GRAND JURY IS AGAIN IN SESSION

The United States circuit court grand jury which adjourned last week resumed its sessions this morning. Several days will probably be consumed in examining witnesses in the investigation being made of the killing of Willie Garnier by Larkey Logan, an Indian, on the Siletz reservation. After this hearing is finished the case of the government against Wells and three others, charged with using the mails to defraud, will probably be resumed.

THE STRONGEST COMBINATION IN THE WORLD

A TELEGRAM FROM RAWHIDE

Rawhide, Ney., March 28.—F. W. McKechnie, secretary P.-F. M. & L. Co., room 15, 268 Stark street, Portland.—Have secured one of the best leases in Rawhide. It is on the bluff, between Last Chance and Grutt, and has a most excellent showing. This is a great camp. Particulars by mail. I go to Goldfield tonight.—W. B.

Mr. Stewart, president of our company, had information from our superintendent, R. G. Virtue, 10 days ago, that he had taken an option on a lease on this bluff, and that the showing was one of the best in that wonderful camp. He wanted to know if his action met the approval of the management, and if so, for Mr. Stewart to come at one and close the deal, as no time was to be lost. Accordingly Mr. Stewart departed for Rawhide last Monday, March 23, and the foregoing telegram announces the success of his investigation of the value of the claim. As we heretofore have announced, Mr. Stewart is a mining engineer of 20 years experience, and when he makes a selection, as he has done in this case, our stockholders may rest assured that it is every inch a good one, else it would not have been made. ALL SHARES SOLD, OR TO BE SOLD, COVERS THIS LEASE, THE LEASE AT GOLDFIELD, AND THE 100 ACRES OF GROUND, COMPRISING FIVE CLAIMS, WE OWN OUTRIGHT IN THE LATTER DISTRICT.

The location of this last lease makes it inexpensive to mine it, as it may be done by tunnels, and there will be no cost of shaft or hoist, and from the lips of one who has been there, we have it that this property can be made to pay within four to five months. We will, therefore, we believe, be paying dividends at Goldfield within 90 days, and at Rawhide by midsummer. Before these leases have expired, we shall have our own property in the dividend class, so that, we believe, OUR DIVIDENDS WILL BE CONTINUOUS FOR AT LEAST 25 YEARS TO COME.

When we receive Mr. Stewart's letter we shall publish it in this newspaper, and that may be tomorrow, or

Rawhide and Goldfield Is the Strongest Gold Combination on the Earth

FAIR STATEMENT No. 1

Friend Lawson's cheerful announcement that in two hours he sold all his 700,000 shares of Yukon gold at $5 to $7.50 per share, is the best possible indication that the people everywhere are awakening to the fact that gold securities are the best ever printed on paper, and that they return to the buyer the largest dividends of any enterprises operated anywhere on the face of this great globe.

We rejoice with Lawson on the success of his undertaking, for if ever there was a propitious time in the history of the world to make large money in gold securities, that time is now. If, however, we were to offer any criticism of Mr. Lawson's project-were we to scan it with an eye single to unkindly comment- the fault we would point out and ask the public to seriously consider, is that the gentleman might have profited the people to the extent of millions of dollars had he secured these stocks when first they were placed upon the market at 10 cents per share, and not wait until two or three large profits had been made upon them, and that without in the slightest increasing their intrinsic value. We believe the Yukon's are worth all the public paid for them on Saturday. We think it likely that they will go to $10 or $15, as Mr. Lawson predicts, but we stoutly maintain that the profit between 10 cents, their original price, when the Guggenheims procured them, ought to have been made by the people who invested on Saturday.

The shares cost the Guggenheims $70,000. They sold at $3,500,000. Guggenheim's profits on Saturday's business were $3,430,000. This immense harvest is what we object to. We believe the people should have had that gain in the value of their mining shares, only one year old. We are giving this profit to our friends. We are selling shares in richer mines than anything the Yukon ever knew, and at the price the Guggenheim's paid for theirs. We are going to let our people make the profit between 10 cents and $10 to $15. We feel confident our shares will sell for $5 in less than one year, and that they will sell for as much as $10 in less than TWO years. They may go to $15 in that time.

But Let Our People Themselves Be the Guggenheims

Let them have the monumental profits. We believe in a square deal. Our shares are now 10 cents each, 10 per cent down and 10 per cent per month. Within a week or so, the terms will be changed to 25 per cent down and 25 per cent per month. WITH RAWHIDE IN THE DEAL, WE HAVE THE RICHEST MINING PROPOSITION THE PEOPLE OF THIS REGION EVER HEARD OF, OR EVER WILL HEAR OF.

SEEN OVER SEE

Heilig—"The Burgomaster."

One is impressed strongly with the lea while witnessing the present prodea while witnessing the present production of "The Burgomaster," that time often add to, rather than leaves the sorrows of life. "The Burgomaster" has suffered.

Frank Pixley and Gustave Luders, in writing the words and music for the musical comedy, put forth one of their best efforts. Ten years ago in Chicago when seats were selling several weeks fn advance, "The Burgomaster" was as much of a rage as the present "Merry Widow" sailor hat.

much of a rage as the present "Merry Widow" sailor hat.

O tempora! O mores! The lines are still the same, with the exception of numerous interpolations which do not add greatly to the production, but "The Burgomaster" was builded in the heyday of its career on something that differs widely from the present presentation of mediocre Dutch comedy.

Interest, and a large part of the exquisite humor which Pixley instilled into the lines of the musical creation center largely on the burgomaster of New Amsterdam, a character part taken by Gus Weinburg, and Leo Kendal as Doodle von Kull. These two are constantly in the limelight. Be it said to the credit of Pixley that his generous and laugh-producing lines save the chief characters in the present instance from embarrassment. The Dutch interpretation is far from the standard.

But when all else looks hopeless, there is the music, the rollicking music to fall back on, the music that struck popular favor when "The Burgomaster" was still a tiny infant in stage history. "The Tale of the Kangaroo" is a song prettily sung and with light effects that add to its attractiveness. Half a dozen other selections serve to advantage.

Marie Grandpre, who is Doodle's sweetheart; and Fred W. Bailey, who is E. Booth Talkington, an actor in hard luck, are both redeeming features. Bailey's impersonation is clever and well executed and Miss Granpre is acceptably picasing in her work.

It was a good-natured Sunday night audience that saw the opening production of The Burgomaster," and apparently most of the lines struck a location near the funny bone. The crudities were overlooked. Anyway, a Sunday night audience goes to the theatre us-ently most of the lines struck a location near the funny bone. The cruditles were overlooked. Anyway, a Sunday night audience goes to the theatre usually to be amused and will insist on being amused even if they have to laugh at their own laughter.

"The Burgomaster" will be on the boards at the Heilig tonight, tomorrow night and Wednesday night, with a Wednesday matinee.

Baker-"Raffles."

An excellent production of that interesting book-play, "Raffles," was given by the Baker company yesterday, and was in every respect an admirable pre-ribbon.

Again this week the play does not demand much of the leading woman, but Miss Stoddard is satisfactory as Gwendoline Conron, and does the little that she has to do, well. Robert Homas plays the part of "Bunny," Mrs. Gleason is Lady Melrose and William Gleason, Lord Amersteth. Miss Seymour plays Marie and Mr. Russell Lord Crowley. They all do very good work. ley. They all do very good work.

Mr. Dills has prepared a good production, and all in all, the entertainment furnished at the Baker this week is Marquam-Motion Pictures.

Some exceptionally good motion pictures are being shown at the Marquam Grand this week, and the performances, which are continuous from 2 until 10 p. m., pleased very good houses yesterday and last night. The performance opens with "The Vestal," a Roman opens with "The Vestal," a Roman frama interestingly arranged and full of good action. The colored pictures of the fleet are also particularly efof the fleet are also particularly effective. One of the curious pictures shown is "The Frogs," an interesting combination of magic and the spectacular. The "Adventures of an Old Theatre Trunk" shows some good motion picture skirt dancing work, including dances of all nations. The illustrated songs are unusually well given, the so-loist being Frederick Bauer. The pic-tures will be shown every afternoon and evening during the week.

Star-"The Black Hand,"

"The Black Hand" attracted largely and pleased everybody at the Star yesterday. The plot of the play bears out the title and furnished large and enthusiastic amounts of excitement of the regular Star kind. It is a southern story and brings in the southern colonel, played by George Berry; a darky voo-doo, played by Leah LaForce; an Irish women, played by Mrs. French, and a leader of a band of highwaymen, done by D. M. Henderson. Charles Conners played the German comedian, Frank Seward was the mountaineer and George Daglenn the hero of the day. They all did their usual good work in their various lines, and those severe critics, the A. D. T. boys, said that it was the best show the Star has given in some time. thusiastic amounts of excitement of the
