RECORD JUMP

Front street features: Another jump in onions here. Higher prices in eggs. Chicken market very firm. Some razor blades coming. No Young America cheese in market. General cheese market firmer. Butter scarcity continues.

Another Jump in Onions Here.

Onion prices are jumping upward again, the price today along front street reaching as high as $4.50. Most of the crop has been received in a limited way. The market is so firm that holders are reluctant to hold out for almost any price they choose. Every advice received from Texas and other food producing provinces has been to those who still retain holdings of old Oregonians are not worrying much over the situation.

River Potatoes Marketing Oregonians.

It is not because of the lack of demand for potatoes in the southwest and in southern California that the direction of late have been curtailed. California river potatoes are reaching the market in their season and holders are willing to sell at almost any price. These prices are so much lower than those of the very recent past that our stock have recently been cancelled on this account.

Higher Price for Eggs.

Demand for Alaska, was forecast in this report, recently, a notch higher here. Sales along the street are being made mostly at 16c, although 15c is being obtained for some of the eggs during the past 24 hours. Receipts of eggs here are just about holding their own, although some receipts in the past few days as it was a week ago. With the Easter season rapidly approaching and the price of eggs so high, it is not believed that the market will make any concession in price in the near future.

All Crying for Butter.

Everyone is crying for butter at this time, although few people have supplies. The market is unusually stiff and it is believed that the price will be maintained for awhile. The general trade is scurrying about to get enough to fill the wants of customers.

Many Contracts for Hops.

According to a prominent local operator fully 25,000 bales of the coming crop of hops are already contracted for. During the past few days the volume of contracts has been greatly increased because of the belief of most growers that the business for awhile if possible. Practically all the business reported of late has been around the point of the year as high as 30c has been reported paid for three-year tieups. Spot business is very dull; small transactions at former level of prices being the feature.

Brief Notes of the Trade.

For chickens the demand is very good at this time with supplies rather light and prices up to 15c for fancy fowls.

Small Shipments of Razor Blades are Again Reported in Market.

Because of the small supplies there continues a good demand for Sacramento salmon at 12c a pound.

Shipments of Apples from Oregon are slightly increased but trade remains very good.

Asparagus is holding quite steady because of the better quality of late arrivals.

Wheat market is quiet at former prices. No export flour trade reported. Front street wheat is holding steady values. Those paid shippers are less regular commissions.

Y. A. CHEESE OUT OF PORTLAND MARKET

There is no Young America cheese for sale in the Portland market today. This is the first time in many years that such an occurrence has been known. There is also a much firmer tone in "twins" and most of the holders have put their prices to a higher basis. Supplies of first-class Oregon cheese are limited and the trade does not take to the California product even though offered at lower figures.

YUKON GOLD IS AT HIGH POINT

Promoters Keep Security From Going Too High. Likewise Too Low.

YUKON GOLD COMPANY.

On the New York curb today Yukon Gold company's stock—Lawson in charge—opened at $7.50, which was the high point for the day. It dropped back to $6.25, the low point, under manipulation and closed at $6.50 bid and $6.75 asked.

Overbeck & Cooke company, local brokers, have the following regarding Lawson's Yukon Gold company's shares from their eastern representative:

New York, March 23—It is stated here that Thomas W. Lawson is very well satisfied with the reception given his Yukon Gold company's stock, even though the securities were extensively advertised in the leading papers of the country. The flotation of these securities is said to be a success from every standpoint—the response of the public being much heavier than anyone had expected.

There was evidently a disposition among the promoters of the security to keep the price from getting beyond their height, and whenever it reached the dangerous point they sold, and when any outside pressure materialized they purchased, thus supporting it around $6.50. The public have been so thoroughly excited over the issue that the security trade here believes it will reach a higher point during the coming week—as forecast by the printed announcements of the Boston financier.

While no definite news can be obtained at this time, it is stated that the securities have already been fully subscribed for.

Portland Union Stockyards, March 28—Portland is at present receiving about enough livestock to supply a small village with food. There is scarcely any market locally at this time, except where the livestock to supply the present packing plants is going to come from receivers are at a loss to explain. There was a strong tone in all lines today, but outside of one buyer there is no demand for stuff.

The market started with a fair showing of strength and early gained 3/4c, and was the high mark for the day. Corn was hit hard for the May option, and a loss of 1/4c was noted at the close. New York, March 28.—Wall street heard what was practically a confirmation to the effect that E. H. Harriman had resigned as president of the Union Pacific railroad, and it did not like the news a bit. It caused the market to open with a decided weak tone and the high point was in most instances reached at the start of trading. Had the street traders not been stunned by the news during today's short session it is quite likely that further concessions in values would have been made.

The entire market felt the effect of the news and the closing was around the low point for the most important securities. For a short session the declines were rather severe.
