OREGON MEN CRY OUT UPON OBJECTORS TO GRANT LAND PROSECUTION.

Washington Bureau of The Journal.

Washington, D. C., March 17.—A telegram has been received here, signed by 19 of the most influential citizens of a southern Oregon town, saying, referring to petitions requesting amendment of the resolution asking for an investigation of the land grants: "The undersigned respectfully request that such objections are from those who purchased land in violation of the terms of the grant and they should be included in the scope of the government investigation."

CASE TO SETTLE FISHING RIGHTS

Crawford Wishes to Enforce Oregon Laws on Both Sides of Columbia.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Salem, Or., March 17.—A case of great importance to Oregon and Washington in regard to the amount of control each state has over the fishing in the Columbia river is being argued before the supreme court today.
The case, which is entitled the state against Price Nielsen, may go before the supreme court of the United States before a final decision is reached. Nielsen was arrested for fishing near Astoria in disobedience of a fishing law of this state.
It is the contention of Attorney-General Crawford that the state has the right to enforce the fishing laws of this state on both sides of the river and that Washington has a similar right to enforce their laws on this side, also. Says Crawford, there is no use in Oregon making fish laws or maintaining any hatcheries, the laws of Washington permitting the fishermen on the north side of the river to contract the good occasioned by our laws.
The question coming up at this time is particularly interesting because of the possibility of the passage of a law in this state at the election in June whereby fish wheels are prohibited in the upper Columbia, or of the passage of a bill prohibiting fishing on Sundays. Should either one, or both, of these laws go into effect the penalties are that the canner will make the passage and other fishermen, the laws of Washington permitting the fishermen on the north side of the river to contract the good occasioned by our laws.

ST. PATRICK'S FEAST OBSERVED AT BOSTON

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Boston, Mass., March 17.—There was a double celebration in this city today. Evacuation day and St. Patrick's feast being observed. The parade and other festivities in honor of the patron saint of Ireland were as elaborate as in previous years, but the ceremonies commemorating the evacuation of Boston by the British were not quite so elaborate as heretofore. It has been the custom of many years for the city to donate several thousand dollars toward the Evacuation day celebration, but the new Republican administration, which has been cutting down expenses all along the line, decided that the people could show their patriotism better than by expending large sums on parades and fireworks, and consequently the appropriation was cut down. Interesting exercises were held nevertheless upon the South Boston peninsula, upon which the British forces were encamped prior to their departure from the city.

JOHN BUCHANAN DIES OF CANCER

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Centralia, Wash., March 17.—John Buchanan, a merchant of this city, died Sunday of cancer of the stomach. The funeral will be held today from the Christian church. He was born in Illinois in 1832 and crossed the plains by team in 1852. He located at Eastport. Six years later he returned to Illinois and was married. He returned to the coast at once with his bride. The round trip was made by ox team. He came to Centralia 24 years ago and engaged in the mercantile business. He was married three times. Two adopted children survive. Two brothers and a sister live at Tacoma.

HOQUIAM POLICE WISH TO TEAR DOWN DESERTED BUILDINGS.

Special Dispatch to The Journal.

Hoquiam, Wash., March 17.—There is some discussion in police circles as to the advisability of destroying the buildings which are deserted at Grays Harbor City, as they have become a refuge for tramps and hoboes of all kinds and conditions. The county commissioners have been requested to give permission for the destruction of the buildings, but could only refer the matter to the owners of the structures, as they did not consider themselves empowered to give the required permission.
This little hamlet is about four miles west of Hoquiam and is a relic of the boom days of the early nineties. At that time it had a promising future, and people stood in a long line for hours and even days to get a chance to pay fabulous prices for the town lots. Some fine buildings were erected, as well as a number of residences, some of the stores being fitted with plate glass windows.
A one and a half mile long wharf built into the bay at which vessels stopped on coming in from California, and for a short time the little town flourished. But the wharf was not kept up and when the bottom fell out of the boom the town was quickly deserted. But two or three families live there now and one of the worst gangs of burglars ever troubling this section made it their headquarters until discovered and dispersed.

TOMATO GROWERS ARE WANTED BY CANNERS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Corvallis, Or., March 16.—The question now interesting the farmers and gardeners of this vicinity is, "Who will grow the tomatoes to supply the new cannery in Corvallis?" The cannery will be completed and ready for business May 15, and the manager is now ready to contract for a season's yield from 50 to 100 acres of tomatoes. The capacity of the plant will be 12,000 cans every 10 hours, but the trouble of sorting the many kinds of workers during the rush season, thus increasing the output of the plant to 24,000 cans per day.
The cannery company has ordered seeds, which are to arrive this week, and these seeds will be sold at wholesale prices to all who intend to grow tomatoes for the new cannery. In this way it is hoped to obtain a uniform crop of all varieties that are desired for canning purposes, which will save the trouble of sorting the many kinds that would certainly be offered if each grower purchased seed at random.
Inquiries have been received from several large farms in neighboring states, expressing a desire to handle the entire output of the Corvallis establishment. There are also numerous inquiries from all directions regarding available tracts of land from five to 40 acres in the vicinity of Corvallis. These facts are taken as an indication of the interest in the project and will have plenty of material on which to operate, but that the product will find a ready market abroad in case the state of Illinois and Oregon cannot demand, which has never yet been and probably will not be the case for several years at least.
Predictions are heard on all sides that land in this section, which is now selling at $30 an acre, will be sold for a very few cents, and hard to get at that, because, they argue, the Willamette valley is not yet saturated with land. The prediction is that the possibilities and that it is destined in the comparatively near future to be a land of small farms set with fruit and garden crops, with dairies and high-grade stock ranches.
The Corvallis cannery will employ about 75 persons, principally women and girls, and this will mean a payroll of no insignificant character to add to the business of the town.
Water E. Taylor has been elected manager of the cannery, and as he is an energetic and successful business man, the choice is popular.

MILWAUKEE RUSHES WORK NEAR TEKOA

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Tekoa, Wash., March 17.—Trainload after trainload of construction material is passing through Tekoa to Plummer on the Wallace branch of the O. R. & N., where the Milwaukee and the O. R. & N. connects. Some of the track is laid, locomotives and cars are expected soon and construction will be rushed with all possible speed. The Milwaukee expects to have trains running through here inside of six months. Several big cuts west of Tekoa are nearly completed, and this will complete all grading in the vicinity of Tekoa.

PLANS FOR FEDERAL BUILDING AT BAKER

Baker City, Or., March 17.—Plans for the first floor of the new federal building have been received by William Lachner, postmaster, from J. K. Taylor, supervising architect at Washington, district of Columbia, with a request that the same be examined closely by Lachner. Mr. Lachner recommended such changes as he may see fit, giving full and complete reasons for same.
As indicated by the drawings Baker City's federal building will be one of the most excellent structures of the northwest. The building will be about 40x90 feet, situated in a lot that is near 100x150 feet, thus giving plenty of space for parking, and a driveway in the rear for the stage and mail wagons.
While it has not been definitely settled what material will be used in construction it is expected that the structure will maintainance of steam railroads.

SCHOOL BOYS' CLUBS

Most of our ambitious young American girls work too hard at school.

Many teachers have little or no judgment about pushing a child beyond her endurance. They ought to know that girls especially have a danger period. Often, too often, utter physical collapse is the result, and it takes years and years to recover lost vitality.
Many a young girl has been helped over this critical period, and been prepared for a healthy womanhood by LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND.
Miss Elsie L. Hook, of Chelsea, Vt., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:
"I am only sixteen years old, but I want to tell you that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and your advice cured me of headache, periodic pains and sleeplessness, also of a nervous, irritable condition after everything else had failed, and I want to thank you for it."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?
Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

BREAKFAST WITHOUT COFFEE

might seem a hardship to some, but when the harm done by caffeine—the drug in coffee—is considered, its absence should be counted a good thing.

Another "good thing" is

the health-beverage, made from wheat, skillfully roasted to bring out the delightful flavour and the food-elements of the grain.

In making Postum the vital phosphates, placed by Nature up under the bran-coat of the wheat, are carefully retained for rebuilding worn-out brain and nerve cells.

Postum builds up what coffee tears down, and
