PORTLAND HANGS SIGN ON VARSITY

Leaguers Allow Students No Hits or Runs and Slaughter Mack's Pitcher.

By Will J. Slattery. San Francisco, April 3.—For nine full innings at Oakland yesterday afternoon, Pitches Groom and Kinsella of the Portland nine held the mistic sign high over the heads of the aspiring young leaguers who represent the Phoenix ball team of St. Mary's college, winning 5 to 6.

The defeat of the previous day must have left its sting with the leaguers, for they surely did play baseball that would have won fame in any man's league. In the field and at the bat Portland was ever there ready to take advantage of each opportunity and always fighting as though the little practice game meant a pennant. Such vigor in an amateur contest was a treat to the fans.

Groom opened the game and unloaded his various assortment of twisters for six innings. He seemed to develop more speed and a greater line of curves and change of pace as the innings rolled by.

Kinsella was the first and last collegian to have the honor of grazing a bag as a baserunner during the game. Kinsella was admitted to work for the last three innings. He had as much as if not more than Groom. Five men were on the base when Groom pitched and nobody got anything that looked like a hit. Kinsella displayed far more speed than he ever showed in the past.

Krause, the lad whom Connie Mack has grabbed for his Philadelphia American team, graded the mound for the collegians. There was something amiss with his scouping, for the big leaguers waded right into his snouts at the outset and gave him an awful lacing. Thirteen bingles, two of them doubles by Casey and Danzig, and one triple by Raftery were garnered from Krause's storehouse.

The Beavers lost no time in getting into the opening position. Casey started with a double, and after Cooney had died Raftery tripled against the left-field fence, chasing Casey into the arms of Madred's infield gave Raftery all the time he needed to come in. In the next spasm Bassey hit and stole, and avoided a bad ending by Wallace, who let a thrown ball get away from him at the first station.

The fifth inning Portland another Danzig landed, while Feeney was busy booting his grounder, and Madden sent him around to third with a neat single. Madden stole, and Groom unloaded a dingle into left. Danzig beat it to the pan, but Madden fell near the plate and was out. As a pitcher, Raftery picked out a single in the ninth, took second on another muff by Wallace and registered after Danzig drilled into center.

Cooney played remarkable ball at short, handling his five chances with great speed and accuracy. Danzig got with the work at first as a leaguer, and Casey showed all his old-time craft at second. The outfield had little to do, but three chances coming its way.

STARBUCKS BOUND TO ROW CALIFORNIA "U"

Friends of Sport Rescue It After Disbandment Had Partly Carried.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Stanford University, Cal., April 3.—The Stanford Boat club is again hard at work with her eight-oared crew and has completely dispelled the disbandment idea, which she had partly carried into effect.

Friends of boating decided that they could not stand by and see the Stanford crew done away with, and after a stormy meeting it was decided to rescue the action of the previous meeting and take up the training of the crew where it had been left off and put the eight into the Duke of Portland's hands on the time scheduled—April 25. Captain Gay will not row.

The squad is taking daily trips to Redwood City now making up for lost time. This is the spring vacation week and Coach Turner is taking advantage of the occasion to hurry the men into shape. The squad is now down to 29 men, the most prominent of whom are Patrick, Reynolds, Vose, Malons, Cole, Kilrue, Wandriss and Fitting.

St. Simon Dies in London. London, April 3.—St. Simon, sire of the derby winner Diamond Jubilee and Pessimism, and himself a famous racehorse, died in the Duke of Portland's stable yesterday morning. The horse was purchased originally for $5,000 and during his long career on the track was never beaten. He was bred in 1854 for the Prince of Wales and Diamond Jubilee reported for his highest in 1890.

TWO WRESTLING CHAMPIONS READY TO GRAPPLE TONIGHT

Russian Lion in Action.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Chicago, April 3.—Tonight in the big amphitheatre at the Chicago stockyards known as Dexter's pavilion, George Hackenschmidt, the world renowned Graco-Roman champion, will contest for the world's catch-as-catch-can wrestling title with Frank Gotch, the American champion. The bout has attracted attention on both sides of the Atlantic and should prove the choicest tid-bit that has been offered followers of the wrestling game in years.

Should the American wrestler succeed in defeating his opponent, he will certainly have much of which to be proud, for Hackenschmidt has engaged in something like 340 matches of more or less importance, often against men considerably bigger than himself, without having a single call recorded against him. Whenever his opponent has endeavored to wear him out by a sheer dead application of avoirdupois, the Russian, marvelous agility has more than offset their weight.

In nearly every respect, but particularly in the matter of long experience at the game, the Russian appears to have some advantage over his American competitor. Nevertheless the sport-loving public of the entire continent hopes, rather than expects, to see Gotch, the Iowa farmer, tear the half legendary veil from the mighty Russian ring master in the arena tonight.

The demand for seats indicates that the crowd that will gather about the arena will be as large as ever witnessed at a sporting or athletic event in this city. Every seat commanding a view of the padded platform will be occupied. Many delegations are arriving from out of town, some from Milwaukee, from Indianapolis, St. Louis, from cities throughout Iowa and one considerable party has put in an appearance from New York City.

REAL CURES FOR MEN ONLY

Different doctors have different ideas in regard to cures. Some call a suppression of symptoms a cure. They dose for drug effects and claim that nothing more can be done. But the real ailment remains, and will bring the symptoms back again, perhaps the same as before, or perhaps modified in some manner.

I claim that nothing less than complete eradication of disease can be a real cure. I treat to remove the disease and not merely the symptoms. I search out every root and fiber of an ailment, and I cure to stay cured.

I have treated hundreds of men who had long suffered a gradual decline of physical and mental energy as a result of ailments, and have been interested in noting the marked general improvement that follows a thorough cure of the chief disorder. My success in curing difficult cases of long standing has made me the foremost specialist treating men's diseases. This success is due to several things. It is due to the original, distinctive and thoroughly scientific methods of treatment I employ.

To those in doubt as to their true condition who wish to avoid the serious results that may follow neglect, I offer free consultation and advice, either in my office or through correspondence. If you are one of the few that has reached an incurable stage, I will not accept it for treatment, nor will I urge my services upon anyone. I treat curable cases only, and cure all cases I treat.

"Weakness" Contracted Disorders Varicocele. Functional derangement, such as premature loss of power, etc., is neither a "weakness" nor a contracted disorder. It is a symptom of prostatic disorder. To stimulate activity by the use of powerful tonics is an easy matter, but such results are merely temporary drug effects. Most doctors treat "weakness" in this manner because they do not know how to cure the real cause of the derangement. I am the only physician employing scientific and successful methods. I use no tonics at all. My treatment is a local one entirely, and corrects every abnormal condition of that vital center, the prostate gland. My cures are real cures and are permanent.

In no other ailment peculiar to men is a prompt and thorough cure so essential. Contracted disorders tend to work backward until the most vital nerve centers become involved, or through ignorance of the inflammation. Then follows a chronic stage that stubbornly resists all ordinary treatment. Safety demands that every vestige of infection be eradicated at the earliest possible moment. My treatment accomplishes this. The remedies employed have a more positive action than has ever before been attained, and so perfect is my method of application that even chronic cases yield completely.

Consult Me FREE. To give ailing men every opportunity of investigating my methods of treatment and equipment, I offer FREE consultation. Compare the thoroughness of my examination and diagnosis with that of other physicians, and you will readily see why my exact knowledge of the disorders included in my speciality enables me to foretell the exact result. I refuse to treat incurable cases at any price. If impossible to call at my office, write for particulars of treatment by mail.

TUG-OF-WAR PEOPLE ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Arrange Excellent Tournament of Athletic Events Commencing April 15.

A meeting of the Portland Tug of War and Athletic association was held last night, and the following officers elected: President, Gus Jacobson; vice-president, T. G. Blight; treasurer, L. C. Stoneburg; secretary and manager, A. M. Planck; assistant manager, Ed Nelson.

All arrangements have been perfected for a very interesting tournament to be held at the association's headquarters at 11th and Commercial streets, beginning Monday evening, April 15. There will be many interesting events of an athletic nature.

One of the main features will be a tug of war contest. It has already been agreed to by the captains of the various teams in the best show-down of the state shall pull in their respective classes, that is, light, middle and heavyweight, and a gold medal will be awarded to the winner. The referee is A. W. Hawkins and the judges are Oscar E. Dahlgren and Mat Girde.

The tournament will furnish a most interesting exhibition to all lovers of sport. One of the new features of this tournament is to be a pull between Ed Nelson and T. G. Blight, old time masters of the tug. The championship of the state of Oregon will be decided, and suitable recognition by medals made.

M'LAGLEN BEGINS HIS HEAVY TRAINING WORK

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Tacoma, April 3.—Vic McLaglen commenced his training stunt yesterday for the wrestling match between himself and Dr. Roller, which is scheduled to take place at the Helig theatre, Portland, April 15.

An eight mile run in the morning, which was followed by a shower bath and rub down, was all the work the young giant did, and he said this would be continued each day until Monday, when he would begin his special training. His younger brother, Arthur, who gives promise of becoming a great wrestler, will be his wrestling mate at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, where Vic will be coached by Professor Moser, the association's instructor.

Moser, who is conceded to be one of the most expert judges of wrestling form in the west, believes McLaglen is showing better form than ever before, and he is much impressed with his chances against the Seattle physician.

McLaglen is a veritable crank on his condition. He would never dream of entering into any kind of a match without first having carefully prepared himself for it, and no one could induce Vic to take up any form of dissipation that in his opinion would impair his physical welfare, no matter how tempting or pleasant that dissipation may seem. There is one thing certain, and that is McLaglen can be relied upon to go on the mat with Roller in perfect shape, and local sports doubt that the latter will have anything but an even break when the pair meet.

Vic is much interested in the local baseball team, and each afternoon he is to be seen at the local ballpark practicing at Athletic park. The big wrestler likes Jack Burnett's work because he says Jack hits the ball the farthest.
