Packing Establishment Does Not Want to Put Up Security Agreeing to Build Plant Talked of in South Portland.

Not satisfied with the hope of controlling Multnomah county's legislative delegation, the Hodson-Beach-Balley-Reed machine is laying its plans to grab the mastery of the direction of politics of the county by putting a full ticket in the field for precinct committeemen and electing them.

If this plan should be carried through the next city and county central committee would be in the hands of the Hodson machine, and the Republican party and its policies, so far as Multnomah county is concerned, would be absolutely under the direction of the Hodson leaders.

Machinists Steadily at Work.

Working with this end in view, the leaders of the Hodson-Beach-Balley-Reed machine are putting up men in every precinct in the county for the position of precinct committeemen. Members of the legislative elite and others connected with the management of the machine have personally sought out a large number of men and persons to become candidates before the primary.

In this work Ferdinand E. Reed, erstwhile manager of the Devil's municipal campaign, and who says he is the present manager of the campaigns of Senator Fulton, George S. Shepherd, Robert Morrow and the legislative elite of the Hodson machine, is particularly active.

Reed says he wants to be elected chairman of the city and county central committee. To be in line for the job he is himself a candidate for precinct committeeman from precinct 73.

Block System in Play.

Reed in order to fix himself solidly upon the political machinery of the city is now busy organizing his "block system" and also collating "organization," from which he is drawing down a handsome sum each month in campaign subscriptions from a large list of Portland politicians each of whom pay to him from $2 to $10 a month.

In order to gain these subscriptions he has prospective donors that he is managing the campaign of "Charles" Fulton, of George S. Shepherd for circuit judge, and of the Hodson-Beach-Balley ate for the legislature. He has charge of the task of circulating the petitions of these candidates.

In lining up his "organization," Reed tells those whom he goes after to stand in with him that he is going to be the king pin in the Hodson machine. He argues that the Hodson machine is about to elect the members of the legislature after the coming election. He therefore will be the chief "I" politically after the votes are counted in June.

The list of those who have announced their candidacy for precinct committeemen under the Hodson-Beach-Balley-Reed banner up to date are as follows:

The Machine's Members.

Precinct 1, Sanderson Reed, 1115 Thurman street; 2, D. D. Day, 785 S. W. 4th; 3, R. B. Lassell, 630 Upham; 4, Frank E. Freeman, 661 Kearney; 5, Lon De Yarmond, 103 Everett; 6, W. A. EVANS' CONDITION VERY SERIOUS

Intimated That "Fighting Bob" May Not Live to Reach Washington.

A late afternoon dispatch by wireless from Magdalena Bay, hearing on the story of Admiral Evans, page one of this issue, says:

Magdalena Bay, March 16.—(By United Press Wireless to San Diego)—It is unofficially announced that Rear Admiral Sperry of the Georgia will relieve Evans as soon as the commander-in-chief can be removed from the fleet. It is intimated that Evans may not live to reach Washington.

FACE GASHED IN SALOON BRAWL

Attorney Van Valkenburg Slashed by Lumberjack Lane at Silverton.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Silverton, Or., March 16.—With a gash on his face five inches in length, the result of a saloon brawl which occurred in Brooks brothers' saloon Saturday evening, Attorney M. J. Van Valkenburg is lying at his home in a serious, if not critical, condition. His assailant, a lumberjack named Lane, has made good his escape.

It is said Lane and his brother had been drinking considerably and were looking for trouble. Van Valkenburg, in company with ex-Senator L. J. Adams, entered Brooks' saloon upon their return from Salem, where they had been attending the Republican conference, and subsequently an altercation between Van Valkenburg and Lane ensued. Van Valkenburg is said to have also been somewhat under the influence of liquor and in resenting an insult from the lumberjack the latter drew a knife from his pocket and cut a gash in the attorney's face from his right ear to the extreme point of his chin. Four arteries were severed and the lower part of his face dropped down, exposing the jawbone. Van Valkenburg bled profusely. He was removed to the office of a local physician. The ensuing operation required 49 stitches. Had the knife struck half an inch lower Van Valkenburg would have been almost instantly killed.

No attempt was made to arrest the assailant until several hours after the affair, and he had ample time to make his escape. Officers have been in pursuit, but as yet Lane has not been apprehended.

Little is known of the Lanes in Silverton. There are said to be a number of lumberjacks living in this vicinity and one of them is married, but he is not supposed to have had anything to do with the dispute. Officers have been working in the lumber camps for the Silverton Lumber company and are said to have formerly lived at Portland, or near there.

DAY MARKS FALL WASH D SLIDE

Jewish Congregations Will Celebrate Deliverance of Race From Cruel Ruler.

Purim, one of the most joyous seasons in the Jewish year, which celebrates the deliverance of the Persian Jews from the plots of Haman, grand vizier to Xerxes, falls on March 17 this year, or the fourteenth of Adar, according to the Jewish calendar.

In the synagogues special services will be held. There will be recitations, singing and the reading of the book of Esther.

A play will be given by the children of the Congregation Beth Israel this evening at Muriak hall. A part of "Midsummer Night's Dream" will be given. Dancing will follow. At the orthodox synagogues there will be a service this evening at 7:30, and tomorrow morning at 7:30. At these services the book of Esther will be read. Feasting and rejoicing will follow, and gifts will be made to the children.

Churches to Observe Day.

The churches, which will observe the day are Congregation Ahavai Shalom, Park and Clay streets; Congregation Nevah Zedek Talmud Torah, Hall and Sixth streets, and Congregation Shaarei Torah, First street, between Hall and Lincoln.

It is in the orthodox synagogues and homes that the more interesting ceremonies take place, as the holiday is not generally celebrated by the reformed synagogues.

Haman, grand vizier to Xerxes, king of the Persians, was a hater of the Jews, and tried to persuade the king to order the death of all Israelites. Esther, the Jewish queen, frustrated his plans and her people were saved. The feast was instituted by Mordecai and Esther to commemorate the event. So, virtually, the synagogue ceremony is the reading of the book of Esther, called the "Megillah." This reads to one of the most curious ceremonies.

In the "Megillah" often occurs the name of Haman and his 10 sons. On the feast day, as the readers chant through the narrative, whenever these names are pronounced the congregations hiss, stamp with the feet and raise their voices, or noise-making contrivances. Some of the more orthodox write the name of the despised Haman on their foreheads, and at the name of Haman stamp vigorously on the floor as an additional contempt for the Persian tyrant.

One of the customs is "the sending of portions," or noise-making contrivances, are sent to one another. Cakes are baked in the shape of Haman, and are sent by the old to the young. The young reciprocate. The poor are made recipients of charity.

In the synagogues regular collections are made and the money so procured is distributed among the poor.

Traffic Will Be Demoralized for Days—Passengers Stormbound.

Pendleton, Or., March 16.—Eastern Oregon is without railroad facilities today on account of the rising of all streams from the heavy rain which have been falling for days. The last through train was Saturday night from Portland. The Umatilla river has raised nine feet and would have flooded Pendleton had not the levee lately been repaired. People living on the bottoms are being held here by the train blockades and some at La Grande. It is thought traffic will be blocked east for several days, as the greatest damage is between here and La Grande on the Mountain division. It is probable west bound trains may move tomorrow.

The rain has ceased and it is colder. It is believed the worst damage has already been done.

No trains are running between here and Walla Walla today. Five hundred feet of the threatened La Grande bridge at La Grande, 30 miles east of Pendleton, and at a point just east of Duncan 400 feet of track is covered from 8 to 10 feet deep under a landslide. Water from Meacham creek is pouring through the tunnel at Meacham and the track is badly damaged. West bound trains have been held out of Pendleton, east bound north. All available men have been hired to help clear the track.

The new steel bridge at Nolin, 10 miles west of Pendleton, is pushed out of line by the flood. A large force is at work trying to save the bridge.

The bridge on the Walla Walla river at foot of the threatened La Grande bridge is there to prevent further damage. Every engine and passenger train crew in Pendleton has been pressed into work train service. It is impossible to say when the track over the Blue mountains will be opened, as the water is still rising and further damage is certain. There has been no mail from east or west since Saturday morning.

It was reported that an abutment of the Cayuse bridge, 13 miles east of this city, is washed out and that the new steel bridge a mile west was threatened.

BURGLAR BLACK BLAMES HIS PORCINE PROCLIVITIES

G. H. Black, an egg candler, pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary in the municipal court this morning and was bound over to await the action of the grand jury. Black was arrested early yesterday morning after he had robbed the place of business of the La Grande Creamery, 264 Yamhill street.

This morning Black confessed that he had forced his way into the creamery Saturday evening. He found the safe in the office open and from it took $39 in cash. He spent a part of this money in the purchase of a pig, which he had conceived the idea of again visiting the place and making a further search for valuables.

On a second trip he found $2 in the drawer of the cash register. It was while he was rummaging through the place for more money that his presence was discovered by Special Watchman Robinson. The watchman notified Patrolman Barrow, who arrived on the scene and searched the premises, but Black had left the place and gone into hiding in a recent lot adjoining. He was found behind a pile of lumber at once. Captain Bailey, who had been notified, arrived on the scene and ordered a thorough search of the place. He served in the Norfolk Military academy. At the age of 18 years he entered the service of the United States government and was appointed to the Pacific coast survey. He served on the coast survey schooner Ewing.

His first trip into the Oregon country was made two years following, in 1851, to quell an uprising among the Indians of the Rogue river valley. He remained in the Oregon country for a year, but continued in the coast survey service and made a trip to the East Indies, and eventually back to the Atlantic coast. He served in the coast survey with the Pacific coast, he was made commander of the lightship Shubrick in 1858.

In 1867 Captain West came to Oregon to make this state his permanent home, having received the appointment of superintendent of the Willamette river improvements. He served in that capacity until 1873. From that time until 1882 he occupied the position of superintendent of locks at Oregon City until he was discharged. He then returned to the coast survey service and was made commander of the lightship Shubrick in 1888.

ROSS TRENDS NEW GUINOTTON IN CHECKMATE PLAN MAYOR'S HANDS

New demurrers in behalf of J. Thornburn Ross in the three cases charging him with misappropriating the state funds entrusted to the Title Guarantee & Trust company, and separate demurrers in behalf of T. T. Burkhardt and John E. Aitchison in the same cases, were filed in the circuit court this morning. The demurrers were filed by attorneys for the district attorney and the attorneys for the alleged bank wreckers entered upon another stage.

The demurrers filed by Carey & Kerr for Burkhardt and Aitchison are almost the same as were entered and sustained to the earlier demurrers. The demurrers were prepared with a view to remedying the defects pointed out by Presiding Judge Cleland, but the action taken today indicates that there will be another general attack on the form of the documents prepared in the district attorney's office.

Five grounds of demurrer are named by Carey & Kerr. First, that the information does not conform to the requirements of the statute concerning that form. This opens a wide field of possible argument. Second, that the acts charged as crimes are not clearly and distinctly set forth, so that the defendants may know the nature of the charges. Third, that the acts are not charged with such certainty as to enable the court to pronounce judgment according to the rights of the case. Fourth, that more than one crime is charged in the same information. Fifth, that the facts stated do not constitute a crime.

The demurrers filed by Wallace McCann as attorney for Ross are lengthy, covering only the first, second and fifth grounds above stated, except that in one of the cases, in which it is charged that State Treasurer Steel made demand for the return of the state's money, that it appears on the face of the information that the demand was made on a legal holiday and therefore at a time when the same could not lawfully be made. It is contended that the same could not be lawfully enforced.

Judge Cleland will fix a time for hearing and ruling on the demurrers. If these are overruled, the cases will be ready to set for trial. District Attorney Manning insists that the demurrers may be tried at the present term of court by holding the jury over until the last of the month. When he asks for the trial of the demurrers will be confronted by motions for change of venue, on the ground that the defendants cannot receive a fair trial in Multnomah county.

FOUGHT INDIANS ALONG ROGUE RIVER

Captain West, who died Saturday, was noted fighter in early days.

Captain Francis H. West, an early pioneer and Indian war veteran, a former military and civil engineer, died at his home on East Alder street, near Twelfth, Saturday night, after a lingering illness. Captain West is a descendant of a family of distinguished men, being a great-grandson of Colonel John Nixon of Philadelphia, a patriot of the revolutionary period.

Captain West was born in Fredericksburg, Virginia, June 10, 1832. He was educated in Fairfax institute and the Norfolk Military academy. At the age of 18 years he entered the service of the United States government and was appointed to the Pacific coast survey. He served on the coast survey schooner Ewing.

CALL STRIKE ON GOULD SYSTEM

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Denver, Colo., March 16.—A strike which threatens to spread to every railroad controlled by George Gould was declared today when the machinists in the western territory of the system walked out. Unless the trouble is adjusted this week every man in all trades of the maintenance departments of the Gould systems will lay down their tools.

The strike was precipitated by the action of Gould in violating the agreement providing for a closed shop and union wages. As soon as notice of the violation was announced the International Organization of Machinists sent out the strike order.

Salt Lake, Utah, March 16.—Four hundred men, employed in the shops of the Denver & Rio Grande, walked out at noon today following the notice of the action of the Denver machinists. Advice from Grand Junction says that a number of men employed by the Gould system there have also walked out.

Telegraphers along the various lines are still at their posts and the train crews are working in the hope that a settlement will be reached in Denver. It is predicted here that the operators and trainmen will be called out on all branches of the systems if Gould insists on enforcing the "open door" policy.

Three Trainloads of Passengers Involuntary Guests of City.

La Grande, Or., March 16.—The population of La Grande was augmented today by three trainloads of people from the east, who will be held here probably until late tonight. There has been no train from Portland since Saturday night. One and three quarters inches of rain has fallen and the Grand Cayuse river is very high. Employees at the Palmer mill worked all last night to save the pump house. The river is still rising and probably the current worked all Sunday and Sunday night to save the sidewalks in the western part of town.

JUDGE AGAIN RAPS ON WOOD

The so-called furniture trust, indicted and fined through the efforts of a federal grand jury last year, sustained another setback in the United States circuit court this morning when Judge Wolverson overruled the motions of the defendants in their attack on the sufficiency of the complaint and its allegations which had been filed against them by the Gilman Auction & Commission company.

SUCH AN APPLE, CALL NEVER SEEN BEFORE

Apples are cleaning up everywhere in the Pacific northwest. The supply is not a quarter of what the trade expected there remained and in consequence prices are stiffer, and in some instances already advanced.

Fancy fruit is selling freely around $2.25 and extra fancy rules between $2.25 to $3.50 a box.

The demand has been unusually great because of the low prices that had ruled since the flurry in the money market. People seemed to have money for apples, however.
