

MARKET

California Contracting for Shipment of New Crop on March 1.

Front street features: Onions market is easier. Seed potatoes wanted. Eggs are holding better. Poultry market on fence. Dressed meats hold high. Smelt supplies are small. Mexican tomatoes in good shape.

Onion Market is Easier.

With eastern onions quite plentiful in the south and the north, thus taking away most of Oregon's outside demand because of the higher prices quoted in the local situation. However, growers are not convinced that they are holding too long, and a few of them are willing to let even at the present high level of values. A few sales of small lots are reported at $2.00 to $2.50 per hundred pounds at country points. According to advices from the Cochella valley in California, that district will begin to ship new crop onions by March 15. It is stated that the crop of Thermal and Cochella the coming season will be about 250 cars. The onions are mostly of the Bermuda variety and will be packed in crates similar to those used by Bermuda shippers of Texas. The California growers have already started to advertise their coming crop in the local market and are making contracts to start shipments by the first of the month.

Seed Potatoes Are Wanted.

There is a slight demand on at this time for seed potatoes. Most of the lots coming from California and as high as 1c a pound has been paid local producers during the past 48 hours for early lots. The general potato market is holding quite steady, but outside business is slack with a continuance of a heavy car shortage. Several cars of bananas were reported in today. Generally reported in a green condition.

Eggs Are Holding Better.

There is a somewhat better tone in the general egg market. The north is gaining a buyer for shipment to Alaska. Local supplies are quite fair, but there is an increase in demand. Creamery butter market is holding steady for best quality and even the second grades are showing a somewhat better movement. Formerly the price of eggs is holding steady for the fancy grades at unchanged values.

Chicken Market on the Fence.

With receipts only fair the local poultry market is not feeling any too good. The fact that the market may be under control on fence, with a downward appearance to values. Dealers, however, are holding prices up to the top of the market. The price of chickens is increasing most of the business into eastern poultry. Sales were reported along the street today at 13c for the most part. Extra fancy, however, an occasional lot was boosted to 13 1/2c. This, however, was the limit and the big buyers would not pay it.

Dressed Meats Are Held High.

Prices on dressed meats are held very high. Front street these days, for extra fancy veal as high as 10c a pound was obtained during the past 24 hours. Some of the extra fancy, however, because butchers considered too high and held off. Dressed hogs are in quite liberal demand and prices are held as high as 8c for best. General price, however, at 7 1/2c. Halibut is down to a pound to 7c because of the scarcity of the fish. Columbia smelt are scarce again.

Brief Notes of the Trade.

Apple trade is good. Celery supplies are small. Price ruling on $3.75 to $4.00. Just holding, with increasing weakness with greater offerings. Wheat trade is slow at unchanged values. A few inquiries, but no flour is reported in the oriental flour market. Front street sells at the following prices: Prices paid shippers are less guar commissions:

APPLE DEMAND FOR MEDIUM GRADE FRUIT

"There is a much improved movement to the local apple market. Receipts and demand are both increasing. The call for apples is getting better as the season progresses and sales are more in the middle grade than formerly. Cheap grades, though still have a good call, as do the best varieties. However, most of the sales are between these two extremes."—W. H. Dryer of Dryer, Bolland & Co.
