A Curable Disease

EMINENT PHYSICIANS AND SCIENTIFIC MEN AGREE THAT IT SHOULD BE TREATED AS SUCH.

loved whatever was the wife's was also the husband's.

Matters were arranged very quickly. The wedding was to have occurred in Denver, but several weeks before the Christmas vacation Miss Sanderson received a letter from Rihorn saying that he would be unable to go to Colorado for the wedding, but wouldn't she come to Oregon instead? It would have to be a quiet affair because he was not wealthy.

Also he said that a curious thing had happened—he had just learned that his real name was not Rihorn, but Williams—an old couple had seen the advertisement of the Rihorn Land company in the Astoria building, had come around to see him and told an interesting tale of how the Rihorns had adopted him when young, but his real name was Pearl R. Williams. He asked her if she wouldn't address him as Rihorn until he could settle the legal difficulties connected with his changing his name and the title to his property.

Meet at Tacoma.

She left Denver, Christmas day, and met Rihorn in Tacoma, from where they went to Elms, Washington, where Miss Sanderson had friends. Here they were married by the Rev. T. McQueen, Methodist minister of Tacoma, January 31 of this year, the parties mentioned in the marriage license held by Miss Sanderson being Pearl R. Williams and G. H. Rihorn.

They came to Portland and the first her husband in which he told her that he no longer loved her. She saw nothing of him for several days, and then looked him up in his office at 309 Alisky building.

Here she found the name Rihorn Land company on the door and asked him about it. He told her he would explain it all, she didn't see him again and a week ago Saturday he disappeared, leaving his office furniture and papers all behind him, and several big real estate deals completed excepting the paying of Rihorn his commission.

In the last week Mrs. Rihorn has been making an investigation, and not till then did she learn that she was not the second Mrs. Rihorn, but the third. The first Mrs. Rihorn was evidently an eastern girl, who had married a man who she learned had married another girl, the present Mrs. Cora Rihorn of Frankfort, Ohio.

The second Mrs. Rihorn had considerable money. Mrs. Rihorn No. 2 says she hears her husband lived with her three times, and she judges that the money gave out at the end of the last attempt to live together.

Lived in Padleton.

Rihorn at that time was living in Padleton, where he was very well known as a real estate and land dealer and a traveling man. A year ago Rihorn, through Attorney L. B. Reader of Portland, tried to secure a divorce from Mrs. Cora Rihorn. The suit was filed in Oregon City and was secured, but this decree was found to be illegal, because of technical mistakes and the suit was dismissed. Mrs. Sanderson-Williams-Rihorn says she is certain her husband has not secured a divorce since then.

She is now living at 431 West Park street, and is waiting for the officers to locate her spouse. She says she will stay here until he is found and will then prosecute him to the end.

"He will fool other women as he has fooled his three wives," declared she yesterday. "He has the most convincing way about him, and is very sincere. But he always ingratiates himself with women. I have learned since my marriage that women is his one great vice—he is not bad in other ways, but in what, is to my mind, the worst of all."

She is rather small, has dark hair and wears eye glasses, and is between 35 and 40 years old. She is extremely well educated, and Rihorn is described as being about 38 years old, 5 feet, 8 1/2 inches tall, brown hair and blue eyes and with a pale complexion. He wears spectacles when reading or writing. The officers have no idea in what direction he may have gone, but think he has not money enough to go far.

W. P. Rihorn, Who Has Deserted His Wife.

distillation occurred. Mrs. Sanderson-Williams-Rihorn learned that her husband had been married to another woman. But he told her that the divorce had been secured on the ground of insanity—the only one recognized by the Methodist church. Then the rooms they lived in were not quite what Miss Sanderson had been accustomed to.

He took her down to a rooming-house in First street, which is old and ramshackle, and in an unpleasant part of town. He didn't introduce her to his friends. He gave her no money, but told her that he was very busy and did not have time to see much of her. The day after bringing her to Portland he left her for 10 days, saying he had to put through a land deal. She had given him all her savings and had no money to live on. He returned, stayed a day or so and then left her again.

Calls on District Attorney.

This time her landlady in the First street rooming-house interfered. She talked with the little schoolman, saw that she was completely ignorant of what was the matter, and took her down to see the district attorney.

Mr. Manning talked to her and couldn't believe that such ignorance of evil existed in woman. After an hour's talk he declared that the most 16-year-old girls knew more of the world than did Mrs. Sanderson-Williams-Rihorn. But he promised to help her out, searched for the real estate man and brought him up to the office, where he made him promise to pay his wife $30 a month for support.

This was on March 20. The next day Mrs. Williams received a letter from

Here's Exactly What We're Up Against

Landlord Tears Out Rear of Graves & Company's Store

Not content with forcing out the largest General Music Store in the west, the "mighty sub-lesser" of Graves & Co.'s quarters now apparently seeks to stop, if possible, the closing out of the remaining stock of Sheet Music, Printing Machines and Musical Instruments.

When the rentals demanded by this "sub-lesser operator" are actually 35 per cent and in some cases 51 per cent higher than asked in cities of twice and three the population of Portland, it would seem that this certain individual must have some sense of values, resulting in driving out nearly all his former tenants with his unreasonable demands. Possibly this is why a large cigar concern, a line that is supposed to be able to pay the highest rentals, quit the premises.

It is certain that if other owners of Washington street property followed the same frenzied course, this city would soon have a new retail district. In the case of Graves & Co. it meant the turning over to this "sub-lesser operator" practically the entire net profits of the business.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN?

But apparently the limit of unreasonable has not been reached, for imagine our surprise on finding a gang of carpenters tearing out the protecting wall in the rear of the establishment. Can it be possible that this lesser would even try to stop us from disposing of our goods?

If that's the game, we want to state right now that we will dispose of our stock even though it becomes necessary to call in a regiment of soldiers to hold the place, until everything has been shipped up.

No combination of circumstances ever necessitated such drastic measures. We don't know what "he" will do next, but certain it is that there's no time to lose. Prices have been cut and slashed out of all reason and everything must and will go at once, even though it's necessary to virtually give it away.

MADE OLD VIOLINS.

Think of being able to secure a real Steiner model violin for $5.84. Another splendid instrument, full tone, easily worth $20, now only $9.35. A Stradivarius style violin, never sold for less than $40 and $50, now only $12.75.

On mandolins and guitars you can secure the well-known Washburn and other makes at half former prices. Good mandolins for $5.49, $4.50 and as low as $2.25.

SEASON PRICES WAY DOWN.

Do you want to secure a fine high-grade instrument that will not last for two, three or four years, but for a lifetime—and get it below even the established wholesale or jobbing figures, or at an average saving of 25 to 32% below the regular lowest retail value of the instrument—if this is an object to you—come right away and see and judge for yourself. A large and fanciest style Ludwig upright, $225. A Steinway upright just like new, the Vertigo style, $240. A beautiful walnut case Pease upright, only $198. A choice upright Bailey, only $185; a splendid Waldorf, only $187; a magnificent upright, only $180. For payments. In fact, will accept any reasonable terms now.

GET A TALKING MACHINE.

Payments as low as $1 a week. Pay $5.50 for the $20 value; $12.25 for the $40 value. Don't wait until the last minute and expect to secure your choice. Come at once, for they're going quickly. Remember, all cash is not necessary.

Elegant record cabinets in the finest of oak and mahogany for either disc or cylinder records. The regular $12.50 cabinet, now $9.85. Others at proportionate reductions.

Music bags and satchels, all the latest shapes, colors and finest leathers. Choice now at one half former prices.

SEEK MUSIC AND FOLIOS.

Cramer's Piano Studies, handsomely bound, regular $2, now only 24c. Favorite Opera Folio, regular 50c, choice new, only $1.50. York Folio, regular 50c, now 14c. Artists' Repertoire Folio, now $1, now 19c. Students' Classic Folio, regular $1.25, now 21c. Students' Piano (to complete), regular $2.50, now 52c.

The Boston Conservatory Piano Folio, regular $1, now 25c. Burgmüller's Piano Method, regular $2, now 37c. Old Favorite Operatic Scores (complete), was $1, now 35c. Hayden's Organ Method, was $1, now 17c. Student's Piano (to complete), regular $1.50, now 39c. Smith's Mandolin Method, was 50c, now 11c. Elzberg's Organ Violin Music, regular $1.50, now 21c. Hohmann's Violin Method, was 75c, while they last, only 5c. Blake's Organ Method, was $1, now 17c. Vocal Classic, sacred and popular, vocal and instrumental solos, duets, etc.; take your choice now 9c.; 5 copies 35c.; 12 copies 75c.

Orders by mail will receive careful and prompt attention, but money order or check must accompany letter. Showcases, music racks, typewriters, a safe, office fixtures, also for sale. Make us an offer. Graves & Co., 328 Washington st. Store opens at 9 a. m.

Indiana Republicans in Convention—Vice-President Sounds Warning for His "Party"—Beveridge Delivers Ringing Speech.

FAIRBANKS INDORSED.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Indianapolis, Ind., April 1.—Vice-President Charles W. Fairbanks received today from his native state his first indorsement as a presidential candidate. The indorsement was made by the Indiana Republican state convention, which met today, and also placed its stamp of approval upon the state administration and the policies of President Roosevelt. The convention decided not to interfere with the present temperance laws. It also indorsed the local option plan, with each county as a unit.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Indianapolis, Ind., April 1.—Republicans are in convention here today to select a state ticket and delegates to the national Republican convention. The revision of the tariff seems to be the keynote of the platform that will be adopted, and it is also ruled that the revision should be made by men who are of the protective tariff stripe.

Senator Beveridge was one of the principal speakers and he did not mince words in his address. He said that he is before the people of the country. Vice-President Fairbanks also sent a strong letter favoring certain tariff reforms.

Vice-President Fairbanks declared in the letter read before the convention that the revision of the tariff must be made by men who are firm believers in the protective faith. "We shouldn't close our eyes to the fact that there is a determined effort being made by the opposition to control the next house," he continued. "It is such a plain suggestion of the important subject of tariff revision would be dealt with by a Republican senate and a Democratic house, and these two branches would stand on diametrically opposite theories. The ultimate result would be a compromise if Congress could not immediately act after the presidential election it could probably complete the work of revision before the inauguration of the next administration."

Along Protective Lines.

"We would be enabled by this plan to not only give us the contingency of making a revision with the house but to put an end to the oppression in the business world sooner than otherwise possible. It is a part of wise, patriotic good business. It is good politics and good business. The revision must be along protective lines and it must be made by those firm in protective faith."

The letter will be used as a basis for the campaign in the Indiana Republican platform to be adopted today.

Senator Beveridge said in part: "The first Republican candidate for president was called the great pathfinder. Its second candidate was a president was called the liberator. Its last candidate for president and the nation's chief magistrate today is called the great reformer. It is just as things for the people—that is what made them Republican leaders."

A Republican leader is not a manipulator. He is a man of deeds, a writer of laws, a doer of deeds. The Republican party does not exist to get offices for its politicians. It exists to work out the welfare of the nation, to right the wrongs that curse the people, to secure the government of law by making laws that are just and wise. The Republican party would preserve the rights of property by making proper laws, and it would make conditions better, human life happier, liberty broader and stronger—this is the meaning of our organization."

and it has the right to the best of human betterment that has written every reform of the last eight historic years and the great reforms of Washington, Jackson and Lincoln as a leader of the people toward liberty and light the name of Theodore Roosevelt.

Work for the People.

We must not to the people, not merely boasting of what we did for the people yesterday, but telling them what we are doing for the people today and what we will do for the people tomorrow. Every law we have written was bitterly fought and cunningly resisted; yet so wise are those American patriots now indorse them, and even men in our own party who secretly opposed them are now publicly their loudest champions. It is said that we have gone too far and done too much; but why do not those who say this propose to erase a single line of laws we have written? Why do they not propose to abolish the department of commerce and labor, to repeal the pure food and drug laws, the irrigation law or any other statute in that great structure of righteous legislation whose foundation and corner stones are the rights of the people? If we have builded, shall we listen to their counsel that we should not finish? Or work? If there is not, let us disband. When any party becomes merely a machine, seeking the spoils of office, it is no longer a political party, but a company of brigands. A do-nothing policy is not Republican and no American laurels fade when not refreshed by new and noble deeds.

Revise Sherman Law.

We must revise the Sherman law. It is nearly 20 years old in fact and a century old in spirit. It penalizes honest combination; and that is right; but also it manacles honest business. It is a wrong. Business is the will of the people. Free his hands, unshackle his feet. Only upon the dishonor of the law can it be locked. Strike out that business which plunders from the people; but help all business that serves the people. Our watchword is Justice. For the pirates of business, the yardarm or the plank; but for honest business the open seas and the wind of progress. The tariff must be revised immediately after the presidential election. To revise it now would lock up business for months of disaster and doubt. He who would refuse to revise the tariff immediately after the presidential election is too much of a politician to be taken into consideration. The revision of the tariff is the demand of conditions, and to the people's will and changing conditions fourteen objections must yield.

And let that revision be honest and businesslike. Let experts at once begin the work of finding out the facts and making classifications. The man who does not want the facts found out. Our classifications are a generation old. They are so out of date that 300,000 contests have been decided to find out in what class articles really be-

WATSON MAY HEAD TICKET NAMED BY REFORMERS' PARTY

(United Press Leased Wire.)

St. Louis, April 1.—Representatives of the People's party and other so-called reform bodies in politics are arriving in this city to attend their national convention. Candidates for president and vice-president are to be nominated and a platform will be adopted. The national provision committee, the American Monetary league and the Federated People's Party clubs are among the reform organizations that united with the People's party in issuing the call for the convention. At the convention headquarters today it was stated that an attendance representative of the entire country is expected.

Arrangements have been made to hold the convention in the Olympic theatre. The gathering will be called to order at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning by James H. Ferriss, of Joliet, Illinois, chairman of the Populist national committee. It is expected the first day will be taken up wholly with preliminary business and the work of organization, leaving the nomination and the adoption of a platform to come Friday.

So far Thomas E. Watson of Georgia appears to be about the only person mentioned for the presidential nomination. Mr. Watson was the Populist candidate for vice-president in 1896, when the national convention endorsed Bryan for the presidency. In 1904 Mr. Watson was the presidential candidate

USES ELECTRICITY TO INDUCE SLEEP

Result of Experiments Made Known by Professor Leduc, the Physiologist.

Paris, April 1.—Professor Stephan Leduc, the physiologist, is publishing the results of extensive experiments showing that it is an easy matter to produce sleep by electricity. The electric current used by him is so weak that it wouldn't suffice for an ordinary 16-candle-power electric light. The professor maintains that the electric sleep produces a state of absolute unconsciousness, as far as the organs of the body are concerned. Up to now he experimented on animals only.

"By weak electric currents that may be shut off several times in a second," says the professor, "the activity of the brain may be paralyzed for minutes, or for whole hours. When the current is shut off, the animal experimented on awakens immediately. When the current is increased, the activity of the heart ceases but the functions of the respiratory organs continue. A further increase, though, stops breathing."

"At that moment the experimental animal is entirely insensitive. It is lifeless without being dead. However, if the current is continued two minutes, death will ensue."
