

THE past week has not been marked with many brilliant events. However, there is a promise of much gaiety in the few remaining weeks before Lent. March 4 is Ash Wednesday, and that will open a season of inactivity.

Prominent events of the week included the hop at the Hill Military academy. The Carreno concert Monday night was an ultra-fashionable event. The time has been devoted chiefly to small bridge parties, and practice of the new game Skat, which is rapidly gaining in popularity.

The guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe were Miss Florence Wolfe, Miss Florence Kohn, Miss Gertrude White, Miss Hilda Jacobs, Miss Belle Dittenhofer, Miss Helen Jacobs, Miss Gertrude White, Miss Mai Hirsch, Miss Flora Fieleschner, Miss Flora Stern of San Francisco, Miss Frances Jacobs, Miss Belle Falk of Boise, Miss Ruby Jacobs, Miss Germaine Samuel, Miss Cora Marx, Miss Mabel Beck, Miss Mildred Rheinhardt, Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Lipman, Mr. and Mrs. Max Hirsch, Will E. Lipman, Adolph Jacobs, Henry Metzger, Samson Hirsch, Albert Landburg of San Francisco, Dr. Jonah B. Wise, Walter Rosenfeld, Samuel Bissinger, Dr. Gustav Baar, Adolph S. Solomon, Milton Kahn, Dr. Jesse Ettleson, Leopold Hirsch, Sidney Meyer, Archie Goldsmith, Edgar Frank, Alfred Zedig, Julius Koshland and Herman Caraky.

terms, Japanese fans, boutonnières and guns. Elaborate gowns were worn. Mrs. Wolfe was handsome in a costume of shiny lace with wistaria in her hair. Miss Wolfe wore her dainty debutante gown of white tulle hand embroidered with roses. Mrs. Lipman wore a stunning black spangled net. Miss Mai Hirsch wore flowered chiffon of white and pink in a Dresden pattern. Miss Frances Jacobs wore a dainty frock of pink marquette decorated with roses and gold. Miss Falk wore pale blue satin combined with chiffon of the same shade. Miss Marx wore pink chiffon and satin with touches of white. Miss Samuel was in white chiffon with garnitures of yellow. Miss Fieleschner wore white chiffon, hand embroidered with yellow flowers. Miss Dittenhofer wore pale blue silk with touches of black. Miss Kohn was in a white chiffon frock embroidered with pink roses.

The hop given by the officers and the senior class at Hill Military academy Friday evening was one of the prettiest and most elaborate of these popular dances. The reception room was charmingly decorated. In one corner a cozy corner tent, with cushions and rugs, represented the senior class. In another the sophomore class had erected its purple and gold canopy, decorated with Oregon grape. Punch was served in a green and white tower. In the Armory the beams were covered with greens and innumerable flags decorated the walls. Illuminated shields represented the classes and various preparatory schools. In one corner was the junior booth of black and orange, and in the other the freshmen of gold and white. From the center of the ceiling were festooned garlands of lights, which were turned off and on to show the blue and white of the academy, and the red and white of the senior class. Cadet Major Malcolm MacEwan and Miss Lena Hall led the grand march, and were followed by the officers and privates, according to rank, and the civilians. Supper was served in the dining hall downstairs. About 300 guests were present. The patronesses were: Mrs. Ann Rebecca Hill, Mrs. Herbert Holman, Mrs. John K. Kollock, Mrs. Joseph Wood Hill, Mrs. J. Rutherford Johnston, Mrs. John Westwood and Mrs. Alpha Eugene Rockey.

The past graduates are Benjamin W. Hill, Lonner O. Ralston Jr., Malcolm R. MacEwan, and Miss Lena Hall. The seniors are Edward L. Holmes, president; Stanley K. Briggs, secretary; Frederick J. Rosenberg, vice-president; Nathan V. Swisher, treasurer; Chester A. Loomis, sergeant at arms; Lynn B. Coovett, Edward L. Eastham, William L. Hutton, James M. Merchant, B. Elliot Steward, Dean A. Donson, Austin F. Flegel, Harry Mays, William B. Moy, Burton A. Smead.

Quite the most brilliant public event was the Carreno concert Monday night. The Marquand Grand, the old haunt of fashion, presented a picture that proved the still existing fondness for the theatre, though it has not in recent years been the scene of many fashionable affairs.

Most of the society people were in attendance, and among them were noticed Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Alvord, Miss Hoyt, B. R. Beckman, J. W. Beiser, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Burns, Miss Burns, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Lamson.

younger set. She will be given in marriage by the Rev. Samuel M. Mason, and a reception will be given after the ceremony by Mr. and Mrs. Meers for the wedding party and invited relatives. Miss Rose Schacht will be the maid of honor.

Schacht is the only son of Emil Schacht, John Schacht, brother of whom he is identified in business. Arthur Meers will be his attendant. The ushers will be David E. Howard, Cook, Arthur Seely and Harry Litt, who is now in New York. The bride's mother, Mrs. Morris Palmer, has come from the east to attend the wedding.

Albert Landsburgh was a much entertained guest during his week's visit with his aunt, Mrs. Isaac White. He was a prominent guest at the Wolfe wedding last party, and on Tuesday a beautiful dinner dance for him, Mrs. Solomon Rosenfeld entertained him at dinner and the young people gave an automobile party on Wednesday. Mr. Landsburgh is a prominent young architect of San Francisco and is a popular guest. He returned home Wednesday.

Lou V. Woodward gave a smoker at the Oregon Yacht club last Tuesday evening, attended by about 300. Plans were made for an elaborate benefit for the club that will take the form of a skating party at the Yacht club on Tuesday, February 18. The prominent girls of the younger set have offered their services and preparations will be made to accommodate about 2,000. This will be one of the smart events of the near future.

Mrs. Ralph Wilbur entertained informally Friday afternoon with bridge. A few friends came in later for tea. The honor guests were Mrs. William Davis and Miss Davis, who are visiting Mrs. Wallace McCamant, and Miss Ruthenow of Princeton, New Jersey, who is Mrs. E. C. Shevelin's guest. Mrs. McCamant poured, Miss Caruthers will remain a month and there has been a good deal of informal entertaining for her.

Thursday Mrs. Margaret O. Moore entertained at luncheon in honor of Miss Mary Hart of Idaho, who is a guest of Mrs. D. P. Thompson. Covers were laid for 12. Those present were: Miss Mary Hart, Mrs. D. P. Thompson, Mrs. Charles S. Moore, Miss Genevieve Thompson, Miss Gertrude James, Mrs. Robert Hill, Miss Laura Northrup, Miss Mary Douthitt, Miss Bertina Moore and Mrs. Margaret O. Moore.

The fourth of the at homes of the Scottish Rite Masons will be given at their temple on Morrison and Lowndes streets next Friday evening. The patronesses are Mrs. W. E. Finzer, Mrs. J. P. Clark.

A large card party is to be given soon by the women's clubs of the city which are members of the state federation, for the benefit of the Oregon scholarship fund. Many young women have been benefited by this educational fund, but there remains a large waiting list, for whose assistance the card party will be given.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Henry were the honor guests at a dinner given at the Portland Wednesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Bowers. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Bowers, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Judge, Mrs. Dierke, Hunt, Captain and Mrs. Werlich, Mrs. H. D. Green, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Wright and Judge Becker.

Miss Lillian O'Brien, entertained last week at five hundred, in compliment to Miss Marjory Holcomb, who has gone to Stanford university, and Miss Pauline Fitchner, who leaves today for a trip through Europe. The prize winners were Miss Mae Coon, Miss Kenna Klosterman, Julian Hughes and Carl Huston.

Mrs. I. N. Fleischer and Mrs. Harriet Meyer are being extensively entertained in San Francisco, where they recently went to attend their brother's wedding.

Mrs. Joseph Ehrman gave an elaborate luncheon, at which Mrs. Fleischer was the honor guest.
