KISS DELAYS OCEAN LINER
Sweethearts' Parting Smack Lasts Second Over Three Minutes.

New York, March 10.—The Merry Garden kiss, the "Dream Waltz" kiss and all other famous kisses of lengthy duration were left at the post when the real "soul kiss" was exemplified on the gang plank of the steamship Touraine of the French line which delayed the steamer from sailing a second over three minutes. It was the time of the prolonged smack.

The order had been given to draw in the gang plank and the French girl leaped a dainty and pretty French girl leaped from a taxi cab and dashed for the steamer. She had run midway up the gang plank when she noticed the preparations to depart, and she paused and cried, "Francis!"

The form in the person of a goodlooking young Frenchman answered her cry from the steamer, and they were in each other's arms before any of the crew could prevent them from leaving for Commercial Club bldg., 6th and Oak sts.

Persons aboard the steamer and on the pier stopped waving and adieu to the crew ceased shouting, while the captain forgot to give any further orders and simply gazed at the kiss on the gang plank. The Frenchman was the only one who retained his presence of mind and at the start had exclaimed, "Oh, I cannot stop the steamer!"

With watch in hand he had been directing the departure of the big steamer. He kept one eye on the swaying couple and the other on the watch as it ticked off the seconds.

"One minute," he murmured softly to himself, "two minutes," he later whispered, but the hands of the watch he could not repress his agitation as he almost shouted "three minutes!" The captain was evidently heard by the "soul kiss" and his pretty sweetheart, for a second later they unwound themselves from their embrace and the luscious kiss was over.

Silence—utter silence—had greeted the kiss until its completion, so deeply engrossed were the thousands of onlookers, but as the young couple parted the spell was broken and lusty cheers broke forth from the passengers, crew and crowd on the pier.

He face a blushing scarlet, the young woman tripped down the gang plank, radiantly happy while her companion darted back onto the Touraine, breathing heavily from the exertions of his ecstatic farewell.

The steamer was immediately cast loose and the other on the pier kept waving his hat to his sweetheart on the pier until he disappeared from sight down the bay.

It is the first time on record that a kiss has delayed the sailing of a European steamer. Orders have been issued by the French line officials to be vigilant and prevent a repetition of the "soul kiss" around sailing time.

EXPLORERS FIND CARVED CLIFFS
Face of Great Wall of Rock Covered With Chiseled Figures.

Fort Smith, Ark., March 12.—For years there has been a legend current in the Boston mountains and throughout the northwestern portion of Arkansas of a lost mine. The legend had its origin in Indian tradition. Many have explored the canyons and cliffs north of Mulberry, and there are men who for many years have devoted their lives to the exploration of that region, where are found the most rugged mountain formations in the state.

Among the firm believers in the hidden treasures and weird history secrets of the Boston mountains is a noted mountain character who has devoted the last 20 years of his life to prospecting and exploration—A. B. Sloane, whose home is 18 miles north of Mulberry, and who is known in all that section as "the Cave Man."

Mr. Sloane is at present in Fort Smith with a remarkable collection of the most peculiar and interesting cave and rock formations. He also has some samples of vari-colored marble, which he declares there are great ledges in the canyons of the Boston mountains, 20 miles north of Mulberry.

Another man who has often joined him in these exploration trips is Dr. Hill of Mulberry. Dr. Hill is also an enthusiast on the subject of the cave and other remarkable formations in that vicinity. One of the peculiarities of the region is described by them as a cliff 100 yards long and 40 feet high with perpendicular face which bears evidence of the handiwork of men of two or more centuries ago.

Animals and Birds.

Mr. Sloane tells of discoveries made during two years of work in uncovering the most interesting formations. He and Dr. Hill found great faces of the formation which had been chiseled into figures of animals, birds, etc. In other portions they found what appeared to be Masonic symbols and keys, coffins and other figures found carved in the stone. Along the base of the cliff, in the crevices and other places, were found pieces of stone and cement ages ago, they found counterparts of the symbols cut in the walls above. In going deeper at one point they broke through into a cave which had evidently been sealed up ages ago.

Mr. Sloane's stories of the mysteries and fascinations of the cliffs and canyons of the Boston mountains are most interesting. "He has in view the hope of interesting his fellow men in the collection and in the explorations in the Boston mountains, and will go to Little Rock and the handiwork of men of two or three centuries ago."

FATHER FALLS DEAD AT ILL SON'S BEDSIDE
Overexertion of Restraining Alcoholic Patient Kills Old Parent.

New York, March 12.—John J. Jaycox, 65 years old, of Binghamton, was bending over the bed in which his son, Fred B. Jaycox, was having a convulsion at the latter's home, 42 Grove street, this city, today, when the father began to gasp for breath. He went to a rear room and toppled over dead.

When the wife and the daughter-in-law of Mr. Jaycox came upon his body they began screaming. A policeman went to their assistance, and after sending for an ambulance he had all he could do to control the son, who had become violent.

At the hospital it was said that Jaycox was suffering from alcoholism.

FINDS SILK GARTER IN HIS PACK OF TOBACCO
But Married Man Declines Invitation to Find the Mate.

Pottstown, March 13.—Pretty, beribboned and of red silk is the garter Edward B. Trout, a tinsmith, found in a fresh pack of smoking tobacco today.

On the garter was a card which said: "If you want to know the wearer, apply at the Miller cigar factory, Pottstown, Pennsylvania, and you will see the mate."

This suggestion to see the mate has not been acted on by Mr. Trout, as he is married and has several children. A leap year proposal this is said to be a large number of pretty girls are employed at the Miller cigar factory.

Mumps at Scappoose.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Scappoose, Or., March 13.—An epidemic of mumps is raging in this community. Nearly every family has one or more cases. It is feared the school will have to be closed. There are a few cases of bilious fever.

"BOWERY DEPEW" AT THE WHITE HOUSE
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Washington, March 12.—Tom Ronan, known as "the Bowery Depew," was presented to the president today by Representative Bennett of New York. The president and Tom are old friends, and the visitor reeled off a swift speech in his best vernacular.

Mr. President," he said, "I bring you greetings from the Bowery. Keep up your good work."

Then Tom recalled how he had written to Mr. Roosevelt while he was at Montauk Point, before he became governor, and asked him down to the Bowery to speak.

"You came and talked to us, Mr. President, d'ye mind, and some—Here Tom struggled hard to keep back a tear that would not sound well in the White House.

"Somebody stole your coat," the president said he minded all about it.

Live All Your Years A Perfect Man

The human body is most wonderfully and perfectly constructed. Each part is built equal to its task. Unless overburdened or attacked by disease, no organ falters. Nature intended that every man should live all his years a perfect man. Few men do. Most men can.

All men make mistakes. Some make mistakes in youth. Others make mistakes after they have grown to be men. Still others are merely unfortunate. Practically all diseases and disorders are the result of mistakes or misfortune.

The problem of living a perfect man is simple. Undo the injury that mistakes or misfortune have wrought. Then avoid both—live as nature built you to live.

UNDOING THE INJURY

I do not know how many thousands of men I have treated. I have been a specialist in men's diseases for 17 years. During most of these years my practice has been the largest of its kind upon the Pacific coast. During the several years of my practice it has been fully double that of any other specialist in the west treating men's diseases.

I have met with but few incurable cases. I have failed to cure in still fewer cases. In recent years I have failed in none. This is because I attempt to cure only those cases that feel confident I can cure, and as my experience has grown I have become able to determine curable and incurable cases with certainty. It is also because my skill in curing has grown and my methods of treatment have been perfected.

My Fee for a $10.00 Cure Is Only $10.00 In Any Uncomplicated Case

I Am Always Willing to Wait for My Fee Until a Cure Is Effected

WEAKNESS

No matter in what form those functional derangements commonly termed "weakness" may appear, the causative conditions are, in fully 95 per cent of the cases, very similar. I have given the closest possible study to this remarkably prevalent ailment and find that in practically every case of prematureness, etc., there exists at some vital point of the pelvic system a state of chronic tenderness, inflammation or congestion. My first step is a thorough examination to ascertain the exact location and nature of the disorder, after which, by a system of carefully directed local treatment, I restore the affected part to its normal condition, which promptly results in full and complete return of power. In perhaps less than 5 per cent of the cases do I find general impoverishment, lack of nervous energy or any other condition of complication requiring constitutional treatment. Therefore, I may safely assert that not more than one case in 50 can be permanently benefited by the use of tonics, stimulants, electrical or mechanical appliances, and that fully 49 cases in 50 will be aggravated by such methods of treatment.

My cures are positive, complete, thorough and permanent, because by my method the real and only cause of the functional weakness is totally removed. The knowledge gained by close study and observation in thousands of cases enables me to recognize the exact requirements and treat accordingly, and in years I have not failed in a single instance to accomplish the desired results.

VARICOCELE

Varicocele affects the veins of the spermatic cord. An average of one man in four suffers from this affliction. The muscular walls of the veins become weak and relax, the valves cease to perform their functions and local stagnation of the blood ensues. The first evidence of varicocele is usually a thickening, dilating, knotting and twisting of the veins on one or both sides, most frequently upon the left side, often accompanied by pains in the back, legs, thighs or chest and a sense of dragging the groin. Owing to the impaired circulation, a wasting away of the organs, accompanied by partial or complete loss of power, almost without exception follows in severe cases where treatment is neglected, and even slightly developed cases cannot fail to have a damaging influence upon the organs involved as well as upon the general health. Safety in all instances demands a prompt cure, for varicocele is a disease that increases in severity the longer it is neglected.

I cure varicocele without pain and without detaining the patient from business. I have cured over 3,000 cases without a single failure or unpleasant result. My treatment is original and has been developed through 17 years of practical experience. It restores the lost tone and elasticity to the weakened and dilated blood vessels, which results in normal circulation and reestablishes the natural processes of waste and repair throughout the vital system.

My special practice also includes Hydrocele, Stricture, Contracted Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, Nervous Debility and all Reflex Ailments.
