IMPORTATION OF MEN TO TAKE THE PLACE OF STRIKING MINERS

Will Be Resisted in the Far North and Bloodshed Is Likely to Follow.

Developments within the last few days regarding the Alaskan situation indicate that another great struggle between miners and mineowners is imminent, and that the strife, political corruption, assassination and terror that attended the recent war of mining factions in Colorado, Wyoming and Idaho are about to be repeated in the far north. Agents of the Tanana Mineowners' association are in Portland and Westchester, for pick miners shovel men, and the Hansen Employment agency, which has been given the commission to employ them, has been picketed by the Western Federation of Miners. The Tanana Mineowners' association, as told in yesterday's Journal, has offered to contract with 2,000 men to take them into the Tanana district and give them employment for the entire season at $5 per day, with board and lodging. By the terms of the contract the trip from Portland to Fairbanks, including transportation, lodging and food, will cost each man $15, at which figure the mineowners are willing to pay. They will save each man about $140 as he could not make the trip independently for less than $150. The mineowners' agents have nothing to say as to the cause of the great demand for labor in the Tanana mines, but it is alleged by the miners that there is an attempt being made by the mineowners to break a strike that is now on under the auspices of the Western Federation of Miners.

The work of these agents is closely related to the operations of the Bureau of American republics, which has been placed in charge of John Barrett of Portland. It is the rule of Secretary Oscar S. Straus of the department of commerce and labor to appoint as investigators men who have had practical experience and are recommended by the trades interested in the particular investigations to be made. Importers and exporters on the Pacific coast who have grievances or claims to be considered in connection with the new commercial treaty between the United States and France are asked by the department to make their wishes known. EUCALYPTUS FOREST ON MOUNT HOOD

NETS OWNERS BILLIONS—IN DREAMS OF A DAY. A business venture of more than ordinary importance may be undertaken by Nathaniel K. Clark of the Hotel Portland and a capitalist from the east. These gentlemen now have in mind the purchase or lease of a large tract of land on the south slope of Mount Hood for the propagation of eucalyptus trees. They believe that the eucalyptus is the best land on the mountain side and plant it entirely to eucalyptus. As the trees will grow in quite steep places they can get more trees to an acre than on level land, as the perpendicular growth of the trees will facilitate the work of the ground will facilitate the work of the trees and moving it to the point of shipment by this modern system they expect to grow at least 6,000 trees to the acre. Their farm of 5,000 acres will thus produce 30,000,000 trees. As these trees grow very rapidly—about 100 feet in the first year at the end of six years, a fair basis they figure each tree will be worth $2.50 for wood or lumber, or both. The crop would bring them a gross return of $75,000,000. The cost of cutting and marketing and it can readily be seen that the net profit would be something handsome. As the trees will be started from seed, the initial cost would be practically nothing.
