(Special Dispatch to The Journal) White Bluffs, Wash., Feb. 21.—So rapid is the development in the early fruit belt of the Columbia river country that the two large steamers, the Mountain Gem and the W. R. Todd, are unable to handle the freight and passenger business, and Captain Baughman, a navigator for half a century on the Columbia and Snake rivers, has ordered a steamer which is scheduled to be the valley are from the Yakima valley, making the trip from Kennewick to White Bluffs, 45 miles, and return in about five hours. She will go into commission about March 15.

Four large irrigation plants, costing all the way from $300 to $500,000, will be in operation in this part of the valley this season. Thousands of acres of choice land which has heretofore yielded only sagebrush and jackrabbits, will be in fruit trees this spring. A vast acreage having already been planted. Thousands of homeseekers have arrived at different points in the valley and the settlement is astonishing. One third of the new settlers in the valley are from the Yakima valley, being attracted here by the early season and mild climate.

When the open river is established, this part of the Columbia river alone will be one of the greatest feeders which Portland will have. The yield of at least 100,000 acres under intensive cultivation will go to that point.

EMBRYO "HERO" HAS BRAINSTORM

Lieutenant Hugh Johnson Writes Story Holding Army Up to Scorn.

(United Press Leased Wire) New York, Feb. 21.—Prefacing his article with stories of two imaginary wars in which America is badly beaten by Germany in her eastern states, Lieutenant Hugh Johnson, U. S. A., writing in the March issue of Everybody's Magazine, holds the United States military system up to scorn.

He refers to the navy as "respectable," but says its fighting chance is impossible of determination. "We have no army, but what is worse," he says, "we have no system of defense. In resources we are rich, in actual power we are poor as Job. Germany can mobilize 1,000,000 men in a month, France as many, Japan 800,000—we 1,000,000 in two years."

DRY TRAINS IN DRY PRECINCTS

O. R. & N. Travelers Must Thirst Along With the Parched Dweller.

Pendleton, Or., Feb. 21.—Passengers on O. R. & N. trains in Umatilla county will hereafter be required to abstain from drinking intoxicants in buffet cars while trains are passing through the "dry" precincts of the county. At the request of O. R. & N. officials, Frank Clark, Umatilla county sheriff, has a plan of the five prohibition precincts in this county. Of these precincts, three—North and South Milton and South Athens—are on the Spokane branch of the O. R. & N., while Ruddle and Encampment are on the main line. No liquors will be sold on O. R. & N. trains greater while passing through any of these precincts. The boundaries of the precincts will be marked with suitable signs, and the clerks to warn the porters of the local option territory.

Forest Grove, Or., Feb. 21.—A very narrow escape from death was that of Al Bledsoe, a farmer living near Buxton, when a box of 50 went off near his side, tearing his clothes from him, breaking his watch and lifting off the roof of his chicken-house.

To the Policyholders of The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York

The work accomplished by the Company in 1907, under the new conditions, in respect of benefits dispensed to policyholders and in the furtherance of their best interests, has been especially satisfactory.

The Company paid directly to policyholders and their beneficiaries in death claims, endowments, dividends, annuities and surrender values $43,959,245.40

Total benefits from sources named $60,327,924.79 Total received from policyholders $7,151,041.71

The total benefits above named exceeded premiums received by $3,176,883.08

The amount paid DIRECTLY TO POLICYHOLDERS during the year was 77 per cent of the amounts received from them.

The total amount paid to policyholders, plus the increase in the net reserve held for them, was over 165 per cent of the amounts received from them.

Increasing Dividends The amount appropriated for dividends to be paid in 1908 is $8,311,002.02

This sum greatly exceeds the largest amount ever before paid in dividends in a single year by any company. The annual dividends to be paid in 1908 show a ratio of increase over those of 1907 such as can be approximated by no other company.

In Gains for Policyholders the Company Remains in the Front Rank Its gross earnings from interest and rentals for 1907 were $23,103,953.59

Its gains from loading, mortality, surrenders and annuities were $8,760,440.79 The total earnings and gains were $31,864,394.38

This is over 56 per cent of the entire premium income, a remarkable showing rarely, if ever, equaled by any other company.

In Economy of Management the Company Stands Pre-eminent The total expenses incurred in 1907 were $8,554,375.11

Compared with 1906, this was a decrease of 2,031,618.13

The Financial Condition of the Company is Superb Its investments are of the highest class—unimpeached and unimpeachable.

In a year of extraordinary financial depression, not a share of stock owned by the company failed to pay its regular dividend, and on $22,927,910.60 of bonds (book value) there was not a dollar of interest in default at the close of business on the 31st of last December.

With assets exceeding its legal liabilities by over $57,000,000, even by the abnormally low market quotations of December 31, 1907,—an excess greater by many millions than is held by any similar organization anywhere,—the Mutual Life, the Oldest Company in America, is also justly designated the Strongest in the World.

JOLLY JOKER FROM ORIENT

"I will suspend sentence until one week from today," said the court. "With the provision that the prisoner remain in the custody of the marshal," interposed Mr. Bristol.

This was ordered and McKinley was taken back to the county jail, where he is being kept and denied to all visitors. That the Fenu Brummel of the land fraud operators has not led the officers a merry chase from the Atlantic to the Pacific, spent two years in China, gone through his almost incredible adventures in Mukden, slept in Chinese coffins and masqueraded as a Russian peasant woman all to sit quietly and receive sentence in an Oregon court room was demonstrated, early in the game this morning.

McKinley in Court. In the custody of two deputy marshals and without any counsel, McKinley came into Judge Wolverton's court at 10 o'clock this morning. It had not been advertised that he would be there and the room was practically deserted.

McKinley was dressed, in the parlance of the burlesque houses, in a "meat but not gaudy" fashion. His clothing was somewhat out of date, but was as scrupulously neat as ever. His patent leather shoes were shiny and he wore a dark suit and a black and white ascot tie.

"Hello, Horace," called out the district attorney as McKinley passed him going into the court room.

"Why, hello, Bill," replied the peripatetic "red-live with a smile. When the case was reached, Mr. Bristol reviewed it briefly, saying that the defendant was indicted for land frauds together with several others March 17, 1904, that he had been tried and found guilty and had been released on bond.

Shot for Money. "I wish it understood that I had nothing to do with the early conduct of these cases," said Mr. Bristol. "The prisoner has been hibernating for some time in China, at his own pleasure. This is one of the so-called Heney cases, really originated by Mr. Heney. Some attempt I understand was made to locate Mr. McKinley but even that great detective, William J. Burns, could not reach him and finally his bond was declared forfeited and he was declared a fugitive from justice. A bench warrant for his arrest was issued by Judge W. H. Hunt, July 29, 1906.

Later on it was found that he was in China, he was arrested there and extradited to this country. I move that the defendant be called and sentenced. I will add that the law provides a sentence of a fine ranging from $1,000 to $10,000 with not more than two years in jail.

"I have no personal knowledge of the circumstances of this case. The great prosecutor, Francis J. Heney, advised that this defendant's partner, Futer, receive two years and a $7,500 fine. Mr. Futer testified and didn't run away. The public press has said that subsequently it was Mr. Heney who had Futer pardoned. I don't know.

"Also it might be said that the same great prosecutor saw fit to dismiss the indictments against Mrs. Ware; Mrs. Watson served but a few months of her sentence and several others served varying terms. As I have said, this is not my case. I don't know anything about the moral turpitude which may be the defendant's and can make no recommendations. It may be that owing to his journey of two years in foreign climes the defendant may want to arrange his personal business. The government will be willing to allow such time as the court sees fit."

Prisoner Stands Up. Judge Wolverton then asked McKinley to stand up and give his reasons why sentence should not be imposed. "I beg to ask the court for two or three days, during which I may communicate with Mr. Heney and Mr. Burns," said the prisoner. "I have just got in town and have had no chance to see any one."

"You think Mr. Heney and Mr. Burns have some information that may affect the sentence?" inquired the judge. "I do," said McKinley.

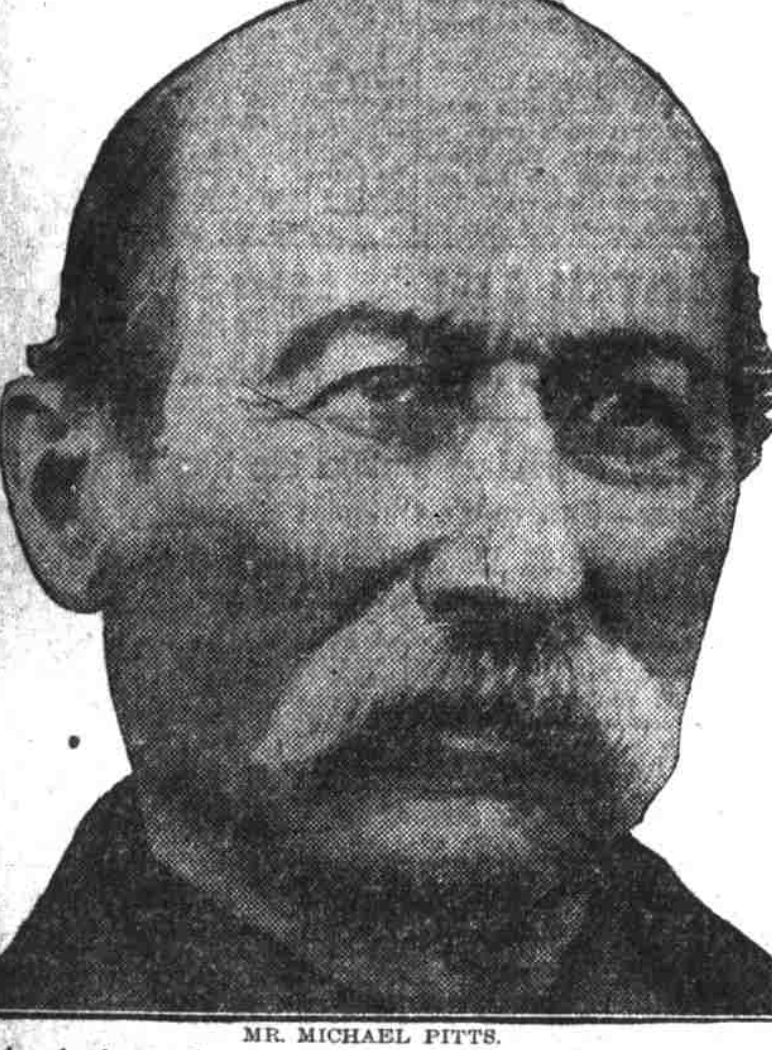

Bristol Has His Say. Then Mr. Bristol sprang up and declared that he for one had no bargains to make and no immunity to give, although he didn't know anything about the prisoner's arrangements with Francis J. Heney.

Judge Wolverton continued the matter until next week, Saturday, February 23. McKinley was taken back to the jail, where he will be kept in charge of the marshal. On the way out he met the newspaper photographers and smilingly stood for his picture, remarking that it was the first he had had taken since he came back to God's country.

District Attorney Bristol said after the hearing that owing to the involved condition of the district attorney's office he could not state definitely what action he would take in the McKinley perjury indictment.

"You can say this, though," said Mr. Bristol, "that in the McKinley case, as in all others before me, every offender will be given a trial, and a speedy one, and there will be no arrangements made for getting off or for climbing into the immunity bath under its stationary boilers throughout the zone."

Gained 24 Pounds in Four Months

Mr. Michael Pitts, of Cambridge, Mass., who had been greatly run down and suffered agonies from "painters' colic," was completely cured by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and gained 24 pounds in four months.

Thousands of convincing letters come from grateful men and women who, like Mr. Pitts, have been cured of different diseases by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey after all other remedies failed.

"Last December I suffered great agonies from a trouble known as 'painters' colic.' I tried many remedies, and after they had all failed me I took Duffy's Malt Whiskey. I found almost immediate relief. It completely cured me and I have gained 24 pounds in four (4) months, thanks to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I am able to work again and feel like a new man. I hope that my praises of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey will be taken seriously and in the right spirit by all men who suffer from diseases resulting from the use of paint. I assure you that you may enroll my name among the thousands who know that your tonic stimulant deserves the name of the best medicine on earth." Michael Pitts, 22 Donell Street, Cambridge, Mass., April 16, 1907.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain; great care being used to have every kernel thoroughly malted, thus destroying the germ and producing a predigested liquid food in the form of a malt essence, which is the most effective tonic stimulant and invigorator known to science; softened by warmth and moisture its palatable and all run-down and weakened conditions of the body, brain and nerves. It is prescribed by doctors and is recognized as a family medicine everywhere.
