TODAY'S MARKETS

Despite All This Talk of Advanced Season Butter Is Higher This Year Than Ever and Firsts Are Much Shorter.

HEAVY DEMAND RULING FRUITS

Consumption Is Enormous at This Time—Apples, Oranges and Bananas.

Front street features:
Another advance in onions.
Potato shipments continued.
Slightly weaker in veal.
Several cars bananas in.
Orange market gains strength.
Higher prices in apples.
Asparagus is quite plentiful.
Mohair season is open.

Higher Prices in Apples.

The wonderful strength now being displayed by the local apple market is attracting much attention from the trade and all efforts of calamity howlers to put the market down have only resulted in putting it higher. Apples are getting scarce and stocks at this time are smaller than in recent years for this period. This is accounted for by the short crop elsewhere which caused such large sales of the surplus Oregon holdings to Europe and east of the Rockies. Since the financial crisis there has been a noticeable increase in the local consumption of apples—the low price at first attracting consumers but now the excellent quality is having its effect. Dealers are finding a ready sale for their best apples around $2.75 and there is talk among them of putting the extra select grades a notch higher. Even the cheaper grades are advancing in price, this influence being the one that helps the sale of the finer quality at the higher figures.

Fruit Taste Is Increasing.

Whether it is because the spring is here and that summer is well on its way or some other unaccountable reason, the public seems to be cultivating a great appetite for fruit of late. Apples, oranges and bananas are the only fruits in the markets, but for these the demand has been greater than the supply. More cars of oranges have recently been rushed to this market than for any like period in recent years. More cars are now rolling than for some time and yet practically every car has been sold by brokers and in turn have been sold by the jobbers to the retailers. Even with this there is more call than ever for oranges and a carload does not last the ordinary handler more than a day. Recently the commission trade got together and decided to order a larger supply of bananas than usual. Stocks of these have been very short recently because of the great shipping demand and almost every car is "marked up" as soon as being unloaded. One dealer received two cars this morning and another received one. All three were in fine shape, the fruit turning from a green condition to semi-ripeness. Price remains as previously quoted.

For oranges prices are daily advancing in the south but this is proving no check to the demand. The low prices that ruled for so long a period this season forced the public to consume more oranges than usual, the taste being continued to this time.

Slightly Weaker in Veal.

In the dressed veal meat markets along Front street the demand for veal is somewhat weaker, although there is a disposition among butchers to hold off their purchases for a longer period than usual of late. The price may be safely said to be ½c lower than formerly. For dressed hogs the market is quite steady but the trade will not pay more than 7⅛@8c for best stuff, the latter figure not being always obtainable.

Potato Shipments Continued.

While several shippers report a duller tone in the potato market, shipments continue to be made to Los Angeles and the southwest. The market is generally steady but prices are not showing much movement in the south. San Francisco is dull to steady with prices inactive. Local market is quiet but steady.

Chickens in Small Supply.

There is a very small supply of chickens along Front street and the market is holding generally firm around former quotations. For springs the call continues excellent and high prices are still the rule. There is quite a fair demand for hen turkeys but gobblers are not being sought and would scarcely pay to ship at this time. Best hen turkeys would sell today at 18@20c a pound for dressed.

Brief Notes of the Trade.

There is a continuance of a smelt famine in the local market. Plenty of salmon for awhile; stocks of fresh being good and storage very liberal.

Asparagus is in much larger supply and prices are ruling from 16c to 18c, according to quality.

A car of excellent celery was unloaded this morning. For best the price is at $4.75. Other grades in proportion.

WONDERFUL STRENGTH PUTTING UP ONIONS

Onions are showing a further advance of 25c per 100 pounds along Front street today. The top of the market is now at $3.50, although one or two dealers report $3.25 as top. Fancy quality is very scarce. Japanese onions are not holding up and dealers report them to be very inferior to ours. It is stated that but six cars of onions remain in first hands and of these most are held by A. J. Fanno, president of the Onion Growers' association. Dealers have a number of cars loading at country points which were purchased some time ago.

NORTH AND IDAHO BUYING OUR EGGS

So low has the price of Oregon eggs sunk at this time that we are able to outbid California and some shipments of fair quantity have been sent to the north and to Idaho points during the past 24 hours. While a dealer or two who may be overloaded with eggs would clean up to another jobber at 15c a dozen, the general price along Front street scarcely goes below 16c, although storage operators are making every effort to pull the props from under the market.

Foreign strength was the feature which carried the Chicago wheat market up at the opening today. The initial advance in Liverpool was ¼d but the closing price showed a net gain of ½d over yesterday's final. Chicago had a fractional gain after the opening, but failed to hold it and the market closed unchanged to a fraction under the opening or ⅛ to ¼c higher than yesterday's close.

Corn market was very firm and this market imparted some of its strength to the wheat market today. The close was nearly 1c higher than yesterday. Oats market was firm in Chicago with an advance of about ⅝c at the close. Pork was firmly supported on account of the better tone in hogs. May advanced to $12.50, a net gain of nearly 25c.

The Portland wheat market is quiet with prices firmly maintained with growers holding. Flour nominal.

Creamery Is Prosperous.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Klamath Falls, Or., March 18.—The monthly report of the Bonanza creamery shows that its 30 contributors furnished 6,471 pounds of cream and received $613.36, or an average of $20 each for the month of February. This is but the first year of the creamery, and the results have far exceeded expectations. A very prosperous season is expected, as the enterprise is no longer an experiment and the quality of the product of the creamery has been proved.

Take the Red Apple.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

La Grande, Or., March 18.—T. W. Clarke of Oregon City has purchased 75 per cent of the stock of the Oregon Red Apple company. The property consists of 240 acres of fruit land three miles north of the city. The tract is well improved. As it stands there are three thousand apple trees, three years old. Twenty Japanese have been employed to clear 50 acres in addition to that now set in trees, and plant high grade peach stock.

Cannot Get Clams.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Aberdeen, Wash., March 18.—The opening of the Sea Beach Packing company has been unavoidably postponed on account of the high tides, caused by the recent severe storm, which makes it impossible to get clams for the business. The cannery was scheduled to open this week for the season.

Dairying to the Front.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Monroe, Or., March 18.—Dairying is to be more extensively carried on this season than ever before. The roar of the thresher has almost given way to the hum of the cream separator, and a system of some kind for getting cream to the creamery is to be found on almost every ranch and farm in this vicinity.

Cargoes Are Inactive.

KILLERS HOLD PRICE OF HOGS

Are Not Disposed to Follow Any Late Advance Made in the East.

Portland Union Stockyards, March 18—Various conditions seem to have combined to stop receipts of livestock in the local yards at this time. The approaching sheep shearing season has stopped arrivals in that line and the blockade of the railroads is still complete as far as livestock shipments are concerned. President Daughtery is still up at Echo where he went after the recent storm because of the overflowing of his ranch there.

Packers here seem determined to hold the price of hogs in this market down to the last notch and are unwilling to recognise any advance in the eastern prices, especially as they purchased at a late date hogs that were laid down here around $5.25. They do not propose to encourage the raising of hogs if such encouragement cost them any money. The fact that hogs are firm and have recently advanced throughout the east is no concern of theirs, say the killers.

Mohair Season Is Opening.

Reports received during the past 24 hours indicate that goat shearing is well under way in several sections and that the quantity and quality are both encouraging. Goat men are not offering any of their product for sale at this time, all seeming to be awaiting the regular sales days. But two of these days have thus far been announced but other dates will probably be fixed during the coming week.

The entire livestock market is firm at this time, but trade is nominal and prices are showing no change whatever.

A year ago today all lines were firm although hogs were beginning to show an undercurrent of weakness.

Bureau of Animal Industry Getting Deputies for Work.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Pendleton, Or., March 18.—In preparation for the inspection work that is to be commenced April 1 by the bureau of animal industry, Dr. S. W. McClure is now gathering additional deputies for the inspection of all the sheep in the state. Dr. Paul Taylor of Tacoma is already here, and within a few days Dr. Wallis V. Glasyer of Seattle and Dr. Charles F. Bentager of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, will arrive. All are trained veterinarians. A force of 16 deputies will be placed in the field, mostly in eastern Oregon, and all bands will be inspected before shearing time. The only sheep that will be dipped are those affected with scab.

SHEARING THE GOATS.

Mohair Clip Shows Great Length and Quality Is Very Good.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Monroe, Or., March 18.—Goat shearing is now in progress in this locality. The Mohair is of splendid quality and of good length, due to the healthy condition of the goats. George Hall and E. Nye have secured a machine each, and are clipping a goodly portion of the animals, so that in most of the clip the hair will be in better condition than formerly.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR JUDGE HAILEY

His Old Associates of the Pendleton Bar Will Pay Tribute to His Memory April 13.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Pendleton, Or., March 18.—On Monday, April 13, the first day of the next jury session of court, the members of the Pendleton Bar association will hold a memorial service for the late Judge T. G. Hailey. Arrangements for this were made at a meeting of the bar association last evening.

The program will commence at 8 o'clock in the evening of April 13. Judge Lowell and Charles H. Carter will be the chief speakers. Remarks will be made by other members of the bar.

A committee was named to draft suitable resolutions of respect and condolence upon the death of Judge Hailey, while another committee was named to represent the bar association at the funeral at Portland today.

The death of Judge Hailey is deeply mourned by the members of the two fraternal orders to which he belonged, the Knights of Pythias and the Elks.

Entertainment at Y. M. C. A.

The Trans-Continental Trio company gave a novel entertainment at the Y. M. C. A. hall last night. Disappointment was expressed on account of the absence of Miss Helen Goff, but she was very creditably substituted by Dochh-Hoh-hh-Avochh, Alaskan Indian basso, a pupil of Mr. Boyer. Miss Maude Drake is a reader and impersonator of strong dramatic ability and charming personality. George Bartlett Cutter made a great hit.

This was the concluding entertainment of the series given under auspices of Young Men's club of St. James' Lutheran church.

Alleges Desertion.

James Grogan has begun suit for divorce from Bertha Grogan, alleging that she deserted him without cause on July 20, 1906. They were married at Thorp, Missouri, December 12, 1897.

STOCKS LOSE ON PROFIT TAKING

Some Severe Declines Are Made by Action of Long Holders.

Profit-taking of longs was the sole cause of the net losses for the day in New York stocks. U. S. steel dropped over a point for both the common and preferred, Atchison lost 1⅝, B. & O. 1⅝, Canadian Pacific a fraction, sugar ½, Missouri Pacific 1, Pennsylvania nearly 3, Reading 2 3-8, Southern Pacific 1¼, St. Paul 3, Union Pacific 3½c Northern Pacific was also a heavy loser.

The market opened generally with a fractional advance and another fraction was added shortly after. Buying power was good early and even during the times of severe decline there seemed a good demand for the securities, but all tried to buy as cheaply as possible.

STAYTON BOOSTERS HOLD BOOSTFEST

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Stayton, Or., March 18.—At a meeting of the Stayton Commercial club Saturday night plans were outlined for advancing the city's interests along commercial and development lines. The meeting was presided over by W. L. Freres, president of the club.

Tom Richardson, manager of the Portland Commercial club, was the principal speaker of the evening. Salem was present with a good delegation, among whom were the following: F. G. Deckabach, Joe Albert, R. K. Page, William Walton, F. S. Skiff, W. A. McGilchrist, A. F. Hofer, Paul Wallace, C. M. Bishop and W. H. Dancy.

After the speeches setting forth the advantages of Stayton, her various industries and factories, despite the fact that she has no railroad communication, and the inducements she could offer capital with her almost unlimited water power, if she had railway facilities, those present repaired to the Odd Fellows' hall, where all enjoyed a good old-fashioned supper.

JUDGMENT AGAINST MEDDLING MILL MEN

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Olympia, Wash., March 18.—The failure of the Doty Lumber & Shingle company to remove its booms across the Chehalis river, in Lewis county, and permit a drive of logs to pass through to a mill farther down the river, has cost the company $2,400. W. J. Shields, the owner of the logs, proved a loss of 507,000 feet of logs. The mill company admitted appropriating 100,000 of them, but the supreme court has decided that it must pay for the whole drive, part of which was swept away by a freshet.

CITY ON LOOKOUT FOR INSPECTORS

A city civil service examination will be held March 26 and 27 for inspectors of streets, sidewalks and sewers. There are several vacancies in this work in the city engineer's office and the men who pass the examinations will be almost sure to be put to work at once. The requirements are simple and a man of ordinary educational ability could pass easily.

HASTEN APPEAL ON INITIATIVE FIGHT

A step to hasten appeal in the case of the state against Pacific States Telephone & Telegraph company has been taken by the defendant by filing its bond on appeal. Judgment in favor of the state for $10,450.68 was given by Presiding Judge Cleland in the circuit court a few days ago, the decision upholding the initiative and referendum.

PLATFORM SHOWS HOW COLE STANDS

James Cole, candidate for the Republican nomination for district attorney, is pleased with the indorsement of the Municipal association which was given him yesterday. It gratifies him to see that the attitude which he has taken, as set out in his platform of principles made public at the time of his announcement, has met with the approbation of the members of the Municipal association as is shown by the indorsement. In discussing the subject this morning Mr. Cole said:

"The indorsement of the Municipal association, which came yesterday, is a matter of considerable gratification to me. I, however, desire it to be known that I have made and will make no pledges to the association or anyone else, other than the pledges I have made to the Republican voters of this district and the general public through my platform which was announced in the Sunday morning papers.

"That platform expresses unequivocally my attitude toward law enforcement and I shall stand by it to the finish.

"If I am nominated and elected as the next district attorney it will be my ambition to give the people of this district the fairest and most impartial performance of duty they have ever had and I am sure that no fair-minded law-abiding citizen would have it otherwise.

"My success in this campaign depends upon the indorsement of any association, club or citizen. It depends upon the active, vigorous support of those who want the kind of an administration I will give them if elected."

REALTY BOARD WILL WORK FOR UNIVERSITY

Members Plan to Exert Influence to Pass Appropriation Measure.

H. W. Fries, president; A. H. Birrel, first vice-president; W. R. Sinnott, second vice-presiden; Elnathan Sweet, treasurer; James O. Rountree, secretary. These are the newly elected officers of the Portland realty board, who were elected at last night's meeting, and who will handle the affairs of this important organization for the year beginning April 1.

Each of the new officers addressed the board and all of them promised to make the organization more powerful and useful than ever in advancing the material interests of Portland.

In addition to short talks from members of the board, addresses were made by F. E. Beach of the school board and Fred Muller, secretary of the board of trade. Mr. Beach talked on the $125,000 appropriation for the state university, which is to be voted on at the June election. He urged the real estate men to get out and make a fight for the measure sustaining the appropriation, declaring that the future of the institution depended in a large way upon its adoption. Following Mr. Beach's remarks a resolution favoring the appropriation was adopted.

Fred Muller addressed the meeting on the work outlined by the board of trade for the coming year, with particular reference to the commercial exchange feature. A resolution was passed providing for the organization of the real estate exchange at the meeting to be held early in April, when officers will be elected and the exchange launched upon its career. Prior to the business meeting of the board an elaborate banquet was served in the dining room of the Commercial club.

FUNERAL SERVICE OF JUDGE HAILEY

Members of the bar assembled at the courthouse at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon and formed in line, headed by the circuit court judges, to march to Trinity Episcopal church to attend the funeral of the late Judge Hailey. Judge Cleland will later announce the membership of a committee to draft resolutions of respect.

The funeral was held at 1 o'clock this afternoon, Dr. A. A. Morrison reading the Episcopal burial service. The following members of the bench and bar, who were intimate personal friends of the deceased, acted as pallbearers: Judge R. S. Bean, Judge C. E. Wolverton, Governor George E. Chamberlain, W. E. Thomas and Wirt Minor.

Following the funeral service the interment took place in Riverview cemetery.

Madigan has been elected to fill the office. The brother Hibernians gave to the sister Hibernians a St. Patrick's banquet. The large tables were decorated with greens and sprays of Shamrock. The following selections were given:

BLAMES MOTHER-IN-LAW FOR TROUBLES

Blaming her mother-in-law for her unhappiness and for the alleged meanness of her hubsand, Mrs. Jennie Harbur is seeking by a suit in the circuit court to compel Mrs. Penelope J. Harbur, the mother-in-law in question, to pay her $5,000 damages for the loss of her husband's society and affections.

If Mrs. Harbur's story be true, the mother-in-law joke has a grim meaning for her. She tells of happy days that followed her marriage to Levi E. Harbur in Seattle on April 2, 1906, and then of the melting away of her husband's love under the subtle coaching of her husband's mother, in whose home, it appears, they resided.

Mrs. Harbur says that her mother-in-law went to the extent of maliciously enticing and persuading her husband to abuse and maltreat her, besides refusing to support her. She says that by reason of her husband's love for his mother and the latter's influence over him, Mrs. Penelope Harbur contrived to deprive her of her husband's comfort, affection, society, support and assistance. Finally, on February 15 last, the complaint states, the mother-in-law succeeded in inducing her husband to desert her.

Mrs. Harbur, the plaintiff, thinks her husband's love is worth $5,000, and that his mother should pay up.

DUNN DONE AS HE TRIED TO DO OTHERS

Bogus Physician Given Year in Prison and Assessed Fine of $1,000.

"Dr." J. D. Dunn was given the limit of the law by Judge Gantenbein this morning for contributing to the delinquency of a minor, being sentenced to serve one year in jail and to pay a fine of $1,000. He was convicted by a jury about 10 days ago.

His attorney announced his intention to appeal from the judgment, and was allowed 20 days in which to file a bill of exceptions. The "doctor" was required to give a new bond for $4,000 and taken to a cell in the county jail to await the making of the bond.

Judge Gantenbein used no unnecessary words in pronouncing sentence, merely saying that if any case of the character charged deserved the full penalty, he believed this to be the one.
