

EVERY WOMAN WILL LOOK FOR FASHIONS

Oregon Sunday Journal of March 22 Will Supply Women Readers With Greatest Spring Styles Edition Ever Published in West.

(From the Oregon Sunday Journal.)
March 1.
Woman's sphere is her home and enjoyment of it is her greatest pleasure. But there are other pleasures that women seek and these have been her special right for centuries. Woman loves the fashions and likes to "play the game." A well-dressed woman is fair to look upon and all women should dress well—within their means. Latter-day fashions provide for all manner of purses, the fat and the lean, the purse of the rich and the poor. No woman is so poor that she cannot take interest in what to wear and even if she has not the money to purchase she enjoys reading about what others who have money can buy.

The proper way to know how to dress is to find out from experts who make a specialty of following the fashions. This is not always a costly method, within the reach of every woman, therefore she must look to her newspaper, her weekly or daily, for information. With this knowledge in mind the Sunday Journal has arranged to present its women readers with a special 12-page section of fashions in the Sunday issue of March 22 that will be the finest fashion number ever attempted in this part of the country, no expense being spared to make it complete in every detail and something that every woman reader of the Journal will regard as a decidedly valuable companion during the approaching season.

Just at this season of the year, when winter is all but ended and spring not quite begun, women all over the world have a common interest—the great universal feminine interest—in the question of Dame Fashion's newest and smartest offerings for the coming season. What will be the trend of the correct style of gown? Or what cut and pattern the very smartest of spring coats and suits? Just what deuces will the Parisian and New York milliners issue for the spring millinery, and what will be the nattiest, most up-to-date thing in the shape, color, tone and trimming of the Easter hat?

The Sunday Journal has a surprise in store for its women readers. It will answer all the above questions in many more. It will answer them, not only in the fullest and most satisfactory detail that can be given in print, but it will illustrate them with beautiful large-sized, especially posed photographs—19 splendid pages of these and such photographs accompanied by a complete description of the garment which it illustrates. These photographs, through a special arrangement which the Sunday Journal has been able to make exclusively, come straight from Paris, and were secured by skillful management and at great expense direct from the shops of the world's greatest fashion designers. They were used for beautiful models in the employ of the great Parisian houses of fashion, attired in the pattern hats, gowns, blouses, etc., from which the modistes, outfitters and milliners of the world take their cues.

An Advance Publication.
By this special and exclusive arrangement made by the Sunday Journal it will be able, not only to clearly describe and beautifully illustrate the coming spring fashions in a manner never before attempted by any newspaper in the northwest, but it will be able to do so in advance of all other publications. Even the standard fashion magazines and periodicals upon which the women of the United States have come to rely will not be able to handle the subject of spring fashions so fully and comprehensively, and because of their lack of equipment for such an undertaking they will not be able to get to press with these offerings for at least two months after the Sunday Journal has exploited them.

Your grocer returns your money if you don't like Schilling's best; we pay him.

A separate and special section, comprising of 10 full pages, each showing from 4 to 15 illustrations, will be issued by The Sunday Journal to cover this all-important subject for The Journal's readers.

Watch for This Special Fashion Number.

It will be issued on Sunday, March 22, and will be a part of the regular Sunday edition of The Journal. By subscribing before that date you will have this really wonderful fashion guide delivered with the regular Sunday Journal as your dues. That will be on March 22, far in advance of any other authoritative publication on spring styles and in ample time for you to plan your spring wardrobe, to study out the spring work for your seamstress and to select the materials which will be correct for the spring suits, frocks, blouses, etc., for all the feminine members of your family.

Here are some of the good things which may be looked forward to by The Journal's women readers in this special fashion number March 22:
A cover design in three colors and black by Lyman Bayon, one of the foremost of American illustrators, who drew the design especially for The Sunday Journal in its Parisian adaptation to cover design itself, besides being an exquisite picture, is eloquent with suggestions in Parisian styles and tones.
A full page, with splendid illustrations, by Jeanette Hope, America's leading fashion designer, showing the latest modes in Parisian styles as adapted to the needs and demands of the American woman.

A second supplementary page by Miss Hope, entirely devoted to the Paris modes in gowns for formal wear, adapted artistically but practically to the personality of the American woman. The other half is given over to illustrations and descriptions of all the latest and smartest things in Parisian neckwear. From these pictures every woman reader can glean a dozen new ideas about fixing up her stock of dainty collarettes and other neckwear which mean so much to the whole appearance.

A full page of the latest American spring and summer gowns, artistically illustrated in photographs. With this goes a secondary feature of the best things in children's fashions for the coming season from the French and American designers.
A full page of new Paris suits, right up to the minute, being illustrated by photographs from the famous Parisian houses of Redfern, Drecoff, Ney Sisters, and half a dozen other exclusive designers of the French capital. These photographs (as well as all the Parisian photographs used) will reach us just in time to get them out on the promised date; we have arranged it so, in order that we will be able to set before our readers the latest up-to-date secondary feature of the nattiest of American suits for the spring, with excellent photographs to illustrate.

New Fashion Gowns.
A full page of the new Parisian gowns for evening and more formal wear—creations that will be copied by every American dressmaker that sees them and which will set the pace for the summer resort places of the country. A secondary feature will be a set of new designs for the coming season, and every one of them important and interesting to our women readers.
There will be one full page devoted to embroideries, with hundreds of useful hints for dainty needlework; new designs and patterns in all kinds of needlework. This feature in itself will prove a rich source of information for the home-loving woman.

There will be two pages devoted to things too numerous to mention, but every one of them important and interesting to our women readers.
The back cover, which is to be done artistically in three colors, will be devoted to millinery. None but the newest and greatest of the world's greatest milliners will be given. Soon you will observe that the local milliners will be displaying in their show windows hats patterned after the same models from which they secure our photographs for their clients. It was no easy matter to secure these photographs; in fact they were only secured by the exercise of the greatest diplomacy. Among the great milliners to be represented in this collection of pictures are Lewis, Virot, George, Suzanne, Talbot, Mareau, Soeur, and others whose names mean so much.

How the Sunday Journal managed to arrange for this splendid and comprehensive illustrated section of advance spring and summer fashions, would make a story in itself. Through its eastern connections, the Sunday Journal was able to work out the idea after much scheming and hustling. American and Paris representatives were both kept busy for weeks, and the work is not yet done; but arrangements are now so nearly complete that The Sunday Journal is now able to announce the date of issue as March 22. This information, and these photographs were obtained through agencies not open to any publications except those with which we are associated, and The Sunday Journal will publish the section exclusively in the northwest. The contents of this splendid fashion section will be far and away ahead of the material to be published in the April and May numbers of the publications devoted to women's fashions.

To the woman who reads this, let us say that if your family is not already on the list of our subscribers, you should make time to subscribe at once. This exceptional offering is not the only good feature of interest to women contemplated by The Journal. We have made it a cardinal principle to study the needs and desires of our women readers, and our big surprise spring feature is one of the surest many good things in store for them. Remember the date, Sunday, March 22.

Weak Heart Action

There are certain nerves that control the action of the heart. When they become weak, the heart action is impaired. Short breath, pain around heart, choking sensation, palpitation, fluttering, feeble or rapid pulse, and other distressing symptoms follow. Dr. Miles Heart Cure is a medicine especially adapted to the needs of these nerves and the muscular structure of the heart itself. It is a strengthening tonic that brings speedy relief. Try it.

"For years I suffered with what I thought was stomach trouble, when the doctors told me I had heart trouble. I had tried many remedies, when the Dr. Miles' Almanac came into my hands, and I concluded to try Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. I have taken three bottles, and now I am perfectly well. I can do all my usual work, and I write this in the hope that it will attract the attention of others who suffer as I did."

JABOUR SELLING OUT.

Lease of Portland's Famous Rug Man Expires April 1.
The lease of George Jabour, the famous oriental rug dealer, Seven and Washington streets, expires April 1 and until the close of March he has decided to sell his beautiful stock (the largest and best on the Pacific coast) at figures below the cost. He has offered the public Mr. Jabour has held sales in the past few months that have been a revelation, but it is safe to say that the prices made during March will be the most attractive ever made. He states that everything in his store must go, so that he will be prepared to vacate by April 1. We predict that Seventh and Washington streets will be a most busy corner for the next few weeks.

Intercollegiate Oratory.

St. Paul, Minn., March 2.—Student oratory is to be given a free vent in the People's church in this city tonight, the occasion being the annual contest of the Intercollegiate Oratorical association of Minnesota. The colleges to be represented in the contest are Gustavus Adolphus college, Macalaster college and Hamline university.

ROSEBURG SETTLES LIGHT CONTROVERSY.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Roseburg, Or., Mar. 2.—The city council committee on light and water has effected a settlement of the dispute over the bill for the city light on which E. A. Kendall, representing J. L. and S. Kendall, owners of the water and light system, had threatened to sue the city. A mutually satisfactory agreement was reached. Mr. Kendall assured the city that he would assist in every way possible the upbuilding of the town. He says as soon as the city is ready to begin paying he will reinforce the water mains so that they will be sufficient for the water supply for years to come. He also says he will open a large lumbering mill here as soon as the financial situation as regards the lumber business assumes a more favorable aspect. Mr. Kendall will leave for Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, soon. It is hoped that one effect of his visit there will be the bringing of more capital to Roseburg.

Rev. Bauer Blames Espee for West Side Wreck—Day of Curbing at Hand.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Mar. 2.—The Southern Pacific in particular and the Illinois Steel corporation and the other trusts and illegal combinations in general were severely denounced by Rev. Philip Bauer, pastor of the First Congregational church of this city, in his talk before the Young Men's Christian association of this city yesterday afternoon. The lecture was given by Rev. Bauer and his pastor, and the pastor urged on his hearers the necessity of getting "honest dominion." "I mean honest dominion, not like these enormous combinations which have more than they have a right to and which are going to be curbed," he said. "As a remedy for the evil, Dr. Bauer suggests the political education of the people."
"The people are gradually getting educated to politics and how to handle these illegal corporations, and the latter are going to be curbed. This Southern Pacific company which has had the state of Oregon in its grip, has got to be broken up. This is the worst service in the world on this west side road, on which they run bobbing, uncomfortable cars, which would not be tolerated in any other part of the country."
Particular attention was called by the speaker to the Forest Grove wreck of a short time ago, as follows:
"The Southern Pacific company, I believe, are responsible for the accident, owing to the faulty construction of the road."
Dr. Bauer has but recently been appointed pastor of his church in this city, and this is his first public expression of his feelings regarding the great corporations.

STATEMENT NO. 1 NOT FOR THEM

Douglas Republican Central Committee Calls It Dangerous Thing.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Roseburg, Or., March 2.—At a convention of the Republican central committee of Douglas county here Saturday Statement No. 1 was unanimously denounced in the following resolution:
"Resolved, That we, the Douglas county Republican central committee, regard Statement No. 1 of the direct primary law as a cumbersome, expensive and unwise method of nomination, as destructive to a representative form of government, and we therefore condemn it as being dangerous, unwholesome and not conducive to good government or proper representation by the people."
This resolution is handing the lion to all of the Republican candidates from Douglas county, as they are all supporters of Statement No. 1.
The political outlook for the coming election is not taking form very fast in Douglas county. There have been a few announcements, on both the party tickets and this week will probably bring forth a few more.
The Democratic central committee will meet this week.
At present there are three Republican candidates for sheriff and none on the Democratic side. The strongest fight will be for sheriff and clerk.

PASTOR ARRAIGNS RICKETY RAILWAY

PROBLEM FOR MATHEMATICIANS

A correspondent asks for a solution of the following problem: "I buy a house and lot for $2,500, on which I make a cash payment of $300 and agree to pay $60 every three months until property is paid for, interest at 6 per cent on deferred payments. The interest is also paid quarterly. How long will it take to finish paying the debt, how much will the interest be reduced annually and how much interest will accrue during the whole period?"
The real estate editor confesses that the problem is too much for him, and respectfully refers it to Portland's mathematical experts.

Chance to Own a Town.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
St. Ignace, Mich., March 2.—Any person possessing a desire to own a town, coupled with the necessary hundred thousand dollars or so to make the purchase, has the opportunity to satisfy the want today at the town of Marlborough, near this city. The entire town, which represents the remains of a disastrous project of eastern capitalists to make cement and dollars out of the vast deposits of marl in this vicinity, is to go under the hammer at receiver's sale. More than $1,000,000 was expended on the project. In addition to the remains of the village, the sale includes several machinery plants a railroad and thousands of acres of land.
