WEATHER REPORT Very little change has taken place in the high pressure over the north Pacific coast, but the east side has contracted slightly in area. Fair weather continues on the Pacific slope as far south as San Francisco and the changes in temperature have been small and unimportant. The morning temperatures are slightly below normal and the temperatures yesterday afternoon were above normal. The indications are that the fair weather will last over Sunday, except about 4 o'clock, when a slight increase in temperature will be followed by rain. The temperatures will slowly rise.
