New-Oriental Silks

Rajahs, pongees and "nub" weaves of various sorts are more popular this spring than at any time in the history of silk selling. The Oriental or rough weaves are having such tremendous vogue that they by far lead all others for early spring selling. This demand has brought out many weaves and patterns. They are to be had in all the desired plain colors, in self plaids and figures or in contrasting shades. There is no stock hereabouts can offer so complete an assortment nor values the equal of these.
Shower Proof Foulards in all colors and designs, for the construction of the spring shirt waist suits, waists or separate skirts. There is no weave in silk that gives better service than the foulard and the popularity of this silk for the present season's wear is firmly established.
