UNUSUALLY TALL PERSONS HERE FOR SHORT VISITS

There seems to be an "epidemic" of tall persons in Portland today. One of them is G. E. Morley of New York, who sells fire hydrants and other fire-fighting apparatus. Mr. Morley is one of the highest traveling men in the country. He is at the Oregon. Mr. Morley is seven feet in height if he is a foot. Wherever he goes he has difficulty in finding a bed long enough for him to sleep in. Pullman berths are altogether too short, so Mr. Morley travels only during the daytime. About 60 cents a gallon, when in fact it is impossible to produce maple syrup for less than about 80 cents. The syrup sold therefore by the firm is a mixture and therefore contrary to the pure food law. It is also pointed out that one packing company in the city is now selling what it represents to be pure leaf lard in quantities that equal about ten times the output of the plant for that product. Druggists in the city are preparing preparations which belie the labels and are therefore contrary to the law. Altogether there is a vast number of things now on the market in Portland and throughout the state which are sold in violation of the pure food law, so it is claimed. Acts as Judge and Jury. In addition it is said that Commissioner Bailey has a system of short

ANNA AND SAGAN SAIL TOMORROW

Madame Gould and Prince Engage Passage on Liner for United States. (United Press Leased Wire.) Paris, March 10.--Madame Anna Gould, former wife of Boni de Castellane, will sail for New York city tomorrow on the Kron Prinz Wilhelm. A passenger on the same boat will be the Prince de Sagan, acknowledged suitor for Madame Gould's hand, and according to rumor, already her husband. Passage for both was engaged today by Prince de Sagan. Last night detectives who had been watching all the steamship lines were suddenly withdrawn. Paris is puzzled. It was believed that Count Boni would attempt to restrain his former wife from leaving the country with her two sons. It was certain that Boni's detectives were watching the Gould home. The fact that Boni suddenly dropped out of the incident has strengthened the
