DISMISSED FROM NAVY

Surgeon Moore Forced to Leave Fleet Because of Drunkenness — Admits Bad Conduct but Says the Hosts Were Too Generous.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Washington, March 27.—Dismissal by court martial of Dr. J. M. Moore, chief surgeon of the battleship Kansas until the arrival of the Evans armada at Magdalena Bay, has created no end of comment in naval circles.

The charge under which Mr. Moore was dismissed was intoxication and conduct prejudicial to good order and discipline. The court sat during the voyage from Callao to Magdalena and upon arrival at the latter place Dr. Moore was served with a formal notice of dismissal and ordered to leave the fleet at once. Dr. Moore claims that he is the victim of circumstances and that, while admitting he imbibed too freely on the occasion specified in the charges, his conduct was not so flagrant as to cause the severe punishment imposed. While the fleet was lying at Callao numerous receptions, banquets and balls were given in honor of the officers, and it fell to the lot of Dr. Moore to attend one of these functions although against his will. The affair he attended was a convivial one and when he returned to his ship he was in his cups. A marine promptly reported him, a court martial was convened a few days later and Moore's dismissal followed. The case is attracting unusual attention because of Moore's high rank in the navy, he having attained the grade of lieutenant commander five years ago. Moore entered the navy 17 years ago and was with Dewey at Manila. Captain Stream Acquitted. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Aberdeen, Wash., March 27.—Captain Tom Stream, master of the schooner G. W. Watson, who was on trial on the charge of assault with intent to kill one of his sailors, Albert Helling, in a dispute over the settlement of wages, has been acquitted. The jury was out only an hour.

REGISTER! DON'T FORGET IT

Now is the time to register. It is evident that there will yet have to be much prodding and urging on the part of good citizens if anything like a full vote is polled at the primaries on April 17. That it is to the interest of every citizen to have a large vote registered and cast on election day will hardly be disputed, but unless those who appreciate the situation act promptly there will be thousands of votes uncast that should be gathered in. April 7 is the last day for registration. This leaves nine more days. As the number now registered is 24,556, there will have to be an average of 600 per day to take the final figures beyond the 20,000 mark. Yesterday only 350 were registered. The signs indicate a fascinating rush at the last, which may be avoided by those who go promptly. The books are open every night until 9 o'clock. Of those now registered, the Republicans have 19,215, the Democrats 4,130, and all others 1,211. The Portland Chinese have been attentive to their duties as citizens and it is believed that nearly all of those entitled to vote have registered. If the white citizens had done as well the total registration would be nearly twice what it is. Many of the foreign-born citizens appear at the clerk's office without their naturalization papers. This causes loss of time, for the papers must be produced.

SISTER CALLS UPON ALLEGED BROTHER TO PROVE RELATIONSHIP

Mrs. Karita J. Falling, who has been cited to appear in the county court to show cause why she should not be compelled to give financial assistance to Cornelius W. Barrett, who says she is her brother, today filed a motion asking the court to require that he more particularly in his claims of relationship.

Mrs. Falling wants Barrett to state where and when he was born, the names of his parents, where and when his father and mother died, what help he is now receiving from the county and where and when she has refused to help him. Barrett is aged and infirm, and has been given assistance by the county. Mrs. Falling is said to be worth not less than $50,000, and he claims that he should pay $50 per month to keep him out of the poorhouse. It now appears that the woman he claims as sister does not recognize him as her brother, and he will have to start in from the beginning by proving his parentage. Metzger, jeweler, 342 Washington. BELLINGHAM LOGGERS ANGRY AT CANADIANS (United Press Leased Wire.) Bellingham, Wash., March 27.—Local loggers are not pleased over the action of the provincial government in allowing 8,000,000 feet of logs to be shipped into this country to relieve the glutted condition of the Canadian market and again the protest is made as it has been made at regular intervals for the last three or four years, that the British Columbia loggers have the best of the game any way the cards run. VON MEYER SUED IN LOCAL COURT

Postmaster General Defendant in Litigation Over Klamath Land. George von L. Meyer, postmaster-general of the United States and former ambassador to Italy, is a defendant in two suits involving 1,200 acres of land which are being heard by Judge Wolvertson in the United States circuit court today. Mr. Meyer is represented by F. H. Mills of Klamath Falls. The plaintiffs are the Hot Springs Improvement company and William A. Wright. By a peculiar coincidence J. Couch Flanders, who is conducting the case for the plaintiffs for Williams, Wood & Linticum, who are assisting Judge Thomas Drake, bears a remarkable resemblance to the member of President Roosevelt's cabinet, who also claims the property in question. While Mr. Meyer is perhaps six inches taller than the Portland attorney, the two dress very much alike nevertheless. Both are particularly partial to the high stand-up collar and wear four-in-hand cravats generally and which are tied the same. Mr. Flanders' features are very much like those of the postmaster-general. The two plaintiffs and Mr. Meyer got the land by court proceedings and the case which Judge Wolvertson is hearing today is a suit in equity to determine if possible who is entitled to the land involved. The land is in Klamath county near Klamath Falls. It seems that in 1858 Quincy A. Brooks was the owner of the land now claimed by the two parties in the suit. In August of that year he gave a mortgage to the state board of commissioners of Oregon for the sale of lands for the school fund. In December, 1898, Brooks, it is claimed, deeded this property to his son. In July of the year previous Meyer had filed a suit in the circuit court of Klamath county against Brooks and his wife on a judgment in his favor. As the property of the defendant had been attached judgment was entered against Brooks. In April of 1898 the board of commissioners of the school fund brought suit to foreclose the mortgage which had been given by Brooks to them. Brooks, his wife, Meyer and others were made defendants, the property having been sold to the state in satisfaction of its debt. It is probable that the case will require the attention of the court in its today and possibly until tomorrow. Eye glasses $1.00 at Metzger's.
