

ECLIPPING in splendor all former affairs of its kind, the assembly ball at the Portland Friday evening satisfied all expectancy. Mr. Bowers had arranged every detail with perfection and the hotel was a scene of beauty and brilliancy.

About 450 guests were in attendance and many handsome new gowns were worn. The patronesses were Mrs. T. B. Wilcox, Mrs. Richard Koehler, Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Mrs. W. B. Ayer, Mrs. C. E. Beebe, Mrs. Holt C. Wilson, Mrs. Walter J. Burns, Mrs. William H. Warrens, Mrs. W. C. Alvord, Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd, Mrs. J. C. Ainsworth, and Mrs. K. A. J. Mackenzie.

Mrs. Ladd wore a beautiful gown of white satin with gold embroidery. Mrs. Warrens was in handsome white lace. Mrs. Alvord in pale yellow satin; Mrs. Mackenzie in white lace; Mrs. Wilson in pale blue satin; Mrs. Ayer in pale lavender chiffon; Mrs. Burns, pale blue crepe de chine; Mrs. Beebe, white net; Mrs. Koehler, pale blue satin with silver trimmings.

The grillroom made a charming ballroom, decorated with palms, cut flowers and ferns. Here music was furnished by Franz's augmented orchestra. Softly shaded lights were arranged among rows of palms in the hall and the gallery formed a delightful retreat with Turkish rugs and divans. There, Wilcox's orchestra furnished the music.

In the lobby punch was served from a charming bowl of ferns, Oregon grape and greens, intermingled with tiny particular incandescents. Supper was served in the main dining room where there was music by Waldemar Lind's orchestra. The breakfast room was arranged with choice flowers and here tables were stationed for the bridge devotees.

The invitation list included the following: Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Adams, Mr. and

In the decorations and the service. The refreshment tables were beautiful with red-shaded candles in silver holders. Heart favors pierced with silver arrows made a pretty effect. The service was all fine, old silver from Germany and was most handsome. At cards Mrs. Albert Feldenheimer won the first prize, a French head in bronze, and Mrs. Sigmund Frank the second, a silver fernery filled with blossoms and foliage.

Mrs. Frederick Egger has cards out for a large reception at the Portland hotel, Saturday, February 19, in honor of Mrs. William Harold Stalger. Mrs. Stalger was Miss Florence Blagen, and was recently married to Mr. Stalger. Mrs. Egger's nephew. They are living at Alexandria Court.

Henry Metzger gave a theatre party at the Hellig last Monday in compliment to Miss Flora Stone of San Francisco. The other guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Fleischer, Mrs. Flora Fleischer and Edgar Frank Supper followed at the Portland.
