HACK AND GOTCH WRESTLE APRIL 3

Famous Russian Lion Is Not Giant Popular Conception Makes Him.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Chicago, March 14 .- In the Coliseum in this city on the night of April 3, George Hackenschmidt, the world renowned wrestler, will contest for the nowned wrestler, will contest for the world's championship title with Frank Gotch, the American champion. The bout has attracted attention on both sides of the Atlantic, and should prove the choicest tid-bit that has been of rered American followers of the game in years. The men will wrestle to a finish, the winner gaining two falls out of three and carrying off the lion's share of the gate receipts, besides a large side bet and the championship title.

Hackenschmidt, who is popularly known as the "Russian Lion," is not a stranger to America. He visited this country some years ago, meeting all comers and returning home with the scalp of Tom Jenkins, the American champion at that time dangling at his best. Since that time, however, he has added to his reputation by his continuous success on the padded mat until today he is regarded in Europe as invincible.

Hackenschmidt was born in Russia, Hackenschmidt was born in Russia day he is regarded in Europe as invincible.

Hackenschmidt was born in Russia, and received a liberal education. At college he became a great Graeco-Roman wrestler and defeated all the amsteurs he met. Afterwards he went to Paris and won all the tournaments there, including the international of Europe, and later turned professional. On his first visit to England he defeated Tom Cannon, then the champion Graeco-Roman wrestler of the world. In turn he defeated Anton Pierre, the "Terrible Greek," and Maërall, the celebrated Turkish wrestler.

Tom Jenkins, who then held the American title, went to England and challenged Hackenschmidt to a match. The Russian defeated him in the Albert hall in 19 and 21 minutes, respectively, in two straight falls. Hackenschmidt than toured America and Australia and defeated all comers.

Contrary to the popular conception Hackenschmidt is not a giant in stature. He is only 5 feet 8½ inches tail, and weighs in condition 210 pounds. He has a chest measurement of 52 inches, and wears a 22½ inch collar. His waist measurement is only 33 inches. His thighs are very heavy, and the calves of his legs also, but for ail this he is remarkably light on his feet.

Frank Gotch, who is picked upon as the most likely man to wrest the world's title from the Russian, is still comparatively young at the wrestling game. Not so rashy years ago he was working on a farm in Iowa. "Farmer" Burns owned the farm, and it was he who introduced Gotch to the wrestling game. It did not take Burns long to discover that Gotch was a born wrestler, and he proceeded to teach lifm the fine points of the game. The young man was raw at first, but before long he learned the science of the game, and began to attract attention.

In the course of time he succeeded in getting on matches with various wrest-he learned the science of the game, and began to attract attention.

In the course of time he succeeded in setting on matches with various wrestlers of prominence. Among the men he met were "Gripman" Rooney of Chicago, Leo Pardello, the Italian; Jim Parr, the Englishman; "Lank" Rogers and Fred Beel, the Wisconsin wrestler. Gotch shot through the bunch until he met Tom Jenkins, and then he stopped temporarily. Later he met and defeated the American champion, and then he made overtures for a match with Hackenschmidt.

up for the races, and the remainder of the entries are expected within a day or two.

The conditions surrounding the meet promise to be everything that could be desired. The races will be run on an 18 mile road course, just outside of Savannah. The course is a remarkable one, and of unequaled road conditions. There are two straight aways of about five miles each, over hard, finely surfaced roads, and wide enough for three cars to run abreast at top speed. Then there is a shorter stretch of river road and a winding causeway built over the

and this is the style in which the two will contest in their coming match. In the opinion of all who are competent to judge the meeting of these two warriors of the mat will furnish the most sensational and scientific contest of the kind that has ever taken place in America.
