NEW EVIDENCE IN RATE CASE

Railroad Commission Will Reconsider Question of Fare to Milwaukie.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Salem, Or., March 25.—The suit brought by the Portland Railway, Light & Power company against the recent decision of the railroad commission fixing a 5-cent fare between Milwaukie and Portland and between Oak Grove and Portland of 10 cents, and which has been before Judge Galloway for some weeks, was referred back to the railroad commission with additional evidence yesterday afternoon. This action was taken on the suggestion of Attorney-General Crawford and was immediately agreed to by Franklin T. Griffith, representing the railroad company.

Vice-President Fuller was recalled to the stand at the resumption of the case yesterday morning, but testified to but little of importance and was followed by one or two other minor witnesses. The company's case was then declared closed.

Mayor Schindler, Alderman Streib, James Reid and Richard Scott of Milwaukie, and John Risby of Oak Grove, followed each other in rapid succession as witnesses for the state. Schindler and Streib testified that when they had waited upon Fuller he had replied to them that they should have a 5-cent rate. Fuller was then recalled, but was unable to remember what he said. Shreib, Reid and Scott gave expert testimony as to the proportionate travel and cost of the Milwaukie line. The case was then closed.

Crawford then made his motion that the case be resubmitted to the commission with the new evidence. As Griffith made no objection, this was ordered done by Judge Galloway.

The commission will have 10 days in which to modify the original ruling, if they wish to do so. At the end of that time they will submit their decision to Judge Galloway, and he will then, if the decision reached by the commission is unsatisfactory to the company, render his own opinion, thus ending the case in the circuit court. He will render this decision on April 15. Should the contending parties be unable to reach an agreement, the case will, after Galloway's decision, be appealed to the supreme court.

TELEPHONE COMPANY MAY PAY FOR ERROR

Marshfield Stenographer Has Right to Continue Her Action.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Salem, March 25.—A decision by the supreme court yesterday gives Miss Frances McLeod, a stenographer of Marshfield, the right to continue her suit against the Pacific States Telephone & Telegraph company for $1,200 for failing to deliver a message to her.

Judge Hamilton and Attorneys F. W. Benson and John Hall met at Port Orford on their way to Gold Beach to hold court last August. They discovered they would not have a stenographer, and called long distance asking for Miss McLeod at Marshfield. The telephone operator, by accident, called a Mrs. McLeod, a nurse, to the telephone, and she in reply to Attorney Burton's question, "Can you take a case at Gold Beach," said "No, I have a case here now."

The lawyers, by the peculiar equivocal use of the word "case," did not learn of the mistake and secured a stenographer from Roseburg. This substitute subsequently earned over $1,200 in fees, and it is the contention of Miss McLeod that she has lost this amount by the failure to call her to the 'phone. The Telephone company, on the other hand, claim that if the parties calling for a number had been damaged, they would be entitled to recover, but that as Miss McLeod had not put in a call or paid any money, they were not responsible for any loss to her. The supreme court, in its decision yesterday, overruled a nonsuit granted by Judge Harris of Coos county, and ordered that the case be proceeded with.

Services Will Open Tomorrow Night and Continue Over Sunday—Founded 85 Years Ago.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

La Grande, Or., March 25—In a series of services opening tomorrow night and continuing over Sunday, the First Baptist church of this city will dedicate its new temple, which has cost $9,000. The structure has just been completed under the direction of the pastor, Rev. W. H. Gibson, and is one of the most beautiful and convenient church edifices in eastern Oregon. The principal feature of the dedication services will be an address by Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher of the White Temple, Portland, on the subject, "What's Under Your Hat?" The exercises will end Sunday evening, March 29, with a sermon by Rev. Brougher.

The Baptist church of this city was founded at Liberty school house, near this city, in November, 1873, by Elders L. J. Booth and B. H. Lewis. The first pastor was Rev. B. H. Lewis. The present new building was started in September, 1906.

KLAMATHS SLAIN BY THE WHITE PLAGUE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

More than 50 cases of consumption have proved fatal in the upper Klamath country alone, out of a total of about 1,000 persons. These Indians are an exceptionally fine, intelligent and orderly people and in education and morals compare favorably with any like community of white. However, living in houses occasions rapid decimation by the white plague.

TO RESUME WORK ON SNAKE ROAD

David Eccles Says Line From Huntington Will Be Rushed.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Baker City, Or., March 25.—Tunneling will begin at a very early date on the Snake river railroad and work will continue according to plans that now exist, is the statement of David Eccles, president of the Utah Construction company, which company has the contract for building the new railroad from Huntington up Snake river to Homestead.

Mr. Eccles is in Baker City today looking after his extensive interests and stated that things were looking very good, considering the late panic. The Oregon Lumber company, of which he is also president and extensive owner, is to start its sawmills in Baker county immediately. This would have been done some time ago, Mr. Eccles said, had there not been a large supply of lumber in the yards of the mills and the market a little slow.

In speaking of the railroad work he said that the numerous tunnels on the new railroad would necessarily be slow work and the construction company had decided to begin on them immediately. In his judgment work will not cease for any length of time until the road is completed.

Mr. Eccles says the money conditions are good; that there is plenty of money, but the natural hesitancy of making investments following a panic now obtains. This has been noticeable in the lumber market. Activity in building has been more or less retarded for a while, but now it is picking up to such an extent that he believes it will justify operating the Baker county sawmills.

TO VISIT NORMAL SCHOOLS IN APRIL

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Salem, Or., March 25—The board of visitors who are to investigate the work being done at the state normal schools, has been organized by the election of City Superintendent J. M. Powers of Salem as chairman, and City Superintendent Turner of Grants Pass as secretary. County Superintendent Churchill of Baker City is the third member of the board. They will proceed to visit the state schools for the training of public school teachers early in April, and make a report to the state board of regents as provided by law. It is the purpose of the law to have a yearly inspection made by a committee of visitors who do not reside in the counties having normal schools, and report on the work being done there. This report will be then laid before the board of regents at their annual meeting and become the basis of their recommendations to the legislature. It is believed to be one of the best features of the new law, which placed the normal schools under one board of regents, that an entirely disinterested body of educators visit the schools and make a critical report.

U'REN OPENS UPON A FULTON CITADEL

First Gun of His Statement No. 1 Campaign to Be Fired in Pendleton Tomorrow Night.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Pendleton, Or., March 25.—When W. S. U'Ren of Oregon City, exponent of Statement No. 1 and the popular election of United States senators, will open the political campaign in Umatilla county in an address favoring Statement No. 1, in the circuit court room here tomorrow evening, he will confront the strongest Fulton and anti-Statement No. 1 organization in eastern Oregon. Umatilla county is strongly organized, through the Furnish forces, for Senator Fulton and against Statement No. 1, and while C. A. Barrett is a candidate for reelection to the legislature on a Statement No. 1 platform, there is strong opposition to the statement.

Mr. U'Ren will open the political campaign in Umatilla county, his address being the first scheduled in this county this spring. He will go from here to other eastern Oregon counties to keep up the fight for Statement No. 1.

CALLS ROOSEVELT MODERN SIEGFRIED

Incarnation of Everything Americans Believe to Be Their Own, Says Correspondent.

Paris, March 24.—A special correspondent who is now describing America for the benefit of the readers of the Petit Journal has been interviewing President Roosevelt, who so impressed the interviewer that he concludes by calling him a modern Siegfried, a hero of the old German epics adapted to our times.

During McKinley's times, according to the correspondent, the most popular person in the United States was the kaiser, but this admiration vanished when Roosevelt came into power, the president being the incarnation of everything which Americans believe to be typically American.

When the conversation at the White House reached the question of the economic crisis the interviewer found that Roosevelt holds personal opinions which are scarcely reconcilable with the political acts which he has countersigned. The president, the correspondent says, is really a convinced partisan of a governmental central bank, and feels certain that this solution of the question will eventually be reached.

When the interviewer asked if such an institution "must" be created, the president replied:

"We never say must in this country. We live in a great democracy, and in democracy nothing is ever 'must.' Democracy allows nothing to be imposed. All its directors can do is to wait developments of the people's will while enlightening the people's opinion."

He was distressed at the campaign of the French press, which represented war between the United States and Japan as inevitable. Here the interviewer gives the president's actual words, which were: "Was it the sending of my fleet to the Pacific? That was a measure of defense and of no danger to peace."

EVIDENCE of the ability of any company to assume payment of 5 per cent interest on a $5,000,000 bond issue is desirable before investing in the bonds of that company. Assets---real, live, tangible assets---are what count. Therefore, when a company issues first mortgage bonds and agrees to pay 5 per cent upon them, all the investor requires is to be assured of the ability of the company to pay the interest that it agrees to pay. The bonds of the bear 5 per cent interest; they run 35 years; they are first mortgage liens on all the property of the company; their par value is $100; they are offered on the Portland market for $92 and earn 5½ per cent at that price. To be specific and to demonstrate the absolute certainty that characterizes this particular bond issue, note the substantial nature of the

ASSETS

Rights of way, terminal property, material and equipment, actually bought and paid for, representing a cash investment of $4,500,000. This outlay was for terminal property in San Francisco and Santa Cruz, now worth over $2,000,000; 34 miles of the road in operation; immensely valuable rights of way for the entire length of the line, and the certain future profit to be derived from a marvelously rich territory that has never before enjoyed transportation facilities. The carrying of mail and express has already been contracted. As an incentive to you, it may be stated that over $2,200,000 of the bonds have already been subscribed, and the company has a paid-up capital of $5,000,000. These are the strong arguments upon which you are invited to invest in the bonds of the
