

HEFLIN WAS THREATENED

Congressman From Alabama Warned That He Would Be Assassinated Unless He Dropped Fight for Jim Crow Cars at Capital.

(Clated From Leased Wire.)
Washington, March 28.—"I was clearly justified in what I did," said Representative Heflin of Alabama, in discussing today with his fellow members of the house his shooting last night of Louis Lundy, a negro who had been drinking whiskey from a bottle and greatly annoying white women on a streetcar. Mr. Heflin gave out this afternoon threatening letters he had received regarding his proposal to establish separate (Jimcrow) cars in the District of Columbia, and which led him to go armed. One letter read:

Threats of Death.
"Prepare to meet your God. Go guarded night and day from now on until your death. Fear and tremble. There is not a step between you and death, vile wretch. Every person who fears God and loves justice is against you because you would add to the already unjustly oppressed, to guarded and well armed. Patience has ceased to be a virtue. The south is the property of the colored man."

Another letter was as follows:
"As surely as you attempt to interfere with the harmonious relations now existing between the races in the District of Columbia, as certainly will your life pay for the privilege. This is applicable to all southern members likely to grave for glory and a halo. It is as easy to remove an 'objectionable' of your stamp in this capital as a grand duke in St. Petersburg, Russia. You will be warned no more. Remember, Caesar made light of the crowds soon to be reeking with his own blood and an eye has been upon you in all sessions, anticipating just such an outbreak. (Signed) 'ONE FOR ALL AND ALL FOR ALL.'"

Negro Will Recover.
Physicians at Emergency hospital predict that Heflin's negro victim will recover.
Thomas McCreary, the New York horse trainer, who was struck by one of the bullets fired at Lundy, is only slightly wounded in the leg. He was able to about the streets today.
Congressman Heflin's preliminary hearing has been continued until next week.
The congressman was the recipient today of many letters of sympathy and congratulation, tendering aid if needed. It was learned that the negro Lundy has a bad court record and was regarded as a "dangerous character." Heflin's plea will be self defense.

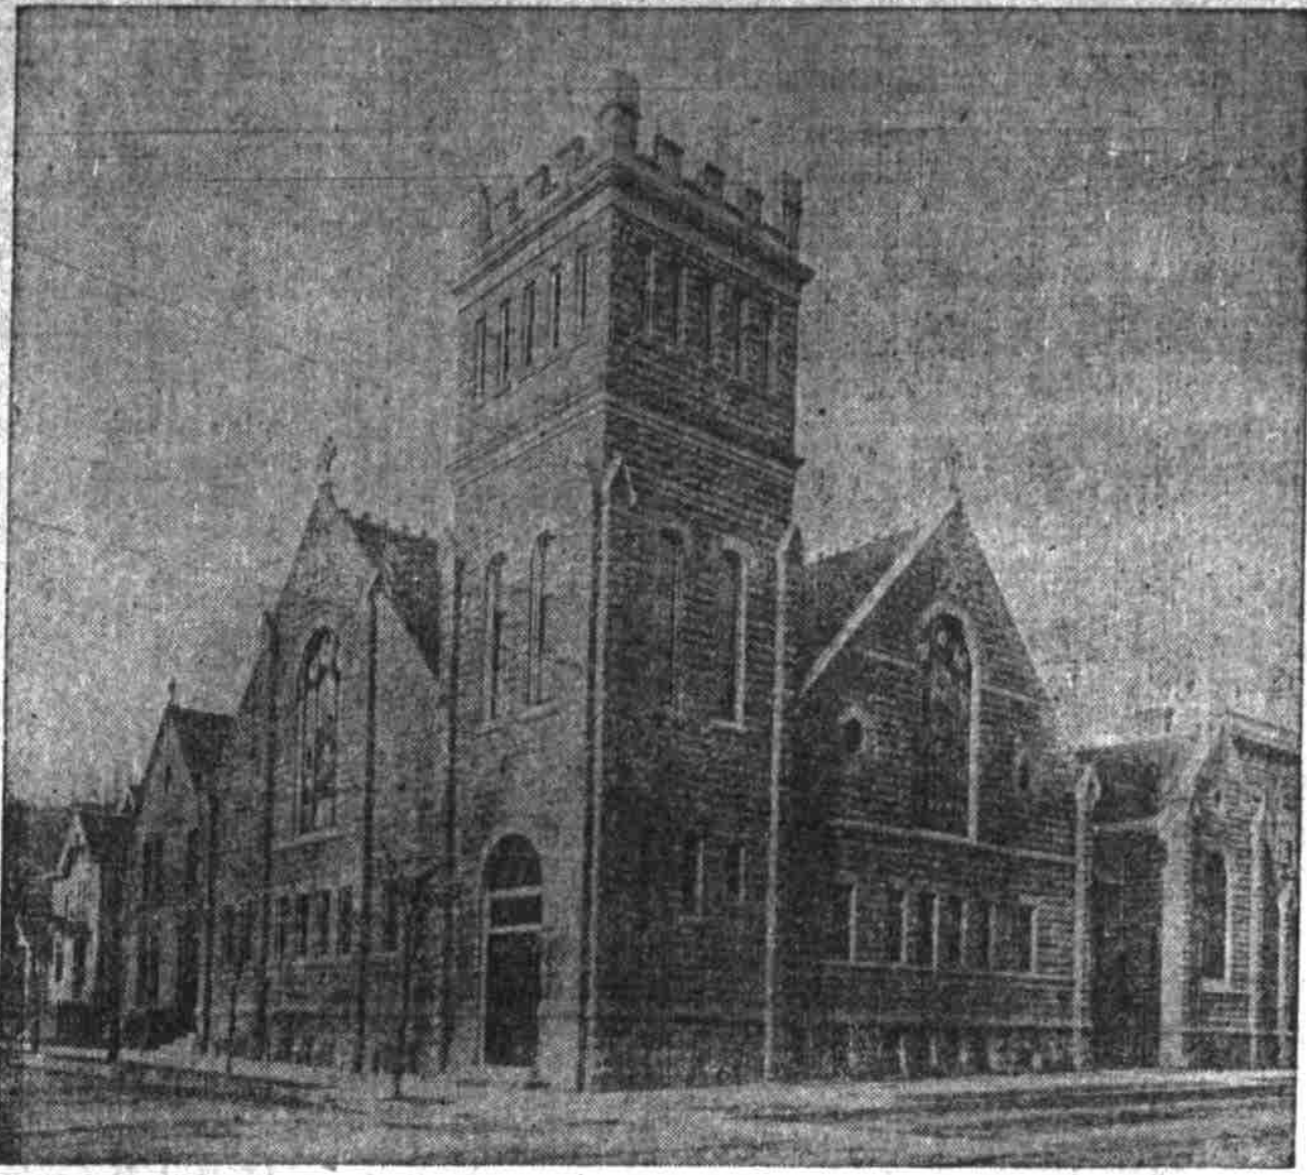

TRAVELING TROWEL HEADS FOR PORTLAND

Traveling around the globe, from one city to another, "to spread the cement of brotherly love and affection around the world," the traveling trowel, sent out by the Justice, lodge No. 753, A. F. & A. M., jurisdiction of New York, will arrive in Portland April 20, where appropriate ceremonies are being arranged to commemorate the event.
The trowel will be brought to Portland from Pocatello, Idaho. All the officers of the grand lodge and the local past masters and officers of other lodges will be invited to join in the celebration which is to follow the arrival of the trowel. Arrangements are being attended to by the members of Williamette lodge No. 2, A. F. & A. M.
From Portland the traveling trowel will be sent either to Washington or California.

ST. JAMES LUTHERAN CONGREGATION TO DEDICATE FINE NEW EDIFICE TODAY

The New St. James Evangelical Lutheran Church at West Park and Jefferson Streets.

The beautiful new St. James' Evangelical Lutheran church, Jefferson and West Park streets, will be dedicated today with appropriate exercises and a large attendance of out of town visitors is expected to be present to swell the audience. Rev. J. Allen Leas, pastor of the church, will be in charge of the services.
At the morning service Rev. M. E. Boulton of The Dalles and Rev. E. G. Lund, D. D., of Seattle, will speak. In the afternoon Rev. W. C. Drahn of Vancouver and Rev. J. K. Bloom of Portland will give short addresses, after which there will be a number of five minute addresses by visiting pastors.
In the evening there will be held a Luther league rally at which time E. R. Gelinaky will preside and C. A. Ruff, president of the St. James' league, will give the address of welcome. W. S. T. Derr of Vancouver, president of the Columbia Central Luther league, will respond. Drs. Lund, Reva, Boulton and Drahn will also speak.
Program of Music.
Dr. Keefer has arranged the following musical numbers for the morning and afternoon:
"The Lord is in His Holy Temple" Selby
"The Evening Service" E. L. White
"O, How Amiable Are Thy Dwellings" E. H. Thorne
"In the evening solos will be rendered by Miss Mary Koch, Mrs. A. B. Holderman, H. G. Lettow and Tom C. Ordeman.
The large basement has been fitted up for social purposes where refreshments will be served for the out of town guests during the day of dedication.
Organized Eighteen Years Ago.
St. James' Evangelical Lutheran church was organized in October, 1890, with Rev. M. L. Zweig as missionary pastor. He served the congregation until 1899, when Rev. Charles S. Hahn came as supply pastor until the arrival of the present pastor, J. Allen Leas, in May, 1901. The congregation now numbers about 300 active members, all but 40 of whom were received under the

COLE SUDDENLY BLOCKS MANNING'S AND CAMERON'S DREAM OF SALEM

The office of district attorney for the Fourth district is believed to be a stepping stone to the gubernatorial chair at Salem, according to the creed of John Manning, the present incumbent, and George J. Cameron, present municipal judge and aspirant for the district attorneyship.
It is pointed out by politicians that Governor Chamberlain was district attorney in Portland before he was elected to the governorship. John Manning would like to be governor if he could get the job and Judge Cameron is almost an avowed aspirant for the place. It is believed, therefore, in political circles that one reason why both Manning and Cameron are trying so strenuously to secure the district attorneyship is in order to be in a high official berth and in good position to jump for the chair at Salem when it is vacated in 1910.
It is known for a certainty that Judge Cameron has his eye fixed on the governorship. He has been cultivating that political bee for some little time and will be ready to turn loose his swarms in a short time, especially if he should be elected district attorney next June. With that end in view he is working hard for the nomination for the office, which at the present time seems to be floating between him and James Cole, the last man to get into the race, but one who has shown surprising growth in popularity.

YOUTH FALLS AGAIN AND THIS TIME LANDS IN REFORM SCHOOL

That 15-year-old Hyman Swartz is incorrigible is the firm belief of the police authorities who have devoted much time and effort on account of the youngster during the past three or four years. The boy is again in trouble and it is more than probable that he will be dealt with without gloves when he is taken in hand by the juvenile court.
Yesterday young Swartz entered the barber shop at the corner of Fifth and Washington streets and after loafing about for a few minutes disappeared. Simultaneously there disappeared from the desk of Mrs. M. Midargh, cashier of the shop, a pocketbook containing $3.80 in coin, keys, checks and other articles of value to the owner.
The Swartz boy was at once suspected and later in the day Mrs. Midargh found him at the home of his parents, 299 Baker street. He was taxed with the theft of the purse and after a time acknowledged he had taken it. After making confession he returned the money taken from the purse, but was unable to return the purse or the other articles it contained as he had thrown them away. Detectives Hawley and Inskip were apprised of the theft and reported the matter to the officials of the juvenile court.
Young Swartz has been in trouble many times and his parents confess themselves unable to control his actions. About six months ago he was tried for theft in the juvenile court and received a sentence of six months in the reform school. Promises of good behavior were made in his behalf and on this showing he was paroled. His act of yesterday constitutes a violation of his parole and the reform school sentence will probably now be put into effect.

DRINK HE DID-- DRINK HE DIDN'T

Conflicting Stories of Husband's Habits Feature in Bickerton Divorce.

The bickering story of the Bickertons, husband and wife, was resumed before Judge Bronaugh in the circuit court yesterday. For portions of several days the case has been on trial, and the end of the evidence was reached late yesterday. A long procession of witnesses for Haughton, C. Bickerton told of the frequent occasions on which they had seen him, and said they never saw him intoxicated. Mrs. Iona S. Bickerton, the wife, charges habitual drunkenness as the ground for divorce. These witnesses also placed a new interpretation upon Bickerton's actions at times when the wife charges that he was wild with drink and threatened to commit suicide. They said he appeared calm to them, and they could see no sign of intoxication after the wife's charges given by his wife. There was also much testimony for the defendant in reference to business he has conducted for his wife, it being claimed that he is a shrewd business man, instead of being indolent and jobless, as his wife charges.
It is asserted that in the sale of some mining stock he realized $2,000 for his wife, when she was about to sell for $900. Bickerton previously told his story at length on the stand, denying his wife's allegations of gross drunkenness and cruelty.
Twenty-five witnesses in all testified for the defendant, and if numbers alone decided a case he would already be winner, for his wife's attorneys called only three. The various phases of the case have increased the gaiety in court circles for days.

HALFWAY PINES FOR MILITARY GLORIES

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Salem, Or., March 28.—Governor Chamberlain is in receipt of a letter from Postmaster George Gillet of Halfway, Baker County, asking permission and cooperation in the establishment of a company of the national guard at that place. Gillet states that while the population of Halfway itself is not very large, the surrounding country is very thickly populated.

"Your Fortune Dates From Today That Is, If You See EVANSTON"

We have tried for a long time to get control of the ten acres on the high land just south of the Clinton Kelly School. Everyone familiar with Portland realty knows this desirable piece of property is ideal for close-in residences.

You see nearly the whole city from this point, and notwithstanding its sightliness, and its only being twelve minutes' ride from the center of the city, our introductory prices are less than the prices on lots twice the distance out.

EVANSTON will not be formally opened for possibly a week, but to acquaint people with the property, Mr. Davis of the Spanton Co. will be on the tract this afternoon (Sunday).

Take "W-W" car, get off at Florence Avenue. It's the prettiest "buy" in Portland.

Here's another point to remember—we build houses and sell them on easy payments. We will build for you on this property, if you say.
