in the urgency deficiency bill, now in conference between senate and house, and as no protest has been filed, it is expected it will go through.

Heney began his labors November 7, 1903, when appointed special assistant attorney-general to assist district attorney for Oregon, John H. Egan. He was to prosecute the case against McKinley, Fute, Ware, et al. His compensation was to be determined by the attorney-general on completion of his services.

February 23, 1904, he was appointed special assistant attorney-general to prosecute the Hyde-Diamond-Benson land fraud case, involving Oregon and California irregularities, his compensation again being left to the attorney-general.

October 18, 1904, he was again appointed special assistant attorney-general to assist District Attorney Hill. On December 14, 1904, he resigned that position to accept an appointment as assistant district attorney for Oregon at $1,500 a year.

During 1904 he was paid $5,000 on account of services under the special appointments.

January 9, 1905, he resigned, was appointed district attorney at $4,500 a year; this he resigned December 1, 1905, the day following was appointed special assistant attorney-general again for the Hyde and Benson case. During 1905 Mr. Heney was paid $7,500 on March 19, $5,000 on August 10, on account of services previously rendered under special appointments. June 13, 1906, was appointed special assistant to the attorney-general for land case in Oregon, not covered by existing appointments, compensation determinable by the attorney-general.

During that year he received two payments of $5,000, August 9, and $5,000 December 19, 1906. From them an urgency deficiency bill is for compensation fixed but not yet paid under the attorney-general's power conferred to fix his compensation.

HEALTHY DOCTOR EATS GERMS OF TYPHOID

Swallows Millions of Bacillus When He Drinks a Glass of Infected Water.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
London, Feb. 8.—A sound health need fear nothing from the typhoid germs, according to evidence brought out at a London hearing this week of a damage claim by the prosecutor of a Malaya "hydro" against the local council for contaminating his establishment's water supply.

Three, one of the greatest English experts in typhoid, was a witness. The bacillus, he said, is so minute that a drop of water may contain a population equaling that of the entire world.

"I've swallowed millions," he remarked cheerfully.

"How did you like them?" inquired the judge. "I'm curious."

"I enjoyed the pleasure of anticipation for three weeks," said the doctor, "but after that I felt happy."

"It was an accident, however," he continued. "I was testing water said to contain typhoid bacilli. The water was hot and one day I swallowed a glass of water at a gulp. Too late I discovered that it was infected with which I had put the typhoid germs. Had my health been such as to have made me a good subject I would have suffered. As it was, I felt no ill effects whatever."

NEW YORK PAYS TRIBUTE.
Squadrons Barrels of Money to Hear Virtuoso.

The financial success that accompanies artistic achievements is wonderfully emphasized by Mr. Faderewski on his present American tour, who is certainly breaking records so far as box office receipts are concerned.

In New York city, $18,000 was taken in for three concerts at Carnegie hall. Larger houses than $6,000 have undoubtedly been drawn by certain world renowned women singers, but they have not kept up such an average at so many appearances.

Upon the occasion of the production of Faderewski's opera, "Manru," the receipts for the two performances aggregated $17,000, a record positively unequalled for one man in one day in one city anywhere in the world. Mr. Faderewski, who now plays the Weber piano, is achieving the very highest artistic results ever attained in this country and will appear in Portland, February 24.

INLAND EMPIRE WHEAT MEN ASK SACK BIDS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Pendleton, Or., Feb. 8.—At a meeting of the Inland Empire Wheat Growers' association today bids for 300,000 wheat sacks were advertised for, and steps were taken to secure an interchange of cars between the O. R. & N. and the Northern Pacific at this place. At present these systems do not interchange, and shipments are often long delayed and made expensive. The association expects to secure sacks at 7 1/2 cents.

PLAYER MANUFACTURE IN ITS INFANCY

Combination Instrument of Player and Piano Growing More Popular.

"The player piano is growing rapidly as a factor in the manufacture of pianos. In fact, their manufacture is in its infancy, comparatively speaking," said G. F. Johnson, general manager of Sherman, Clay & Co., when seen in his office yesterday. "The time is not far distant when most pianos sold will have the player attachment. The great pianists look with more favor upon them than ever before. The player piano will be considered an aid even to the finished musician. The line of player pianos which we carry as well as pianos I am satisfied is the strongest to be had. In fact, we have notably strengthened our line of players in the recent past. It is the increased favor shown our players month by month that convinces me that but few if any of us can predict the brilliant future which awaits the player piano. For example, our business for January, 1908, was far better than during the corresponding month of last year."

Sherman, Clay & Co. have recently fitted up at considerable expense a player department. Each make of player is in a separate parlor, and the selection of instrument is left to the customer who would expect to see in the best salesrooms of a large eastern city. One notes here the A. B. Chase players, including the famous "Artistiana" instrument that has created such a furore all over the country of late. The A. B. Chase has been styled "the artist's player." It is an acknowledged fact that the execution of difficult pieces of music on the Chase player is comparatively easy for January, 1908, was far better than during the corresponding month of last year."

Another player, the mechanism of which is acknowledged to be among the best and at the same time the most reasonable in price, is the Kingsbury. In the perfection of its expression devices, the ease of operation, simplicity and superiority of its mechanical construction is found the key note of the remarkable popularity of this, the newest of the player pianos.

Another player piano carried by Sherman, Clay & Co. that is most favorably considered by all musically inclined folks is the Solmer-Cochran. Its construction marks innovations in many respects.

Taken all in all, the players, for there are a variety of styles and prices in each make, afford a selection for all tastes and classes, for the poor man as well as the rich.

The Inner Player Piano is logically the piano for the professional man, the merchant, the mechanic or the music lover in any walk of life. Playable by hand or by means of a perforated music roll, it brings to the home an ability on the part of every member of the family to play, and play well; any and every composition known to the musical world, be it the marches of Sousa, the nocturnes of Chopin or the operas of Wagner.

The general public should take advantage of the standing invitation of this firm to visit the player department and see the great variety of players carried, and hear the music played by the people in charge. The department is open all day for the reception of the public, and there is scarcely an hour of the day but that demonstrations of the player piano are being given to some one. It is a matter of education, and the man or woman contemplating the buying of a player piano at some time in the future, will do well to visit the department as it is maintained by Sherman, Clay & Co.

London, Feb. 8.—Now that the Church of Notre Dame, at Courtrai, Belgium, has recovered its famous Van Dyck, the raiding of the crosses, the police are trying—without much success—to find out who stole it.
