Through diplomatic channels the foreign office has conveyed to the mikado the word that a war or even armed demonstration at this time would be exceedingly unpleasant and displeasing to Great Britain.

Though the note is carefully penned, so as not to give the slightest offense to Japan, Great Britain's ally, it is believed here that it will have the desired effect, and that Japan will now be more lenient in her demands.

Pekin, March 10 .- A supplementary ultimatum was today served on the Chinese councillor, Yuan Shi Kai, by the Japanese foreign minister, Hayashi, in which the Pekin government is to be given two more days in which to surrender the steamer Tatsu Maru, held by the Chinese as a contraband ship. The ultimatum does not state what Japan will do at the end of the two days but the inference and the gen-

Congressman Hawley, being on a trip to Oregon to register when this was done, was not consulted about the resolution and knew nothing about the matter until he saw it reported in the papers. He said further:

Christiania, Norway, March 10 .- In a daring attept to assassinate King Haakon today, 10 rifle shots were fired through a window of the royal palace into a room which was supposed to be occupied by his majesty. The king and entire royal family escaped by a narrow margin. The conspirators were disguised as laborers. They gained admission to a garden surrounding the palace, from which position they boldly opened fire with sawed-off carbines on what they thought was the royal chamber.

Guards heard the shooting and rushed in time to capture three of the m, on which they found 50 additional cartridges.

Investigation by the police revealed that two of the three men arrested for attempting to kill King Haakon were laborers who had nothing to do with the outrage. The third, the man who fired the shots, is a Swede, who refuses to disclose his name. The police are uncertain whether he is a Terrorist or a lunatic, but are inclined to believe his mind has become unbalanced by brooding over the separation of Norway and Sweden. cartridges.

San Francisco Monumental Liar in Reply to the Charges of Defense-Trying to Win Sympathy.

Judge Believes Woman Was Prosecutor Declares Lawyers for Defense Are Crooked and That at No Time Was Ruef Promised Complete Freedom.

> (United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, March 10 .- The

most startling affidavit ever filed in the fight being waged to send Abraham Ruef and Eugene Schmitz to prison has been prepared by Prosecutor Heney and becomes a part of the mass of court records today. The document reviews the methods of the defense and points to Ruef as a monumental liar, besides exposing the alleged duplicity of the defendants' attorneys.

Heney, who has spent many days in preparing the affidavit, files it as an answer to the many accusations alleged to have been made against the prosecution by Ruef and his counsel and as a response to attacks that have been made, Heney says, to win public sentiment from the side of the state.

Some of the most important points raised in the affidavit follow:

That Ruef had never been promised complete immunity from punishment, but was given to understand that he must accept sentence for extertion. That Supervisors Wilson and Gallagher approached Ruef at the little St. Francis and discussed immunity with him without the knowledge or authorization of Langdon or Heney.

That Rabbi Nieto himself declared that he believed Ruef should receive some punishment for his crimes, and that he agreed with Heney that the district attorney should retain the power to sentence Ruef at any time if Ruef falled to keep his agreement.

That Ruef himself prepared a draft of a proposed immunity contract, which Heney absolutely refused to consider. That Henry Ach and Rabbis Nieto and Kaplan held several secret conferences with members of the prosecution in Heney's office, gaining entrance by a back door.

That Ach, attorney for Ruef, freely admitted Ruef had no chance to escape conviction in some of the bribery cases, and urged his client to accept the best he could get from the prosecution.

That Ach demanded his own part in advising Ruef to turn state's evidence be forever kept secret on the ground that Ruef would implicate close friends of some of his own clients and so ruin his business.

That the famous "midnight meeting with Judges Lawlor and Dunne was suggested by Rabbi Nieto, and that no promise to dismiss the cases against Ruef was exacted from either jurist.

mine the legality of an elisorship were dismissed because Ruef feared he would be killed by hired assassins of the "higher ups" if placed in custody of Sheriff O'Neil, and withdrew his petition to avoid this possibility.

One of the principal points advanced by Heney is that during all the negotations leading to the drawing of his immunity contract Ruef had never been promised complete immunity.

Four Frisco Highbinders Sent to Portland to Kill Chinese Who Have Been Marked for Slaughter-Chinatown Uneasy.

Police Watch All Incoming Trains for Hatchetmen-Posters Order Outsiders to Keep Hands Off-Intended Victims in Hiding.

Chinatown rests on a powder mine of onspiracy to murder.

Hired gunmen and the professional killers of the Bow On tong and highbinder societies are posted throughout the district and no man who wears a vellow skin counts his life safe from one moment until the next.

The killing of Lee Tal Hoy Saturday night was the outward and visible evidence of a blood feud that was declared several weeks ago and by which four men, all prominent members of the Chinese colony, were marked down for slaughter. These men, against whom the sentence of death was passed, are Lee Tai Hoy, Chen Hung, Lee Ming and local gunmen in carrying out the death sentence. It was decreed that Chen Hung should be the first to be killed and for more than a week the hired killers shadowed their intended victim in an effort to catch him off his guard and thus give them an opportunity to earn the $500 blood money offered for his life.

But Hung had been warned in advance, knew of the dispatch of the gun men from San Francisco and their arrival in Portland, and only ventured on the streets during the daylight hours, and then only in company with paid guards.

have been given to search all trains arriving from the south during the next few days. It is believed that the San Francisco Chinese will leave that train at some point outside of Portland and attempt to make their way into the city by little traveled routes.

A sample of the warning message received from friends in San Francisco by the men under sentence of death is the following long distance telephone message received here on March 1:

"How On Tong two people gone to catch Chung Poo. Tell them he has gone out of the country. He got out last night.

(Signed) "SAM CHUNG LONG."

Waiting to Kill Victims.

Waiting to Kill Victims.

An interpretation given this message is that two members of the Bow On Tong had started for Portland for the purpose of killing Chung Poo, and that an attempt should be made to blind them by telling them that Chung Poo had left the country.

Chung Poo immediately went into hiding, and although the story of his having left the city was circulated in Chinatown it did not serve to hoodwink the men who had been sent to slay him. They are stril in Portland and are still awaiting an opportunity to sam the price that has been set on the head of Chung Poo.

Other letters and telegrams are in existence that demonstrate beyond doubt that a widespread conspiracy exists to murder at least four persons. One of these men has already baid the penalty and unless the feeble effort now being put forth by the police and thorities prove effective the others will he doubt fail victims of the hatchelmen.
