LAUDS DANCING AS FOE OF VICE

Paris Professor Points Out the Educational Value of Terpsichorean Art.

Paris, Feb. 25—That dancing should be regarded as a spiritual exercise is the theory advanced by Professir Girnudet, who has been delivering lectures on the subject. He says idleness is the mother of every vice and that the dancing master can do much to overcome its demoralizing ecects. M. Girnudet is preparing a scheme of education in which dancing plays a large part and appeals to other dancing coaches to be serious and high minded in the pursuit of their calling.

SAYS BIG RESERVOIRS WILL PREVENT FLOODS

Government Expert Urges the Construction of Large Storage Dams Near Rivers.

Washington, Feb. 25.—Plans to prevent the annual floods that visit the great river valleys of the country, devastating millions of acres of land, destroying millions of dollars' worth of property and costing many lives, have been formed by M. O. Leighton, chief hydrographer of the United States government.

Mr. Leighton proposes the building of a series of detention reservoirs, near the rivers, which shall be kept empty during the greater part of the year and held in readiness to store temporarily the flood waters that arise in the late winter and spring.

The water in these reservoirs would be held until the low water stage in the rivers, when it would be turned into the channels, making navigation possible the year round, and also furnishing water power for many industries.

BAR ASSOCIATION TO MEET TODAY

The annual meeting of the Multnomah County Bar association will be held this evening in the courtroom of department No. 1 of the circuit court. The purpose of the meeting is the annual election of officers of the association and the transaction of the regular routine business such as usually comes up for disposal at these meetings.

Great interest is being manifested among the members of the association in the contest for the offices for the coming year, and it is expected that there will be a lively meeting as the result of this interest.

MEN AT LOS ANGELES LAID OFF BY ESPEE

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Los Angeles, Feb. 25.—Three hundred and seventy mechanics employed in the shops of the Southern Pacific on the east side have been laid off. This is the second batch of employes on the Los Angeles division to feel the sharp retrenchment policy recently instituted by Harriman on every division of the Southern Pacific.

Of the full working force, a trifle over a quarter still remain at work. According to inside information, the shops at Sacramento are due next to feel the edge of the retrenchment ax.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANK BILL INTRODUCED

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—The postal savings bank bill, introduced by Senator Knox, provides that 2 per cent interest shall be paid on all deposits, and that these savings be deposited in national banks in localities where savings are accumulated. The national banks made depositories are to pay a rate of interest to be determined by the postmaster-general and the secretary of the treasury. The postal savings account for each person, firm or corporation is to be limited to $500.

California Guide Has Pipe Dream and Thinks He Sees Volcano.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 25.—O. Henry, who is guide for the Topanga Oil company, has created some excitement here by announcing that there is a volcano in Las Pulgas canyon. He declared that a crevice opened and smoke was rolling from it.

Henry's story has been confirmed by Thomas Mowry and some friends. They saw smoke pouring down the deep gulch and coming up from the loose shale which forms the walls and floor of the canyon. Digging through the loose rock they found red-hot stones, and at last the ground beneath them became so hot that they fled in terror.

They speak confidently of the subterranean fires as a miniature volcano, but A. F. Wilmot, an oil man, believes the phenomenon to be caused by a deposit of oil which has taken fire.

"The pressure of gases would cause an upheaval of the earth," said he, "and an even greater sinking after the gas escaped and the oil was burned out."

DOUBT INDICATED

drew a touching picture of her next reunion with her child, besmirched as she would be by the stigma of her conviction, and during the recital Mrs. Waymire sobbed silently into her handkerchief.

Mr. Logan asked how it was that the mayor of a great city like Portland could find so much time to give to a common waitress when the affairs of the city were pressing upon him. He argued that it was the beauty and the friendless condition of the woman that appealed to him and turned him from the path of right. He said he now understood why it was that it had been so hard to reach the mayor with matters of public business, and why it was that there were so many wrangles with the council. It had been because the mayor needed the time to keep dates in his private office. Harry Lane, he said, was made of the same meat as the rest of mankind, had the same feelings and was burdened with the same failings. He was no better than the rest of mankind and did not call Mrs. Waymire to his private office to develop what was good in her character, but what was bad.

The speaker said that it had been the case since the early dawn of the world that man had always put the blame on woman, that he had always tried to shoulder odium onto the back of some one else. It had been the other fellow who was the guilty one. He read the account of the fall of man from Genesis and closed with an eloquent appeal for the jury to acquit.

Mr. Malarkey took up the closing statement of the state at 2 o'clock. His argument was an eloquent and earnest one, in which he reviewed the testimony holding it up in the light as it appeared to the prosecution. He dilated on the characters of the defendants as shown by their testimony and their mode of living and pleaded with the jury not to blast the reputation and good name of Mayor Lane because of the flimsy stories told by Radding and Mrs. Waymire. He referred, as Mr. Logan had done, to the quotation from Shakespeare in which it was said that he who stole the purse stole trash, but he who made away with the good name of a man robbed him of a priceless boon.

Following Mr. Malarkey's address Judge Gantenbein delivered the charge to the jury and gave the case into its hands.

that would tend to cast reflections on Italians in general on account of the crime.

The anti-clerical party, so-called, as far as can be ascertained from correspondents, is not composed solely of Italians. There are many foreigners among them other than those who come from Italy. There is also in connivance with them an element of that character of American-born persons who once aimed viciously to undermine church influence in the United States.

BAKER PIONEER DIES A HIS HOME IN EAST

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Baker City, Feb. 25.—The intelligence has been received by Walter Fernald of the First National bank of this city of the death on February 12 of Luther French.

Mr. French was a pioneer of Baker county, comir - here in the '60s and locating in Auburn, thence in Sumpter and Sumpter valley. For 20 years or more he was engaged in placer mining. About 10 years ago he met with an accident by which a log rolled over him, and from which he never recovered.

A few years ago he came to Baker City to reside and about a year ago he went to relatives in Massachusetts, where he died at nearly 80 years of age.

HAYES UNMINDFUL OF TEDDY'S PROTEST

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, Feb. 25—Apparently unmindful of President Roosevelt's strong opposition to his proposed Japanese exclusion law, Representative Hayes, of California, today appeared before the foreign affairs committee to address the committee on the subject.

The Californian declared that the whole Pacific coast is unanimously in favor of the measure. The bill tightens the Chinese exclusion law and subjects the Japanese to the same conditions that govern the admission of Chinese. Representative Kahn also addressed the committee.

HILL PREPARING TO BREAK INTO CANADA

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 25.—James J. Hill has spread a large force of engineers over a stretch of 1,400 miles between Brandon, Manitoba, and Calgary, Alberta, preparing, it is said, to parallel the Canadian Pacific system. Two years ago Hill made elaborate preparations for carrying out this same scheme, but withdrew the engineering forces because of the financial depression.

GIRL JUMPS FROM HIGHEST BRIDGE SPAN

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Dubuque, Iowa, Feb. 25.—Miss Nellie Losse, despondent because of the poverty of her family, made a desperate attempt to end her life by leaping from the topmost span of the high bridge into the Mississippi river. Her dress kept her above the water and she floated for 300 yards, when ice harvesters pulled her out with pike poles. The girl was seriously injured.

Newsboy Accused of Theft.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

The Dalles, Or., Feb. 25.—Eli Crosby, a 14-year-old newsboy of Seattle, was apprehended here at the request of the Newsboys' union of Seattle on the charge of stealing a sum of money from the home of the treasurer of the union. He was taken to Seattle yesterday.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

No other medicine for Woman's ills in the world has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs.

No other medicine has such a record of success for woman's diseases, or such hosts of grateful friends as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been the standard remedy for feminine ills, Inflammation, Ulceration, and consequent Spinal Weakness.

It has relieved more cases of Backache and Local Weaknesses than any other one remedy. It dissolves and expels tumors in an early stage of development.

Irregularities and periodic pains, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility, quickly yield to it; also deranged organs, causing pain, dragging sensations and backache. Under all circumstances it acts in harmony with the female system.

It removes that wearing feeling, extreme lassitude, "don't care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, dizziness, faintness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy or the "blues." These are indications of Feminine disorders, which this medicine overcomes as well as slight derangement of the Kidneys of either sex.

Women who are sick and want to get well should refuse to accept any substitute for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

INVITATION FIRE AT THE MISSES SANDS'

Only Fireman Asked to Function Finds Maid Fighting Blaze With Atomizer.

"You will greatly oblige the Misses Sands by sending one fireman to their home, No. 11 East Eighty-fourth street, as soon as possible."

Such was the polite invitation which came over the 'phone to fire headquarters yesterday, says the New York World. Delicate emphasis was laid on the word "one." Fireman Reilly of engine 22, a polite young man, was ordered to accept the invitation. He hastily smoothed his hair, jumped into his best uniform coat and ran to the big white stone house where the Misses Anna and Louise Sands reside.

An English butler admitted Reilly, and after admonishing him to wipe his feet conducted him sedately to a handsomely furnished room on the second floor. In it is a large fireplace flanked by big beveled mirrors. Smoke was wreathing and circling from behind the wainscoting under the mirror, and it was instantly plain to Reilly's practiced eye that the hidden blaze was gathering force.

"We did not want a lot of firemen trooping through the house," one of the Misses Sands told Reilly, "so we tried to put it out ourselves, but we did not seem to succeed. Will you be kind enough to extinguish the blaze? But do not, we beg, soil the carpets nor break the mirrors."

The Misses Sands were acting as chiefs of a volunteer company of maid servants. The lady's maid was squirting perfume from an atomizer on the smoking wall; the waitress was hurrying with carafes of ice water; the laundress was industriously operating a flower sprinkler from the conservatory, and the cook was filling a cut-glass celery bowl at the nearest washstand. Other maids were carefully mopping the carpet where the water dripped.

"You see," said Reilly to the servants who were flitting around him, "I forgot to bring my manicure set with me, so I can't tear down the wainscoting and get at the fire."

"Oh, of course, we can lend you a set," said the lady's maid.

"Will a nut pick do? There are any number of them," suggested the resourceful waitress.

Reilly ran to the telephone, tossed aside the butler and called truck No. 13. Its men put out the fire in a jiffy, and without smashing a mirror. But the damage was $500.

HUNGRY PEASANTS LEAVE FOR SOUTH

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Madrid, Feb. 25.—In accordance with notices lately sent you concerning the suffering of the peasantry in Spain, there now come advices of the arrival at La Palma of the steamer Bellver, crowded with hungry peasants emigrating to South America.

Advices from Corunia, tell of alarming movements of associations of laborers, who refuse to pay the tax on lands known as the "thirds and fifths," with the result that many lands are being deserted, so that the cry ... the parliament of the liberals that Spain needs colonizing seems to be a reality.

GRAFTS HIS SKIN UPON OWN SON

Famous Surgeon Decides on Daring Method and Saves Boy's Life.

New York, Feb. 25.—Robert H. M. Dawbarn, visiting surgeon to the city and Polyclinic hospitals, who six years ago won the Samuel D. Gross prize for original research in surgery, has, through a daring operation in skin-grafting, saved the life of his own son.

None of the physician's friends will talk about the case, although many are aware of the facts. At his home, No. 105 West Seventy-fourth street, Dr. Dawbarn refused to discuss it.

The young man whose life was saved is Waring Lennox Dawbarn, a junior of Princeton, and an all-around athlete. On December 10 he was brought home suffering from an operation for appendicitis. The conditions were such that when the cavity was entered for the purpose of removing the appendix it was found to have become infected, and septic peritonitis followed.

For weeks the temperature of the young man gave little hope of recovery. The gangrenous condition extended to the incision, and much of the skin had to be cut away. When things mended so that the life of the patient was in no danger, the wound refused to heal, and it was necessary to resort to skin grafting.

There is no doubt that many volunteers might have been found among the young men's friends for the purpose, but the father, who had watched and advised in the illness of his son, decided he would perform the operation himself, and with the skin from his own body.

Selecting places on his body where patches might be taken while he operated with both hands, the surgeon took the necessary cuticle and grafted them upon his boy.

The wound, it is said, is healing nicely, and in a short while the young man will return to Princeton.

REPUBLICANS INDORSE TAFT FOR PRESIDENCY

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, Feb. 25.—By a vote of 18 to 9 the Republican county committee formally indorsed William H. Taft last night, and thereby foretold its probable rejection of the state central committee's request for unofficial primaries May 2.

The Taft resolutions were introduced by Tom Magee, after T. R. Sullivan had secured postponement of consideration of the state central committee's call for primaries and convention.

The resolutions follow:

"Resolved, That the Republican county committee of the city and county of San Francisco hereby indorses the candidacy of William H. Taft for the office of president of the United States, and pledges itself to an earnest effort to secure for him a solid delegation from California to the national Republican convention."

THOMAS CAR RUNS ON RAILWAY TIES

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Chicago, Feb. 25—The Thomas Flyer, the American car in the New York-to-Paris race, left the snowy wastes of northern Indiana this morning and started to bump along the ties of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railroad on the last lap in the run to Chicago. It was expected that they would arrive here shortly after noon.

The French and Italian cars which were stranded at New Carlisle, finally started today under their own power. The rain had changed the roads into sticky, slippery slush, making it hard for the cars to run. The farmers refused to give the foreigners a hand.

WIRELESS OPERATOR TELLS FISHY YARN

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Diego, Cal., Feb. 25.—A wireless operator employed on one of the steamer lines between Sitka, Alaska, and Seattle, who arrived here today, states that on the last trip down the coast a passenger filed a telegram addressed to his wife, aboard the steamship Campania, several hundred miles at east on the Atlantic ocean, and received a reply in less than three hours. The message was sent to a shore station on the Pacific coast, transmitted across the continent by wire and then flashed to the French liner at sea.

The feat is unique in the history of wireless telegraphy.

SEARCH FOR RICH GERMAN'S FORTUNE

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 25.—Believing that Bernard Graass, the eccentric German bachelor, who died in the United States hotel Monday, buried $60,000 in gold on a ranch at the head of the San Fernando valley, several men who knew the old man have decided to dig for the supposed fortune.

Although it is known that Graass made thousands of dollars out of bees and speculation, only $300 of his money was found in a safety deposit box following his death. He died intestate and his property, valued at $12,000, is in charge of the public administrator.

Graass lived on a bee ranch for 30 years and often came to Los Angeles.

BIG LEDGE OF PURE COPPER IN MONTANA

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Helena, Mont., Feb. 25.—The first discovery of virgin copper in large quantities ever made in Montana, according to prominent mining men, has been made only a short distance from this city in a claim owned by residents of Dillon, Butte and Sunset. The property is situated between Helena and Winston. The lead was discovered several days ago at the 80-foot level, and a close investigation revealed a vein of 3½ feet of nearly solid native copper. A large dump of the ore exhibited in Helena and Butte created a decided sensation in mining circles. When it was learned that the copper was unalloyed and that there was an abundance of it "where this came from" the surprise was all the more pronounced, and especially in Butte. The property gives every indication of becoming one of the leading copper producers of the state.

REUTERDAHL WILL AGAIN TRY KNOCKING

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Callao, Peru, Feb. 25.—Henry Reuterdahl, the marine artist, who is accompanying the fleet and whose criticisms of the alleged defects in the United States navy have caused such widespread comment, will make no reply to his critics so long as he is a guest of the fleet.

He says, however, that he will reply specifically to all of them immediately upon his arrival home.

Famous Peds in Six-Day Grind.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 25.—More than a score of pedestrians of established reputation, representing half a dozen nationalities, started here yesterday in the six-day walking match arranged by the Missouri Athletic club. The contestants will walk 12 hours a day, and the match is advertised as a world's championship event.

Among the contestants are David Hartley, a famous Canadian long-distance walker; A. L. Corney of Chicago, champion 100-mile runner of the world; W. A. Hoagland of Auburn, New York, champion six-day walker, and Henry O. Messier of Milwaukee, one of the famous old-time pedestrians.

Has Entertained Millions.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

New York, Feb. 25.—The Eden Musee, one of the familiar landmarks of West Twenty-third street, was decorated with a lavish display of flags and bunting today in celebration of its silver jubilee or twenty-fifth anniversary. The place of entertainment was opened a quarter of a century ago, when the wax works shows were enjoying the sunlight of popular favor. Within a few years almost every city of consequence in America had its "musee," but the institution in West Twenty-third street stands today almost the sole survivor of the legion, all the rest having fallen victims to the fickleness of the novelty-loving public.

"Great Day At Lima"

Our "jackies" tarried yesterday at Lima in Peru,
And the populace decided that the boys should not get blue,
So they gave them some "amusement" —some fascinating "sport"—
'Twas "exciting," 'twas "ecstatic," is the telegraph report.

A herd of bulls were led into a large, a spacious ring,
Then jabbed with spears and pitchforks till they made the welkin ring;
When one toward a matador with lightning speed did dart,
And instantly impaled him with his horn thrust through his heart.

Another had his windpipe from its moorings torn away,
And still another's liver was bestrewn along the way;
And "ladies," too, enjoyed the "grand," the "dear," "ecstatic" sport;
At least this is the story in the telegraph report.
